Rivalry Renewed

When Don McAllister's Gamecocks and Bear Wolf's Tar Heels take to the gridiron Saturday afternoon at Columbia, S. C., another of the South's famous rivalries will be renewed. The two teams first met back in 1908 when Carolina swamped the Palmettos 22-0.

Saturday's game will catch both clubs on the re-bounce. Their biggest common foe was Duke, who administered a 27-7 defeat to the Blue and White and a 21-0 setback on the Palmettos. From a glance it looks like an even battle, but take your scribe's word for it . . . those Tar Heels are awfully tough on the re-bounce. Remember the Virginia game last year?

At The Ringside

With the football season coming to a close, we've been dividing our time lately between the gridiron and the squared circle over at the Tin Can. Here Coach Mike Ronman, assisted by Marvin Ray, former Tar Heel ringman and now coach of the frosh, is starting on an industrious campaign for this year's boxing team.

With Jaydee Dermid, Bill Stronach, and others from last year's strong freshman team coming up, Carolina should be back in the ring spotlight. Incidentally, some of the Tar Heels' best boys started out in the annual intramural tournament.

Five Miles Home

Co-featuring with Saturday's football game, but the star local attraction, will be the annual Southern conference cross country championship over the five-mile Chapel Hill course. Last season the Blue and White harriers lost its crown to Duke, from whom it had usurped it in 1933.

This year, by virtue of its decisive wins over Duke, Washington and Lee, and Davidson, the Tar Heels will be favored to regain the title. Coach Dale Ranson has his boys in fine trim and Captain Graham Gammon, Bill Hendrix, & Co., should bring home the proverbial bacon.

proved by a majority of that class. Tuesday of last week our class tried to approve its budget but only 25 per cent had enough interest to come to the meeting and, of course, it failed. Later in the week another meeting was called and this time about 30 per cent was present.

There are some members of our class that do not dance but this is not the only social function the class is planning to have. If the budget isn't approved, there will be no Yackety Yack space, no dance, no social, or no other class projects. So we are urging each one of you to be present at the meeting Thursday morning (today) at 10:30 in Memorial hall to approve the class budget.

TAR HEELS HOLD LENGTHY DRILLS

Strong Gamecock Team Looks To Carolina

Coach Wolf gave his Tar Heels a lengthy drill yesterday afternoon to prepare for the heavy, fast-charging line and speedy, elusive backfield that comprises the University of South Carolina team which will be faced at Columbia this Saturday.

The Gamecocks with their strong reserve power are pointing for their encounter with the Carolina team which will be the feature of the university's gala homecoming day program. The game is to be played in the recently improved Gamecock stadium at the State Fair Grounds and officials are expecting a near-capacity crowd.

Although the Tar Heels will be the favorites this week the team will face a line with only a three pounds average less weight. Most of the South Carolina players are sophomores who were able to hold Duke scoreless until the final period. The Gamecocks didn't get steamed up properly against Villanova and Furman, but they feel that it's their turn to get back in the win column this week.

Cross Country Fans Look To Gala Track Meet Here Saturday

Six Teams Enter 13th Annual Conference Clash

With the 13th annual Southern conference meet only two days off, entries have been received from six teams: Richmond, N. C. State, Washington and Lee, Davidson, Furman and Carolina. Duke, defending champions, are expected to enter later in the day with one or two other members of the conference loop.

A gala program is scheduled for cross country fans, as the big meet which starts at 2 o'clock Saturday will be preceded by a clash between the Duke and Carolina freshman teams, with the Tar Babies already having a win over the Imps, while the other preliminary finds the Carolina varsity reserves seeking revenge over the Guilford Quakers for their early season victory.

Lumpkin Favorite

Many individual clashes seem to be the order for the day, with the conflict between Bill Lumpkin of Richmond and Bill Morse of Duke occupying the spotlight.

Bill Hendrix, Graham Gammon and Andy Jones are expected to be among the first to break the tape.

FRESHMAN TEAM READY FOR DUKE

Tar Babies Look Good In Scrimmage

Coach Skidmore's Baby Heels continued to drill hard yesterday as they prepared for Duke with a long workout on running plays and passing. All the crippled backs are in uniform again, and the squad is set to play the best game of the season tomorrow in the Duke stadium. The practice was one of the year's best with the first and second teams in dummy scrimmage looking good in running their signals.

The Tar Babies go into their last and most important game with all their backs in good condition for the first time. In previous games one or two of the regular quartet have been on the sick list. Carver, Radman, Meighan, and Soufas will face the more practice session before the more practice session before the battle, and the way in which the candidates have been given intensive instruction indicates that the coaches are pointing for Duke.

The yearlings' hopes for a victory hinge largely on their aerial attack featuring Carver as hurler and Vaillancourt, Ord, and Bryant as receivers.

Betas' Last Period Rally Gains Win Over Phi Delt

Thrilling Aerial Play By Weaver Features Mural Contest

Betas Play S.A.E.

In a game which could have rivaled any collegiate football contest in thrills and fight, Beta Theta Pi came through from seeming defeat to score a touchdown with only 35 seconds of play remaining to defeat Phi Delta Theta by a 6-2 margin in first downs with each team countering one touchdown.

This win gave the Betas an undefeated season and earned for them a playoff with S.A.E. to determine the fraternity division winner in the intramural grid program.

T. E. P. Wins

T.E.P. chalked up their initial win of the campaign as they took a 6-0 game from Chi Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Phi Gamma Delta 6-0, and A.T.O. took a 13-6 win from Alpha Epsilon in the only other games played yesterday.

Phi Delta Theta was the first to count when a series of passes brought the ball within scoring distance. Dave Mosier faked an end run and heaved a high pass to Weaver who was waiting in the end zone with two Beta players surrounding him. With only eight minutes of play remaining the Betas scored the winning run on a pass into the end zone.

For Digestion's Sake . . . Smoke Camels

THE TEST DIVE!

Straight down from 4 miles up—motor roaring—struts screaming—Gehlbach tears earthward like a bullet flashing from a revolver. At the bottom of the 2-mile drive—a sharp pull-out wrenches plane and pilot to the limit. Such tests make planes safer. Anything can happen. A bump in the air—a tiny flaw, and the plane can fly to pieces as though dynamited while the pilot takes to his parachute. But, as you can see at the right, Lee Gehlbach eats heartily and enjoys his food. Note the Camel cigarette in his hand—one of the many Camels that Lee enjoys during and after meals. In his own words (above), he gives you the reason why Camels are his cigarette.

Lee Gehlbach says: "Smoking Camels keeps my digestion tuned up and running smooth"

"CAMELS set me right!" Gehlbach says. "You know, chance is only 10% of my business. Keeping alert and in fine condition is the other 90%. I smoke Camels with my meals, and afterward, for digestion's sake. And when I say Camels don't get on my nerves, it means a lot."

Good digestion and healthy nerves are important for everyone in this wide-awake era. Camels at meal-time and after speed up the flow of digestive fluids—increase alkalinity—help bring a sense of well-being. So make Camel your cigarette—for digestion's sake—for their refreshing "lift." Camels set you right! And they do not get on your nerves.
