Graham Plan Killed By Unanimous Vote

Three Campus Bands Signed For Student-Faculty Fiesta

Shaffner Presents Rules For Campus Election Of Carnival Queen Dress Ball Planned

The newest addition to Student-Faculty day, set tentatively for February 10, is the music that will be furnished by Jimmie Fuller, Freddie Johnson, Bob McManeus and their orchestras, who will play intermittently during the day.

According to Louis Shaffner, any student may participate in the nomination of the queen of the celebration, who will be the center of attraction for the day. The nomination of any potential queen may be done by submitting to the committee a cabinet-sized portrait of the nominee, whether she be a coed or not, along with a typewritten biographical sketch. All students intending to nominate a girl are urged to get the necessary material during the Christmas holidays so that it may be turned in at the beginning of school, said Shaffner.

Display

These pictures will be displayed for an entire week for observation by the students. The queen and her court will be selected by a campus-wide vote. The six girls receiving the next highest votes after the queen will be the royal ladies-in-waiting.

At 10:30 in the morning the coronation ceremony of the queen will be performed amid appropriate music by the three orchestras. At the first hour of the afternoon the faculty will be entertained at dinner by the students. Following in the afternoon will be a voluminous carnival, which will include many contests and a street dance in honor of the queen. In case of cold weather the dance will be held in the Tin Can.

Apex

The celebration will come to its apex that night with a fancy-dress ball in honor of the queen. At this ball prizes will be awarded for the winners of egg-throwing, horse-shoe, and many other contests of the afternoon. A prize will also be given to the person wearing the most attractive and original costumes.

Local Man Uses Amplifier In Campaign For Senate

W. H. Griffin and Wife Tour State in Trailer During Democratic Primary

By GORDON BURNS

Employing a trailer and an amplifying system in campaigning—for the first time in political history—is the contribution of W. H. Griffin, senatorial candidate in the recent primary and new resident of Chapel Hill.

"We were six weeks on the road in all," commented Griffin, in describing his unique experience. "My wife and I started in Raleigh, covered eastern North Carolina down to Beaufort, and went west as far as Asheville. We had a complete house-keeping unit in the trailer—water, accommodations for sleeping, cooking and eating. Although,

Bach Oratorio Will Be Sung Here Tonight

Choral Club Will Give Holiday Program In Hill Hall

Tonight at 8:30 in Hill Music hall the Chapel Hill Choral club will present Johann Sebastian Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" celebrating the old festival of Christmas extending from December 25 to January 6.

In this festival six days were especially hallowed. These six days—December 25, 26, 27, New Year's day, the Sunday after, and Epiphany, or the day of the three wise men—supply the themes for the "Christmas Oratorio." The Choral club will sing portions from each day's festival music in the program tonight, but the parts are so well integrated that the entire Christmas story is presented through the music.

Narrative

The gospel narrative of the incidents of the Christmas story is assigned to a tenor voice, the "Evangelist." The narrative is broken by voices in solo or chorus to represent the persons introduced in the course of the story. Recitatives and well-known hymn tunes also break into the reciting of the story with verses of the old hymns in the form of airs, choruses, and recitatives.

Between the two divisions of the Oratorio a selected group from the University Symphony orchestra will play a musical interlude.

Program

The program from the Oratorio is to be as follows: Chorus, (Continued on page five)

Last Issue

With this issue the DAILY TAR HEEL ceases publication until next quarter. The paper will appear on the campus again January 5, and the staff will start work Monday, January 4. Merry Christmas!

Faculty Passes Security Plan Teachers Will Convene Here

Retirement Annuities Program Adopted Carolina, Duke Joint Hosts of Society

Members of the faculty, headed by Dean D. D. Carroll of the school of commerce, have drawn up a plan for the establishment of a retirement fund for professors of the University.

"We are convinced after very careful consideration of the problems involved that the best interests of both University professors and public school teachers will be served by uniting in the effort to secure the immediate establishment of a sound plan for retirement annuities," read the report of the University of North Carolina committee on Retirement Annuities.

Part of Salaries

The committee has suggested that each teacher make a contribution to the fund of from four to five per cent of each month's salary and that the state make an equal contribution for each instructor.

