Prima Ballerina

Noelle de Mosa, the 18-year-old Dutch dancer, who takes the leading part in the Jooss Ballet interpretation of a "Ball In Old Vienna."

DANCE PREMIERE TO APPEAR HERE

Kurt Jooss To Present Ballet October 8

The Student Entertainment series has as its opening attraction this season the American premiere of the Jooss European ballet. The group will appear here Thursday evening, October 8, in Memorial hall, and will open in New York October 17.

Kurt Jooss (the name is Danish and is pronounced Yooss with a long "o") founded his ballet 12 years ago in a little provincial German town. In 1932 he rose from comparative obscurity when he and his group won the first prize of 25,000 francs at the International Congress of the Dance in Paris.

Controversy

The following season the ballet appeared for the first time in New York. There the "Green Table," the dance which won the prize in Paris, created a controversy among the dance critics.

Of his prize winning ballet Mr. Jooss says: "The 'Green Table' is less a satire on the League of Nations than on the people who prevent war. It is a mordant satire upon the futilities and tragic humor of international diplomacy."

Among other ballets to be presented on the Jooss program will be the vivid and moving "Impressions of a Big City"; "A Ball in Old Vienna," in which the romantic intrigues of lovers are depicted against a background of waltz music; "Ballade," with a medieval setting; and "Johann Strauss—Tonight!" a medley of Strauss's best waltzes.

New Men Must Visit All Fraternities Which Notify Them

Starts Tomorrow

Invitations to visit fraternities will be distributed tonight by self-help students, Henry Clark, president of the Interfraternity council announced yesterday.

Rushing will begin tomorrow and last through Thursday, October 15.

New Men

The invitations will be delivered by self-help students under the direction of Pete Ivey in cooperation with the Interfraternity council. To prevent any mix-up in the delivery of the invitations, all new men should cooperate fully with the schedule of delivery given below, said Clark. New men should remain in their rooms during the interval scheduled for the delivery of invitations to their rooms.

This year new men will not have to sign a receipt for invitations, but if the recipient is not in his room the invitations will be left in some convenient place where he will find them on his return.

Visit Fraternities

Men intending to join fraternities must visit tomorrow each fraternity from which they receive invitations, if only for a few minutes. Failure to do this will be considered a violation of rushing rules.

Invitations will be delivered tonight on the following schedule: 7 to 8 o'clock, New Dorms, Old East, Old West, and Steele; 8 to 9, Manly, Mangum, Grimes, Ruffin; 9 to 10, Lewis, Everett, Aycock, Graham; 7 to 10, boys in town.

The original rushing plan was shortened to let fraternity men join the special train going to the N. Y. U. football game. Pledging will take place at 2 o'clock.

GREEN DESCRIBES PLAY TECHNIQUES

Author's 'Johnny Jones' To Open This Month

Speaking for the first time on the campus in several months, Paul Green, now a professor in the department of dramatic art, yesterday addressed Dr. Frederick Koch's class in playwriting at the Playmaker theater.

Professor Green said, "Modern playwriting is not an individual, but a group effort. In Hollywood as well as on Broadway a good play or movie is the result of the combined work and experience of many persons with whom the author is in contact. I am pleased to note that the playwriting classes of the University use this method."

"Johnny Jones"

Concluding his remarks, Professor Green spoke of his own play, a musical production due to open in New York the latter part of this month. The play, "Johnny Jones," is one of a typical American soldier in the Great War, and carries still further the playwright's conception of the place of music in the drama.

Professor Green is leaving shortly for New York, and will return next month to act with Dr. Koch and the staff in aiding members of the class in playwriting.
