

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1936

WITH LEAVE TO PRINT...

By RAY HOWE

Football is a great game. It ought to become very popular.

There has been some speculation among the more accomplished speculators as to why there was one obviously empty square of seats in the stands Saturday. For their enlightenment, the tickets were unsold and are still in the athletic office, and the G-men aren't responsible after all.

Director of Athletics Bo Shepard will have to appear in court for the next month against the local profiteers. It seems like a logical, economically sound principle of supply and demand.

It also seems that the young women in school are rather hesitant to take part in the annual woman's tennis tourney.

Come, come, young ladies, that's not cricket.

The cheerleaders had a large day Saturday. The results of their long, secret gym practice sessions were obvious and gratifying. But if you think that they were good Saturday wait till you see them next year. Head Rouser Vick is going to have practices three times a week all the rest of the school year and make gymnastics a requirement for future candidates.

Bill Hendrix and Graham Gammon are going to have some real competition Saturday in the Southern conference cross country meet here. Morse of Duke, winner of the crown last year in 29:25, will be here as will State's Davis.

The latter has run here once this year but got a stitch in his side and, though he finished the race, he was a good distance behind Bill Hendrix.

Though the Duke harriers are conference champions, the Tar Heel team unexpectedly trimmed them a week ago without the aid of Hendrix or Gardiner. Morse led home the field.

Hendrix is undefeated in collegiate competition but this is his first year of varsity running. He was the Cake race winner last year.

Gammon ran fourth to Morse in the conference meet last year but ran the five-mile course 30 seconds faster than he had ever done it before. He has not competed this year but will enter the conference race along with Hendrix and Gardiner.

Another man to be watched is Bill Lumpkin of Richmond, who has already recorded a win over Morse. He has chalked up a total of six firsts this year.

Beta Theta Pi showed strength yesterday in turning back the Z. B. T. tagsters. Beta Bill Miller surprised everyone by successfully converting twice and Jack Blythe and Francis Cooper are mighty little men in an offensive backfield.

The Zebes tried hard and looked like winners until the Betas turned on the heat. The latter's big game will be against the Phi Deltas tomorrow.

Cheer leaders and members of the gym squad are to report in Bynum gym at 4:30 this afternoon. Important.

RALLY SUCCEEDS AS BETAS SCORE TWICE ON ZEBES

Z. B. T. Leads First Half But Beta Comes Back To Win By 13-6

A last period rally that was good for two touchdowns and an extra point enabled Beta Theta Pi to overcome a 6-0 lead amassed by Z.B.T. in the first half and come out still undefeated on the long end of a 13-6 score in the only intramural grid contest played yesterday afternoon.

Z.B.T. opened the scoring in the initial chapter when Phil Kind took a long pass from Oettinger to counter for his team. This play was one which Z.B.T. has been using all season in which a quick lineup is used, surprising the opponents with a long pass instead of a run.

Although the Betas threatened consistently in the first period they could not produce the equalizer even though they did take the lead in first downs.

Blythe

The Betas came back full of fight for the second chapter and it wasn't long before they produced the winning markers. A penalty for interference on a pass from Blythe intended for Coan gave the winners the ball on the Z.B.T. 20-yard line from which point the same combination combined to produce the score. With the score deadlocked at six-all Miller converted for the winning points.

Z.B.T. fought back but could not chalk up another score and the Betas once more tallied when Tennille took a pass from Blythe over his shoulder on the run providing the Betas with 13 points to Z.B.T.'s six.

Tar-Mags To Clash With Yackety-Bucs In Annual Contest

Versatile Tar-Mags Favored to Exterminate Yackety-Bucs On Monday

By UNITED WE PRESS

With both teams resting serenely on the laurels of an undefeated season, exploiters of the Tar-Mags and the Yackety-Bucs met yesterday and decided upon November 23 as the Day of Blood. For thus spake Zarathustra.

Occasion

According to sports commentators everywhere, the event will rank with the Fall of Rome, Bastille Day, and freshman class elections. The gridiron feud began in 1492 following Columbus' discovery of America. Some historians give Christopher credit for starting the feud, and then sailing back to Spain.

Although last Saturday's breather showed up several defects in the Tar-Mags' approach, Coach "Grist" Miller feels that his team will carry every state except Maine and Vermont. In the same breath he announced the signing of John "Jinx" Jonas, tackle, who transferred here from Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, and points south-southwest.

