Student Union Directors Contribute Money For Winners

A first prize of $10 and a second prize of $5 will be awarded by the board of directors of Graham Memorial to the two students who enter, in the opinion of the judges, the best essays of the DAILY TAR HEEL gymnasium contest.

Meeting yesterday afternoon, the board accepted the DAILY TAR HEEL's request for prizes and, according to John Parker, chairman, the money will be available at the close of the contest at 3 o'clock, November 4.

Prizes will be awarded on the merit of suggestions given under the subject, "The Benefits To Be Derived from a New Gymnasium and Swimming Pool." The entries may be written in essay form, but simple numbered "benefits" will be acceptable.

Afterwards

After the essays have been judged, they will be turned over to the proper authorities. The ideas will be used to help in raising the University's share of the PWA allotment for the new gymnasium and swimming pool.

Only nine days remain before the deadline for all entries. The essays will be turned over to the judges at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Wednesday, November 4. Winners and receivers of the two prizes will be named in the DAILY TAR HEEL the next Friday.

Leaders Form Organization

FEELING, INTEREST IN STUDENT LIFE IS GROUP PURPOSE

Campus Cabinet to Plan Issues for General Student Forum

Prominent University undergraduates met last night in Graham Memorial to discuss the forming of an organization which will serve the double purpose of arousing student interest in student affairs and of creating an accurate index of campus feeling on major issues.

Several weeks ago in an attempt to organize a reliable organ of student opinion, Pete Ivey, director of Graham Memorial, called these same students together at a Student union banquet.

At this meeting a committee was appointed by acting chairman John Parker to consider the feasibility of such a plan and to draw up a tentative program of organization. Last night the suggestions of this committee were presented to the original

Harry Comer Returns From Successful Trip

Spends Weekend Securing Human Relations Speakers

Harry Comer, "Y" secretary, returns this morning from New York City where he has spent the last weekend securing speakers for the Human Relations institute.

Details of the program he arranged while away have not yet been learned. Mrs. Comer, however, received a letter in which her husband reported gratifying success in his efforts to secure a good program.

Last Monday Mr. Comer conducted a three-hour seminar at Yale university, discussing problems of student adjustment and welfare.

Dr. Jordan Speaks On Abnormal Cases To Y. M. C. A. Cabinet

Education Instructor Names Causes in Mental Cases

"We are interested in the causes of the 320,000 mental cases in institutions today," said Dr. A. M. Jordan of the University's education department at the Junior-Senior Y. M. C. A. cabinet meeting Monday evening.

"These causes are of two kinds," he continued. "The first are the exciting causes, ridicule, shock, worry, a thwarted emotional life, continued comparison with someone more successful, or anything else that tends to produce a continued tenseness. The second kind is the predisposed kind, inherited weakness, or any condition that makes it easy for a mental sickness to develop."

The speaker said that 12 per cent of all cases could be attributed to alcohol, and that while the institutional cases took up as many beds as all other diseases combined, more than twice as many cases were to be found outside of institutions.

A short devotional service was led by Scott Hunter.

A.S.U.-PHI FORUM AIRS STUDENTS' POLITICAL VIEWS

Dudley, McGlinn, Brick, Pollock, Rabb Speak On Program

By RUTH CROWELL

Using the tactics of seasoned political speakers, student representatives of each political party in the United States attacked the platforms of all other parties and scarcely mentioned their own platforms at the A.S.U.-Phi assembly open forum held last night.

Leighton Dudley, Republican advocate, attacked the New Deal on three points, wholesale administration of projects without recognition of sectional problems, partisanship in agricultural activities, and allotting of huge sums of money to impractical projects. Republican Dudley called on the students to vote for "a two-fisted American citizen instead of a two-faced, unscrupulous politician."

McGlinn Speaks

Frank McGlinn, also a Republican, presented the Union party as the only party offering secu-

Arboretum Has Bright Prospects For Adventures Of New Students

Boggy Cow Pasture Reclaimed in 1903; Is Now Most Interesting Campus Course

By SARAH DALTON

The arboretum, which most of the older students have come to take as a matter of course, probably one of the most interesting courses they are taking, still holds great prospects as a realm of adventure for the new student.

The name itself, Coker Arboretum, implies that Dr. W. C. Coker must have taken some part in bringing about its existence, but it does not reveal the fact that he alone is responsible for it. At the time when Dr. Coker visualized his arboretum the present site was no more than a boggy pasture wherein dwelled Gov. Swain's cows.

In 1903, however, undaunted by the nature of its inhabitants,

Dr. Coker set out with $10 and the help of a Negro man to clear the northern section. The first plants consisted of a few yellow willows and black gum trees. Year by year with the aid of friends and alumni he has added plants and rearranged them until today it contains over 400 different plants and is considered one of the most beautiful natural gardens in the country.

Significance

The name arboretum signifies a place where all trees capable of growing in that climate are planted. Technically, this name does not apply to our arboretum because, due to the moisture, many native plants are unable to survive there. But this is not a matter of great concern, for the arboretum has come to stand for much more than a mere exhibit

Under the leadership of the movement numerous college students spend their summers organizing against war. Stier will interview students interested in summer work while he is here.

Chilly Winds Warn Student Body That Winter Draws Nigh

Jackets and Top-Coats Make Their Initial Appearance on the Campus

Yesterday Old Man Winter passed gently over North Carolina, and as a result jackets, mufflers, and top-coats were brought out of their moth proof bags and were put to use by the student body of the said state's University.

At 4 o'clock Monday afternoon the temperature started dropping, and continued doing so until 9 a. m. yesterday. The minimum temperature reached 39 degrees, and until mid-afternoon yesterday, the mercury had only risen nine degrees above that mark.

This temperature is the lowest that Chapel Hill has had this month. The next lowest this month was 45 degrees.

National Secretary Will Meet With ASU

Francis Franklin to Speak To-night on National Policies

Francis Franklin, field secretary from national A.S.U. headquarters, will be at the regular meeting of the A.S.U. tonight at 8:30 in Graham Memorial.

Engineering Fraternity Recognizes High Attainment

Mulder Speaker

Joseph Francis, J. R. Gove, and J. E. Greer, juniors; W. P. Kephart, Joseph Star, and Willis Suominen, seniors, were tapped into Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, at its meeting last night. J. E. Mulder of the law school faculty was the featured speaker for the meeting.

High Honor

The highest honor which the engineering school can give one of its members is election to this national fraternity. The society, founded in 1885, sets scholarship, character, and the attainment of a liberal culture as its requisites. Juniors must rank in the upper eight per cent of their class scholastically, and seniors must rank in the upper four per cent.

Mr. Mulder, assistant professor in the law school, pointed out to the engineers the types of law cases in which they will become involved. He reviewed law cases relating to mistakes in contracts, pollution of water, and pollution of air and showed the part the engineer played in each.

The local chapter of Tau Beta Pi was chartered in 1928. Tappings are held in the fall and spring.
