Trustee Group To Receive Petitions On Local Coeds

Judge Phipps Will Give Arguments For Case Tomorrow Morning

Ask Modification

Renewing the drive started last spring for local coed admission to the freshman and sophomore classes of the University, three petitions asking this modification of consolidation rules will be presented to the executive committee of the Board of Trustees which meets in Raleigh tomorrow morning.

Judge L. J. Phipps, of Chapel Hill, will present the petitions and will give arguments for the case. The committee has only the power to vote upon whether the petitions shall be considered by the Board of Trustees at their next meeting.

Petitions

The petitions to be considered are the faculty petition, signed by every available professor on the campus but four; the Rotary club petition circulated throughout the townspeople of Chapel Hill with approximately 200 names; the American Student Union's petition, started this fall, which is incomplete as yet. Approximately 200 residents of Chapel Hill and students of the University have signed the latter.

The faculty and Rotary club petitions were brought before the meeting of the board last spring, but were not considered due to lack of time, and discussion of the engineering question.

Arrangements were made for the presentation of the petitions tomorrow through Jack Frink, president of the A.S.U., and John Sprunt Hill, trustee of Durham.

Freshman Chapel

Freshman chapel tomorrow morning will be conducted by the Freshman Friendship council.

John Bonner, president of the council, will preside, and explain the work of his organization.

Special music will be heard during the program.

Town Lad Ivey Finds New York's Times Square No Tranquil Spot

Constabulary of Big City Concludes Rules, Says Bonfire In Square Strictly Taboo

Mr. A. Guy Ivey, director of Graham Memorial, wrote a letter to Mayor LaGuardia of New York City, which he has since had occasion to regret.

"It has occurred to me," wrote Pete, "that building a bonfire in Times Square might be against the rules."

The mayor thought so too, but just to make sure, he sent the letter to Squire Lewis J. Valentine, head of the local constabulary, who looked it up. Sure enough, no one is permitted to build a bonfire in Times Square.

The gentlemen of the press of the "fair-to-middlin'" town heard of this unusual request. To quote from the New York World-Telegram:

"The words 'Times Square' might conjure in the mind of

Production Manager

John W. Parker of the department of dramatic art who has been appointed to direct the staging of the pageant-drama to be given in April by the state education association.

PARKER TO HEAD STATE PAGEANTS Will Knit Productions Into Pageant-Drama

Announcement has been made of the appointment of John W. Parker of the department of dramatic art, as production manager for the pageant-drama to be given in April by the North Carolina Education association.

Staged in connection with the centennial celebration of education, the pageant-drama will commemorate the 100th anniversary of public school education in the state.

District Pageants

Under the supervision of Mr. Parker, the pageant-drama is being written and produced in six state districts. Selected episodes from these district pageants will be knit together to form the big pageant-drama which will climax the centennial year.

"In this celebration," Mr. Parker stated, "over 3,000 persons will participate. Not only will

Three Luminaries To Talk Tonight At Church Forums

McDonald, House, Jordan to Lead Group Discussions

Increased efforts to attract students to Sunday evening forums has been displayed this fall by churches of the community.

Tonight three campus luminaries will be presented by various churches as conductors of discussion groups.

Dr. Ralph McDonald, law school student and gubernatorial candidate during the past summer, will speak on "Religion and the Private Political Life," at 7 p. m. in the Presbyterian church.

Dean R. B. House will lead the young people's forum at 7 p. m. at the Methodist church.

A. M. Jordan, professor of education, will discuss "Religion and the New Psychology," in the Baptist church at the same hour.

Debate On Planks Of Major Parties Planned For Forum

Tentative Date for Verbal Fight Set for Tuesday Week

Detailed plans for the student open forum discussion on platforms of the major political parties were made yesterday at a meeting of the Phi Assembly and A. S. U. committees sponsoring the project.

Tentatively, the date for the verbal fight has been set for the night of Tuesday, October 27. One rabid enthusiast for each party will debate with the other party men, and an open forum discussion will follow during which time the debaters will be heckled by the audience.

Speakers have been selected to represent each party and will be made public in a few days.

FRESHMAN CLASS ASKED TO SOCIAL

Friendship Group Fetes Students Tomorrow

The entire freshman class and all coed students have been invited by the Freshman Friendship council to attend its social in Graham Memorial tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The gathering will be the first of the freshman class since orientation week in September.

No Rushing

All fraternities have been requested by Henry Clark, Interfraternity council president, to postpone activities involving freshmen which will conflict with the program.

Dean Francis Bradshaw, instead of Dean House, as previously announced, will represent the faculty at the social. Ramsay Potts and Fred Weaver will be student speakers.

Refreshments will be served by Y. W. C. A. girls. Free games will be available in the basement. Special music will be offered.

Phonograph Concert

The program for the phonograph record concert in Hill Music hall tomorrow at 1:25 will be an All-American program as follows: "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," an American overture by Roy Harris; "Rhapsody in Blue," Gershwin; "Rhumba," from the Rhumba Symphony, McDonald; "Dance of the Workers," McDonald.

Republican

John Spargo, onetime secretary of the socialist party, who has quit his party and will appear Tuesday night in Memorial hall to speak for Landon.