Practice

The Tar-Mag football machine will hold its first formal practice this afternoon at 4:30 behind the Graham Memorial field house, according to Coach Miller. All men on the 44 man squad are asked to attend and learn the

Mural Schedule

- 4:15
 - 1. Sigma Nu v. S. A. E.
 - 2. Law School v. Old West.
 - 3. Zeta Psi v. Theta Chi.
 - 4. Kappa Sigma v. Phi Alpha.
- Due to the early hour of darkness games will start at 4:15.

BOXING TOURNEY HAS NEW CLASS

Intramural Tournament Will Be Run Off December 1-7

With the intramural tag football competition coming to a close, interest is beginning to shift to the forthcoming annual boxing tournament. The affair will begin December 1 and continue for a week.

This year a new weight class has been added for the tournament. It is the 112-lb. division, which will afford the lighter boys a better chance and probably increase the enrollment.

Coach Mike Ronman, varsity mentor, has sent out an appeal for all participants to go to the Tin Can to train for the bouts. Both he and Marvin Ray, who will coach the freshmen this season, are on hand every afternoon to help the mural competitors as well as the University teams.

Last year the tournament proved one of the best ever. As usual a large group of freshmen participated. This year it is hoped that the freshmen will continue their large representation and that the upperclassmen will enter more contestants than they have in the past.

The tournament is run on an individual and team basis. Intramural medals will be given individual winners and team points will be awarded in both the fraternity and dormitory divisions.

Entries are now receivable at the intramural office in Emerson stadium.

complicated plays which will be thrust in the faces of the naive Yackety-Bucs.

Fletcher "Junior" Ferguson, who has consented to coach the Yackety-Bucs instead of the Tar-Mags, could not be reached for his practice plans. It is rumored that the Yackety-Bucs have given up all hope for victory, that intra-team dissension prevents practices, and lack of general intelligence withholds anything else.

Officials

Referees, linesmen, time-keepers, scorers, boards of directors, field judges, athletic associations, umpires, whistle blowers, chain holders and others have not been designated by the Tar-Mag coach, who has taken it upon himself to handle the incidentals.

Tar-Mag Quarterback "Dutch" Murphy is teaching his squad several new plays which he has purchased from Eugene O'Neill and William Shakespeare, Tar-Mag brain trusters. From the former, Murphy will use the famous "Emperer Jones" end run, which uses a six-man black field. Other touchdown plays are "Strange Interlude," to be used at half-time; "The Hairy Ape," an off-tackle play which is named after the halfback who carries the ball; and "Mourning Becomes Electra," so complicated that even Murphy is doubtful. Shakespeare, a back at Notre Dame, has written "Much Ado

TAR HEELS REST AFTER STRUGGLE

Varsity Play Gamecocks At Columbia, S. C.

The Tar Heels took a well earned rest yesterday before settling down to the grind of practicing for two games within a period of ten days.

Coach Ray Wolf takes his charges to Columbia Saturday to meet the Gamecocks of the University of South Carolina and then heads towards Charlottesville for the Turkey day game with the University of Virginia.

Celebration

The South Carolinians will be playing to a Homecoming day crowd and will be set to give the returning grads a victory. The Tar Heels are faced with the possibility of a let-down after their hard-fought game with the Blue Devils Saturday.

The Tar Heels came out of the game with no serious injuries on the squad and the minor injuries suffered by Jim Hutchins, Pete Avery and Captain Buck are expected to have healed by today to let them practice with the team.

The Gamecocks have an excellent crop of sophomore stars and held the vaunted Blue Devils scoreless until the fourth quarter when their defense broke down and the Wademen ran through three touchdowns.

This will be the nineteenth meeting of the two teams on the football field. The first encounter was in 1903 with the Tar Heels coming out on the long end of the 17-0 score. North Carolina holds 13 wins in the series and South Carolina two. They have tied up three times.

Netters Will Meet Virginia Next Week

Varsity will Hold Annual Holiday Meeting

Carolina's ace varsity racket-wielders will invade the University of Virginia at Charlottesville next week for the annual Thanksgiving tennis match.

The Cavaliers of Virginia will have a full team of 6 men ready for action, according to a letter received by Coach Kenfield. The players who will represent the Tar Heels at Charlottesville next Wednesday have not been chosen yet. Seven or eight men and Manager Ed. Jeffress are expected to make the trip.

