SOPHOMORE MEN SECURE QUORUM TO PASS BUDGET

Third Attempt For Hop Successful as 280 Attend Meeting

The sophomores will have their annual class dance December 4.

President Bud Hudson's campus placards, newspaper appeals, classroom announcements, and personal visits resulted yesterday morning in a turnout of slightly more than the 280 sophomores needed to make the class budget valid.

In three minutes during chapel period, the class heard its budget read, voted its approval, and adjourned.

Yesterday was the third attempt of President Hudson to muster 50 per cent of his classmates. A new Student council ruling has made necessary half of each class's approval before its budget is valid.

Hudson announced that the coming dance will be formal, and will be held in the Tin Can.

The complete budget, as adopted, is:

Miscellaneous expenses, $5. Yackety Yack picture, $150. Dance, $250. Election expenses next spring, $5. Class smoker, $100. Student audit fee, $10. Total: $520.

UNION WILL GIVE HOLIDAY FROLICS

Director Ivey Calls For Entertainers

The board of directors of the student union decided at their meeting yesterday afternoon to give an entertainment over the holidays to those students who for any reason may be in Chapel Hill.

Plans for the occasion have been left to the discretion of Pete Ivey. Ivey's plans are indefinite at this date, but he promises that there will be a good show and a dance.

He invites any students who will be unable to go home for the holidays and who have entertaining ability to see him as soon as possible at the director's office in Graham Memorial.

There will be some form of activity for the stranded students on both Thursday and Friday night.

Policy League Hears Speech By Economist

Dr. E. M. Bernstein Discusses Monetary Agreements

At a meeting of the Foreign Policy league last night in Graham Memorial, Dr. E. M. Bernstein of the economics department gave an "Explanation of the Recent International Monetary Agreements."

In his speech Dr. Bernstein said that in France Roosevelt was now held as the savior of the franc. He also said that a period of deflation is much worse than a period of inflation, and that the rise of prices in 1933 was a result of the abandonment of the gold standard.

At the first of the meeting it was announced by George MacFarland, president of the league, that the Foreign Policy league with the League of Nations association is going to send several delegates to an International Relations conference at Winthrop college in Rock Hill, S. C., on December 11 and 12.

To Read Paper

W. T. Couch, director of the University press, who will read a paper before the Southern Historical association in Nashville, Tenn., this afternoon.

HOLT WINS PRIZE FOR BEST ESSAY

Judges Give Martin $5 As Second Prize

Albert Holt of 407 Grimes and C. C. Martin of 10 Pettigrew were named yesterday the two winners in the DAILY TAR HEEL essay contest which closed recently.

Holt will receive $10 as first prize for submitting the best essay on "The Benefits to be Derived from a New Gymnasium and Swimming Pool." Martin won the second prize of $5. The winners can get their money from Pete Ivey, director of Graham Memorial.

Couch To Present Paper At Meeting Of Southern Group

Press Director to Attend Southern Historical Conference

W. T. Couch, director of the University press, will read a paper entitled "The Agrarian Romance," before a meeting of the Southern Historical association in Nashville, Tenn., this afternoon.

Director Couch's paper concerns a movement which, in part, advocates a return to the old agrarian South. The movement offers certain objections to the mechanical and industrial progress taking place in the South.

Mr. Couch spoke at the Nashville book fair Tuesday on "Problems of Publishing." He is also editor of "Culture in the South," a symposium on the Southern scene which appeared in 1934 and which according to the New Republic, "is probably the best non-fiction book on the South that has yet appeared."

Hillel Service

Dr. Louis Kattsoff of the philosophy department will lead tonight's Hillel foundation discussion at 7:15 p. m. in Graham Memorial's banquet hall.

The traditional Hebrew service and the reformed service will be conducted at tonight's meeting.

Dr. Kattsoff will speak on "Paths to Truth: The Religious and the Scientific."

DEBATERS MEET ENGLISH ORATORS TONIGHT AT 7:30

Last Year's Veterans Will Represent University

Coming here under the auspices of the National Student Federation of America, Asher Sheinfeld and G. R. Young, representing the National Union of Students of England, will debate the University's team in Hill Music hall tonight at 7:30.