The plan sets as its standard a retired annuity of one-half of the average salary received by the teacher during the five years immediately preceding his retirement. It also provides for a disability benefit to be paid to teachers who become disabled after ten or more years of service. Another stipulation of the proposal is "the retention by the teacher of an absolute property right in the amount which he has paid in, plus the interest thereon, together with a similar right after ten years of service in the contributions that have been made for him by the state."

Dr. J. M. Booker, department of English, dissented from the majority proposals. "My objections attach both to the annuity plan recommended and to the considerations prompting the committee's recommendation. I record the former first. Considered as a system of retiring annuities, the present plan is inferior to the plan recommended by the committee of 1926—or even

Conference Heads Crush Purity Plan

Honor Council Induction Set For Tomorrow

Newly Elected Council To Try Freshman Honor Cases

The newly elected freshman honor council will be installed by Fred Weaver, vice-president of the student body, at a meeting to be held in Memorial hall during chapel period tomorrow.

President Frank P. Graham will preside at the session and speak on the University honor system.

The freshman council will try cases of breaches of the honor code which concern freshmen. The Student council will act as a court of appeal in these cases.

The members of the council are: G. B. Anderson, Dewitt Barnett, John Bonner, Julian Coghill, Julian Lane, Thomas Royster, and Phil Walker. Baxter Taylor, president of the freshman class, and Fred Weaver will be ex-officio members.

To Advertisers

Because the maximum number of advertising inches had been sold for this issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL, the advertising staff was unable to serve several advertisers who wished to buy space for today's paper.

Eli Joyner, business manager, said yesterday, "I regret that the space for this issue was so limited that we could not place any more advertisements. I appreciate the interest which Chapel Hill merchants have shown in the DAILY TAR HEEL as an advertising medium."

Opera Set For Winter Term Satirizes Victorian Morals

Local Headquarters For Math Meetings To Be Placed At Inn

American Mathematical Society to Hold Sessions Here in Phillips Hall

The 43rd annual meeting of the American Mathematical society will be held jointly at Duke university and at the University of North Carolina from December 29-31. The local headquarters for the meeting will be at the Carolina inn.

The sessions of the meeting will be held at Duke December 29 and 30, and here in Phillips hall on December 31.

The American Mathematical society, made up of prominent mathematicians from all over the world, has never before held its annual meeting in the Southeast, and the fact that this year the meeting will be held here, the mathematics department announced, is "attributed to the growing mathematical activity in this section."

Duke university dormitories and the Carolina inn will house the members.

Virginia's Resignation Tabled For One Year Period

Pass Alternate Plan

The Graham plan, for over a year a thorn in the athletic side of Southern conference institutions, was abolished by a unanimous vote Friday night at a meeting of conference officials.

The decision to wipe out President Frank P. Graham's athletic purity scheme came after Captain Norton Pritchett, athletic director of the University of Virginia, had electrified the conference with the announcement that the Old Dominion school wished to resign from the Southern conference because of an "intolerable" athletic situation.

New Rules

The new regulations adopted for eligibility say that all types of assistance given to an athlete must be approved by a faculty committee "on the ground that they have not accrued to him primarily because of his ability as an athlete."

President Graham stated that the new plan still contained all of the principles of his plan.

Resignation

The delegates to the meeting voted totally to withhold the acceptance of Virginia's resignation for a period of one year. It was hoped that the Cavaliers will find the abolition of the old plan and the adoption of new measures acceptable, and that they will reconsider their decision to leave the conference.

It was decided to carry out the schedules planned for next year considering Virginia still a member of the conference.

"The Pirates of Penzance" Carries Out Parody on Grand Opera to Fullest Extent

By BOB PERKINS

Droll, whimsical, topsy-turvy humor satirizing British respectability and the exaggerated moral sense of the Victorian era, is the description given to Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," to be given next quarter through the cooperation of the Playmakers and the music department.

In writing the libretto for the Pirates, Gilbert is believed by many to have written some of his most comical lines. Sullivan, in the score, attempted to carry out to the fullest extent a parody of "Grand Opera."

Musical Score

Critics say that the melodies cannot help win the hearer, but at the same time the musical score holds up for good natural laughter the Verdian style of Italian grand opera. Many of the songs have been popular throughout the country, and today with various adaptations are familiar to many. An example of this is the Pirates' chorus in Act II:
