Storm Talks Before Final News Session

Group Hears Proposed Plans For Cruise To Bermuda

At the last session of the state press institute in the Carolina inn yesterday, Newsman Fred Storm described "Covering the President," in an off-the-record talk.

Storm, of the United Press, told the state journalists of the joys and sorrows of the "small end of the nation's new funnel."

He said that the 150 White House correspondents interview the President twice weekly, dividing their questions into three groups: Questions to receive a direct answer; background questions; and off-the-record questions.

After Hours

"The White House seems to awe the senators," he said. "They wait till they get to the cloak room and then 'let go.'"

Storm has covered Roosevelt since he first ran for governor of New York. He estimates that the President prepares 90 per cent of all his speeches.

Earlier yesterday, the visiting newsmen held a round table discussion of "The Social Security act as it affects newspapers."

Tar Heel Lady

Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton, secretary of the organization, announced initial plans for a proposed press cruise to Bermuda next summer.

After adopting resolutions of thanks to the University and Duke for their co-operation at the institute, the group adjourned for six months.

Beust Announces Points Governing Library Contest

Deadline for Completion of Collections Set for May 1; Prizes to Be Given

All students interested in the student library contest are reminded by Miss Nora Beust, chairman of the awards committee, that they have until May 1 to complete and submit their collection of books.

The contest, open to all undergraduates, is varying from the procedure followed last year. This year the first prize for the best collection of books made by an undergraduate student will be $15 and the second prize, $5. The third prize to be awarded will consist of $5 to be taken out in books from the Bull's Head book shop.

All students interested in the contest are invited to attend the regular Bull's Head tea Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 at which time R. B. Downs, University librarian, will discuss book collecting. Downs has made a study of the factors entering into book collecting and, according to Miss Beust, will be able to help both those who have begun their collection and those who are considering a collection.

Miss Beust's committee is made up of Dr. Harry Russell, Miss Doris Weaver, Miss Helen Packard, Mac Smith, and Jim Daniel.

The cardinal points governing the student library award are as follows: 1. All books shall be the personal property of the contestant, shall bear a suitable

YWCA Plans Huge Banquet Anniversary Gathering Set For Wednesday

The Young Womens Christian association will celebrate its first anniversary Wednesday.

Planning a banquet, the Y. W. C. A. hopes to have one of the largest gatherings of women students of any organization this year. Over 100 students in addition to the guests are expected to attend, and invitations have been issued to the presidents of all the associations at surrounding colleges.

Principal Speaker

Mrs. Clyde A. Milner, personnel director of Guilford college will make the principal address of the evening. Numerous plans have been made for the birthday party and there will be music, favors, and surprises intended to add spice to the occasion.

During its brief career the Y. W. C. A. has held a variety of meetings and forums of religious and social emphasis and has cooperated with the Y. M. C. A. in bringing prominent speakers to the campus and promoting numerous student conferences.

Activities

Although the association has primarily considered the spiritual life of women students it has also staged a style show, held an international bazaar, co-operated with the men's association in launching the officers' training school for all campus organizations.

It has given numerous teas and conducted the committee work on the campus and in the community. This fall the organization

"Y" Groups To Hear Frazer, Beckerath

"International Relations and Government" Is Topic

"Y" cabinets convene tomorrow night at 7:15 for continued discussion of topics that will be considered at the Human Relations institute next March.

K. C. Frazer, professor of political science, will tell the sophomore cabinet of America's international relations. The meeting will be in the "Y" building browsing room.

On the second floor of the "Y," Dr. Herbert von Beckerath will discuss the current European situation with the junior-senior cabinet.

The general topic of this week's discussion is "International Relations and Government."

ASU To Sponsor Mitchell Speech On Campus Soon

Resettlement Director Expected To Lead Discussion on "Farm Problems"

Initiating a program of weekly open forum discussions on current issues, the American Student union will sponsor George Mitchell, regional director of the resettlement administration, January 26.

Mitchell will be the first in this series of speakers who have already been contacted. He will lead a discussion on "Farm Problems." Mitchell spoke recently at a meeting of the honorary sociology fraternity and has appeared at the University on several occasions.