The question under discussion will be, "Resolved, That the Constitution of the United States is a menace to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

The University's team, chosen by Professors Olsen, Woodhouse and McKie after a series of try-outs, will consist of the two speakers, Jim McMillan, and David Kerley, and two alternates, Paul Wallach and C. C. Greer. McMillan and Kerley are veterans from last year's team, while Greer and Wallach are newcomers to the Carolina debating scene.

Visitors

Asher Sheinfeld, one of the English representatives, comes from the Universities of Wales and Birmingham. Graduated from the former with first class honors in economics, he is a specialist in industrial relations and is now engaged in economic research at the University of Birmingham. He has been secretary and president of the College League of Nations club and has held the same offices in both Union Debating society at Cardiff and the International Relations club there. Scheinfeld has been asked to stand for parliament in the next election, for the Labor party.

G. R. Young, the other representative, comes from the London school of economics. He began his education at the Aberdeen Grammar school, worked in a tobacco factory for a year, and resumed his work at King George V school in Southport. After working and teaching for a time, Mr. Young graduated with first class honors from the London school of economics in 1936. While there he was active in the affairs of the National Union of Students, and specialized in government.

Aycock Resident Falls Two Stories

Aycock Resident Ira Royster, ardent radio aerialist, and a red-head at his own discretion, last night played Humpty-Dumpty out of his own second story window, falling far below to the street-side embankment.

The freshman was attempting to fix an aerial when the accident occurred. Infirmary officials allowed him to remain in his dormitory during the night, although his chances of walking this morning seemed slight.

UNIVERSITY CLUB PLANS PEP RALLY

Varsity To Leave Swain Hall At 8 O'Clock

"Be down at Swain hall tonight at 8 o'clock to give the team a good send off," was the request made by President Nick Read at the meeting of the University club in Graham Memorial last night.

It was also announced that the picnic planned for the members of the University club tomorrow night will be postponed due to the large number planning to attend the football game in South Carolina.

Plans were made to meet the Scabbard and Blade, national R.O.T.C. fraternity, which will visit the campus today at 4 o'clock from its convention now being held at State college in Raleigh.

It was also announced that the University club will have representatives to watch the course at the track meet tomorrow.

No Chapel Today

There will be no freshman assembly today, according to an announcement made by Dean Francis Bradshaw yesterday. This is due to a delay in the installation of officers, which has been postponed until Monday.

These officers, Baxter Taylor, president, Foy Roberson, vice-president, C. J. Hines, secretary, and Stuart Ficklen, treasurer, will be inducted into office by John Parker, president of the student body.

Record Of Library School Shows 94 Of 115 Alumni Now Employed

Graduates Working in 20 States Receiving Salaries from $633 to $2,850

After its fifth year here at the University, the library school boasts 94 out of 115 alumni now employed, with only seven unemployed and the remaining 14 occupied with studying business or teaching.

Out of the 94 employed alumni, 45 are working in North Carolina libraries. The 115 alumni of the school represent 18 different states while those working have gone out into 20 states.

According to Miss Susan B. Akers, head of the University library school, one graduate has been made the librarian of the John Marshal high school library in Richmond, Va., the largest school library in the state.

Others

Another graduate is now supervisor of the school libraries in Durham while still another is head of the new micro-photography department at the University of Chicago libraries.

An alumnus has been appointed librarian of the Gunter'sville Dam library in Alabama, one of the T. V. A. projects, and another is librarian in the Eli Lilly Company library in Indianapolis.

Students from the University library school are also in New York public libraries and Washington, D. C. libraries.

Salaries

The salaries received by these ex-students range from $633 to $2,850 with one individual under appointment for a job beginning January 1 at $3,360. Ten alumni of the library school are now making $1,500 or above.

Among these graduates, 20 are working in university libraries, 15 in college libraries, 30 in school libraries, 27 in public libraries and two in special libraries.

High School Press Institute Will Get Underway Tonight With Initial Session In Union

Hitchhiking Students Decide To Talk Way Out Of Judge's Office

Raleigh Case Brings Forth Comment from Chief Sloan on Bumming in Chapel Hill

Two students at State college, arrested in Raleigh the first of the week for thumbing rides, promised the city's chief of police Wednesday that they would cooperate heartily with his suggestion that they talk their way out of fines totaling $15.10.

