

HITS OF THE FALL IN REVIEW

Deans Invite Students to Talk Over Educational Problems

Among the campus, faculty and town organizations campaigning this fall for the admission of freshmen and sophomore girls to the University was Mamie Rose McGinnis' Y.W.C.A.

Probably the most progressive trend of the quarter has been the work of the department of physical education, right, below, in widening student participation in athletics here.

Under the auspices of the Faculty Committee of Instruction, chaired by Dr. A. W. Hobbs, students and University deans began meeting together informally this quarter to talk over mutual problems in education. Before this year, no organized agency existed to bring students and professors together to discuss educational procedures. At the two meetings this year topics for discussion were grades and provisions for freeing exceptional students from herd requirements. From the last session emerged the proposal that the Hibbard Honors College of 1928 be re-organized.

Gym-Getter

GYM-GETTER

Controller Charles T. Woolen finished a two-year fight this fall. He pushed through a federal grant for Carolina's much-needed new gymnasium and coed dormitory.

Behind much of the success of Albert Ellis' Interdormitory program this fall has been faithful and unassuming Hugh Davis (upper left), president of Old West.

Sub-Director

The man who really managed the Student Union last year and has been responsible for a lot of its valuable service under Pete Ivey this fall is quiet Sam Morton, left, hair-clipper, bozer, and University junior.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Largely under the leadership of Fred Weaver, left, vice president of the student body, campus organizations organized early in the year a Union Forum composed of the leaders of major Carolina activities. The new organization will serve as an index of campus feeling on major issues and will help coordinate the work of the various activities.