Carl Voss, minister of the Unitarian church in Raleigh, has agreed to speak on "Need and Forces Making for a Successful Farmer-Labor Party." No definite date has been set for his appearance. Following Voss' talk, at a later date, Dr. Donald Stewart, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will lead a discussion on "Religion and Progressive Political Movements."

Moder Comments

When this open forum program was planned at a meeting of the A. S. U. Wednesday night, President Meder stated, "We feel that in presenting these well-known speakers we will be giving the campus a chance to hear unbiased opinion on questions concerning all of us, and more important, be able to discuss them among ourselves. We hope to continue this policy throughout the year."

Investigation of the labor conditions in local restaurants which was begun last quarter is being completed, and final tabulation will be heard at next week's meeting.

Comer To Speak

Harry Comer, "Y" secretary, will conduct an open forum discussion of "Sex and Healthy Mindedness" at the Freshman Friendship council tomorrow night.

Freshmen will meet at 7:15 in the Di senate hall, New West.

'Shep' Strudwick May Play 'Ashley' In Proposed Movie

University Graduate of '27 Will Make Screen Tests for "Gone with the Wind"

Shepperd Strudwick, graduate of the University in 1927, has been called to Hollywood by United Artists for a screen test in the film version of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" to be released late this year, it was learned yesterday.

While in the University, Strudwick was a member of the Carolina Playmakers in which he distinguished himself in many of the organization's dramatic productions. Leaving the University, he went to New York where, in 1932, he was awarded a leading role in Maxwell Anderson's Pulitzer prize play, "Both Your Houses," and has since appeared in several other Theater Guild productions.

Completing his road tour with Ina Claire in "End of Summer" next Tuesday, Strudwick will go directly to Hollywood to screen test for the part of Ashley in Margaret Mitchell's best-seller novel of Civil War days in the South.

On January 24 he will talk about "The Contemporary Perdition—No God, No Man," on January 31 "When God Goes the Half Gods Arrive—The Salvation Hysteria," February 7 "Christianity under Judgment—The Church regains her sanity," February 14 "Christianity Confronts Secularism—God and Caesar," February 21 "Repentance and the Cross from Death to Life."

Virtuoso Played Here Four Years Ago On Music Bill

Benoist To Assist

The most publicized event of the quarter to date will take place tomorrow night when Albert Spalding, assisted by Andre Benoist at the piano, gives his violin recital in Memorial hall at 8:30.

Spalding was chosen by the local chapter of Phi Mu Alpha for their annual concert because of the enthusiastic reception he was given four years ago when he appeared on the student entertainment series.

The music department announced yesterday that its office in Hill Music hall will remain open today from 2 to 6 o'clock to continue the ticket sale for the Spalding concert tomorrow night.

Program

The program for tomorrow night will consist of "Sonata in E," Handel; "Sonata, Op. 30, No. 2," Beethoven (for piano and violin); "The Poem of a Sanlucena Maid," Turina; two selections by Spalding; one by Ravel; and Tarentelle by Szymanowski.

"Albert Spalding is known to concert audiences throughout the world. His name has gathered to itself that intangible qualification of greatness that is synonymous with its art; in every civilized language Spalding means but one thing only—the violin," says a recent music review of Spalding.

Scientists Laud A.C. Cornsweet For Experiment

University Psychology Instructor Cited for Research in Anaesthesia Effects

Instructor in the psychology department of the University Albert C. Cornsweet, former All-American football and la crosse player at Brown university, Rhodes scholar, member of Phi Beta Kappa, has received recognition in the scientific world as a result of his experiments with anaesthetics.

At a recent meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. Cornsweet read a paper on his experiments in the recovery sequence after anaesthetization. Since the announcements of these experiments, Mr. Cornsweet has been nationally honored through the publication of his discovery in 94 different newspapers and magazines. Chief among these were the New York Times, Science Service, and Science.

Instructor Cornsweet's discovery demonstrates the fact that animals recovering from ether have a head-to-tail return to consciousness. This reaction had been noticed in the first movements of animals in the embryonic state but never before in animals recovering from ether. Mr. Cornsweet's experiments so far have been with white rats, but he plans to continue this work with other animals and also with other anaesthetics.