The students were Henry Rice and A. J. Siler. The suggestion was that they appear before the student body at chapel assembly this week and make safety talks.

Unless they comply, their fines will probably be $7.55 each. In thanking the chief, Rice exclaimed, "We will talk our heads off to save that sum."

Sloan Says

Students in Chapel Hill won't have quite such a penalty for trying to get home on their thumb if they stay on the curb while bumming, said Police Chief W. T. Sloan here yesterday.

There is no anti-bumming law in the Village, but a minimum of $4.80 can be charged students who stand in the street while soliciting rides.

"I hate to get those fellows," said Chief Sloan, who at the same time added that it is only his duty to arrest those who step off the curb.

Dashiell Presents Psychological Talk To Faculty Group

Science Head Shows Relation of Philosophy to Human Forms

Dr. J. F. Dashiell addressed the Faculty Philosophy of Science club in the lounge room of the Graduate club Wednesday night on the "Relations of Psychology to Philosophy."

Presentation of viewpoints demonstrated that, "psychology is the application of methods of natural science in relation to human and sub-human forms."

Viewed from the historical perspective, philosophy was said to be used as a general curiosity concerning the sun, moon, stars and so forth. As the study of natural events advanced, subject matter became isolated, specializations arose and as things became more elaborate, throw-offs came about and so the natural sciences sprang from the mother study, philosophy.

It was brought out by Dr. Dashiell that "The psychology of today has no direct metaphysical interest . . . The pure psychology of the twentieth century is not concerned with ethical problems."

Dr. Dashiell conducted a brief test along the lines of word association to point out some of the functions and interests of psychology.

Dr. Jordan, of the psychology faculty, gave a short talk on some problems brought out in the discussion and Dean Bradshaw offered some reactions to the address.

Dr. L. O. Kattsoff, president of the club, presented the speaker and once more made an appeal for a new name for the club.

35 Youthful Journalists From 15 Schools Expected

With new delegates enrolled yesterday, some 55 representatives of 15 high schools will attend the first annual North Carolina Scholastic Press institute convening at 7:30 tonight in the small lounge at Graham Memorial.

This evening's meeting will be devoted mainly to introducing the delegates to each other. Stuart Rabb, institute director, will outline briefly the purpose and program of the convention.

Tomorrow's sessions begin at 9:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. These conferences will be round table discussions of high school journalistic problems.

Banquet

A final banquet will be provided at 5:30 tomorrow evening by Graham Memorial. Election of officers for the institute and plans for next year's meet will be in order at the banquet.

Cooperating in finding rooms for the delegates are the Woman's association and the Interfraternity council.

Delegates

The following high school newspapers will send these delegates:

"The Barker," Burlington high school; Editor Howard White.

"The Trojan," Troy high school; Editor Rachess Maness, Advisor Richardson, three staff writers.

"Blue and Gray," Statesville high school; Editor Perry Odum and Business Manager Jack Holland.

"Purple and Gold," Hugh Morson high school, Raleigh; Editor Sam McDonald and Miss Hannah Laboc.

SENIOR LEADERS DISCUSS SMOKER

Executives Lay Plans For Meeting Soon

Meeting Wednesday night Senior Class President Niles Bond and his cohorts of the executive committee laid plans for a class meeting to be held Tuesday at 10:30 in Memorial hall, and for a class smoker to be held this quarter.

Present at this meeting for the first time was newly appointed executive committeewoman Mary Lindsay, the only coed to attend the first class meeting of the year. "I believe in the merit system," said Bond when announcing her appointment.

Class Meeting

The main purpose of the class meeting will be to bring the class closer together, so they will get to know each other better. It was suggested Wednesday night that the new senior coeds be introduced to the class at this meeting.

Various forms of entertainment are being planned for this meeting. If the meeting is held at chapel period "Bouncer" Ed Herring will be in front of the Y. M. C. A. just before the meeting to steer seniors into Memorial hall. "Seniors hang around at chapel period with absolutely nothing constructive to do," it was stated at the meeting.