The following boys are eligible: Potts, Henderson, Foreman, Robinson, Farrell, C. Rood, W. Rood, Doyle, and Byfield. It is likely that the first seven players on the above list will see action against Virginia's best.

About Nothing," a quintuplet lateral; "Comedy of Errors," which features a series of recovered fumbles; and "The Tempest," composed of a hail storm of forward passes.

Ranson's Hill And Dalers Favored To Regain Title Of Southern Conference

Pick 'Em Winners

The winners of last week's contest were: First, John Murray, Sutton building; second, James Sutton, 209 Aycock; third, Philip Cohen, 305 Graham.

The first prize is two passes to the Carolina theater and the second and third prizes one pass each. The winners may receive their passes by calling by the office this afternoon.

Standings Altered As Carolina Drops To Third In Rank

V. M. I. Takes Second Place by Upsetting Maryland Saturday

Carolina's Tar Heels lost more than the ball game to Duke Saturday. The defeat, the first the Tar Heels had suffered in six conference games, dropped the Wolfmen to third place in the Southern conference race.

Virginia Military Institute's bounding sophomores took second place by upsetting Maryland and Bill Guckeyson Saturday. Duke still holds a clear lead on the title with no setbacks in six conference efforts.

Only State separates the Wademen from the flag and it does not seem possible that State can dump the high flying Blue Devils.

Furman held fourth place in a tie with Washington and Lee.

	W.	L.	Pts.	Op.P.
Duke	6	0	157	7
V. M. I.	5	1	103	58
North Carolina	4	1	82	46
Furman	3	1	50	53
W. & L.	3	1	53	58

Pick 'Em Contest

This is the next to last Pick 'Em contest to be run this season. Get your ballot in for passes to the Carolina theater.

Choose the winner and approximate the score. Place your ballot in the DAILY TAR HEEL office before Saturday noon. Choices of the judges will be final.

N. Car	S. Caro
Boston C.	Boston U.
Syracuse	Colgate
Baylor	S. M. U.
Notre D.	Northwest.
Duquesne	Marq.
Yale	Harvard
Manhat.	Villanova
Calif.	Stanford
Dart.	Princeton
Name
Address

Duke's Morse Is Picked To Lead Field In Race

Hendrix To Run

The Southern conference cross country championships which will be run over the five mile course in Chapel Hill, Saturday, November 21, points to Carolina entering as a favorite to regain the crown from Duke, present titleholders.

Although the Tar Heels are favored to take the team prize,

Time trials for the varsity and freshman cross country teams will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

a mighty problem confronts them as to copping individual honors. Bill Morse of Duke, present conference champion, and Bill Lumpkin of Richmond promise one of the most thrilling individual battles seen in a long time.

Morse

In copping the championship last year, Morse ran away with the race, finishing well in front of his own teammate Koop, who finished second. However, things will not be so easy for Morse this year, as Lumpkin has already registered a victory over him in the dual meet between Richmond and Duke.

Lumpkin has to his credit a perfect season thus far, having placed first for the Spiders against Randolph-Macon, Virginia, Duke, V. M. I., and Washington and Lee.

Hendrix

Although the consensus of opinion seems to center around Morse or Lumpkin finishing first, Bill Hendrix, Tar Heel sophomore star, has placed first in the five dual meets in which he competed.

Andy Jones, another Tar Heel star, who has tied his teammate Hendrix twice this year, is another factor with whom the leaders must reckon. Captain Graham Gammon, who has not competed this season, may appear this Saturday and give his old rival Morse a run for his title. Bill Davis of State is another veteran who will be holding the attention of the crowd, as he has been coming along steadily.

Our advertisers patronize us. Let's show our appreciation by patronizing them.

FOR RENT — One room in the Buccaneer club. Excellent location for the winter months.

Big Money Gets Fast Horses and Fast Football Teams

Little Money

Gets The Fast, Sleek Ford V-8 See Our 1937 Car Today

We Have a Nice "36" V-8 Roadster for $485 Your Choice of Two 35 V-8 Tudors, $395 And Several Other Cars at Reasonable Prices

Strowd Motor Co.

Ford and Esso Products Since 1914

BUY BY COMPARISON

NEW ROYAL PORTABLE WITH TOUCH CONTROL

The Rose Agency, Inc. 206 Corcoran Street Durham, N. C.

Prices and terms are the same... Values differ! Get what you pay for. Try all portables... Convince yourself of Royal's superiority!