SPARGO TO GIVE GOP RALLY TALK ON UNION SERIES

Ex-Socialist To Appear Here Tuesday Night In Memorial Hall

John Spargo will pack 30 years of political experience into his rally talk for Republicanism in Memorial hall Tuesday night.

For many years an outstanding American socialist, he is traveling this fall under auspices of the G. O. P.

Fourth On Series

He will be the fourth speaker presented by the Carolina Political union this month. Socialism, Republicanism, and Jeffersonian Democracy have thus far been discussed by visitors.

An advance prediction of Mr. Spargo's address reads:

"Educated at Oxford and Cambridge, he is a speaker of great force and intelligence, who is known to audiences from New York to California.

"His observations on the political ebb and flow of American life are keen, analytical, provocative, since he brings to his discussions a background that is alive with accurate and pertinent facts and experience."

Human Interest Of Kemp Battle Shown In His Letter To Student

Former President of University Shared Students' Misfortunes with Them

The human interest that characterized the life of Dr. Kemp P. Battle, former president of the University, is exemplified in a letter written by him in 1918 to Carl B. Hyatt of the class of '17.

"Old Pres," as he was known to everyone on the campus, always took a personal interest in the lives of his students; and when misfortune befell any of them, he shared the trouble as if it were his own. In this particular instance, Dr. Battle had read in the Alumni Quarterly that Mr. Hyatt had been seriously injured in an automobile accident, and he immediately wrote a letter of cheer and encouragement. Part of the letter reads:

"As you are in such plight,

New Yorkers' Last Period Air Attack Fails To Even Score As Kick Goes Wild

Graduate Dean Not Enthused; Sees No Drama In Election

Professor Pierson Holds That Both Sides Have Good Points

Giving the Democratic party credit for shrewd politics, Professor W. W. Pierson, Dean of the Graduate School, finds the presidential campaign comparatively uninteresting. In his opinion, there is little of the spectacular or the dramatic about it.

"The major issue of the campaign," declared Dean Pierson, who conducts courses in American political theory, "is whether or not Landon's program would, on major problems, be essentially different from that of the New Deal."

In his opinion, both the Republican party and their opponents are pointing to the Democratic record though with a different purpose. The Democrats claim such notable achievements as the banking legislation, while the Republicans find the same record spotty with undue regimentation, waste and rash experiments.

Comparing the manner in which each of the major parties is conducting the campaign, (Continued on page three)

Coed Golf Practice Will Begin Tuesday

Coed golf practice will start Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in Bynum gym, according to Manager Polly Pollock. Eighteen girls have signed up for golf.

Other practices will be held Thursday afternoons at 4:30, and perhaps on Sunday mornings. Coaches are Dick Hicks, Dave Mosier, Tommy Wilson, and Bob Baker, who studied golf this summer under the champion, Tony Manero. Contacts are being made with the public golf course officials to allow the coeds to play outside. Driving and putting contests are being planned, and an intramural tournament will be staged.

Buck, Ditt And Little Are Outstanding In Victory

Mud Slows Play

Yankee stadium, New York, Oct. 17.—With N. Y. U's Violets sinking deep enough in the mud at crucial moments to stop the invading Tar Heels' numerous touchdown threats, the University of North Carolina's football team marked up a win here this afternoon by the very narrow margin of 14-13.

The accurate kicking of Tom Burnette proved to be the savior of the invaders as N. Y. U., spurred on by the blocking of a Burnette kick on his own 30-yd. line in the last quarter, pulled a couple of line bucks and a pass play from Bloom to Dunney to make their first score in the last quarter and then started an extended march that ended up with the Violets on the other side of the Tar Heels' goal line. The second conversion was good.

Constant Threat

The North Carolinians constantly threatened the N. Y. U. goal and had the game well in hand for the first three quarters. They scored shortly after the kickoff when Little ran a punt back to N. Y. U.'s 30 where two pass plays from Hutchins to Buck brought them first blood. For the rest of the first and the entire second quarters, the Carolinians kept the ball deep in enemy territory but failed to put the ball across the all-important goal stripe.

Early in the second half the Tar Heels started a touchdown march and on a reverse from Little to Watson carried the ball from their own 48 to the New Yorkers' 35-yd. line where Ditt on a spinner behind perfect interference, crossed the goal line. Burnette again converted for his eighth of the season and margin that carried the day for (Continued on page three)

MacFarland Claims Roosevelt Keeping Pace With Society

Y. M. C. A. President Takes Side With Present Administration

"Increase in complexity of our society requires a greater degree of governmental infringement on individualism," stated George MacFarland, president of the University Y. M. C. A., in expressing his opinion why he favors the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Presidency of the United States.

MacFarland, announcing that "I'm strong for Roosevelt," said that he was in favor of the New Dealer because he has "done more than any other president for the betterment of social conditions."

The "Y" president stated that "Roosevelt pulled the country from the brink of the abyss in 1933."

The Republican party seems to stand for dictatorship by the big industrialists, MacFarland said.

"If such men as Thomas Dixon are for Landon, then I'm for Roosevelt," he added.
