"Y" Secretary Harry Comer said yesterday that the Chinese scholar has agreed to discuss Far-Eastern problems before the institute in between his lecture contracts in the East and the Mid-west.

Educator

Wu has been prominent in the recent reorganization program of the Chinese government. He worked particularly with improvements in education.

Secretary Comer also said that Earl Browder will be unable to attend the institute, but has agreed to send a representative to present his social viewpoints.

AAUW Member Studies Situation Of UNC Women

Dr. Adams Sees Obstacles Preventing Installation of Association Chapter Here

Dr. Adams, investigator from national headquarters of the American association of university women, visited in Chapel Hill yesterday to study women's conditions at the University.

Dr. Adams stated that there were certain difficulties here which now prohibit women undergraduates from joining A. A. U. W. She will make a detailed report of the situation and present it to President F. P. Graham and to the national offices of the organization for consideration.

Local Concern

"After that, the matter is in the hands of the women at this institution as to whether they can, with the help of the university authorities, meet the requirements of the A. A. U. W.," stated the investigator.

Dr. Adams met and talked with several administrative officers yesterday morning, discussing action taken in the past to obtain A. A. U. W. recognition and steps which may be taken in the future.

Alpha Kappa Gamma, leadership fraternity for women, entertained Dr. Adams at a tea yesterday afternoon and further discussed with her the situation. "I would advise your organizing an alumnae group which will not be separated from the general alumni group but which may be developed into a working unit of women graduates," suggested Dr. Adams to the fraternity as a means for securing united action.

McGinnis Says Fatigue Caused Bureau Decline

"I'm Temporarily Tired of Arranging Dates," Comments Coed Matchmaker

"I'm just temporarily tired of fixing them," spoke Mamie Rose McGinnis yesterday of the dates between coeds and boys that she used to arrange under the name of Carolina Date Bureau, Inc.

Coed McGinnis plead that no condemning publicity be given her popular, but now little-heard-of, institution.

Disappointment

Apparently she was thinking of the recent episode in which 100 Ruffin residents said they were expecting dates for a dormitory social, and that at the last minute were disappointed by the bureau.

"... anyway, there weren't over 20 of those boys," Coed McGinnis ended her argument. And besides, she has a right to be "tired" of couple-matching.

Good Business

Her bureau sprang up last fall, headquartered in the "Y" building. From the beginning business was good. A boy joned in specifications for a Saturday night date and from one of the may 300 coeds that volunteered for dating got approximately what he sought.

Mamie Rose's greatest service was in filling the demands for Wednesday night dormitory socials. That went rather well until the recent Ruffin mixup.

"No, the bureau's not dead," its creator said yesterday. "I'm just tired for a while."

By BOB PERKINS

The robbery occurred on the Durham road near the Durham-Orange county line, when a car driven by two men drew alongside the bank messenger's car, and commanded Mrs. Herndon, who was driving, to stop. She obeyed, and one of the men, later

Three Merchants Will Face Charges Of Law Violations

Theater, Sutton's, Pritchard's Alleged to Have Broken State Lottery Laws

This morning at 10 o'clock Chapel Hill merchants will appear in the recorder's court to answer charges of violating the state lottery laws.

Sutton's Drug company, the Pritchard Drug company and the Carolina theater are all alleged to have broken the lottery laws through schemes to give cash refunds to lucky customers.

The two drug firms offer a daily cash prize to the person whose name is drawn from a file of registered patrons. The theater has bank night each Friday, and gives a money award to the ticket holder whose name is picked from a box.

The prosecution claims that these schemes are contrary to the law of the state. The defense holds that as there is no entry fee, or other extra charge for a chance to participate in any of the drawings, the refunds are legal, and do not violate any statute.

Henry A. Whitfield, Chapel Hill attorney, will defend the three concerns.

'Wigue, Masque' Title Is Adopted By Drama Group

Paul Green to Assist in Writing Script for Forthcoming Production in Spring

The traditional "Wigue and Masque" was formally adopted as the new name of the Cap and Bells club at a meeting of the executive board of the organization Sunday night.

The change was made in order to continue the tradition surrounding the former musical revue club, in which Hal Kemp, Kay Kyser, Jan Garber, and many other now prominent Carolina alumni were once active participants.

Paul Green, well known playwright, has agreed to assist in the writing of the script for the forthcoming production which is planned for this spring.

In speaking of the organization Mr. Green said: "This will give all students who have interest in this sort of work an excellent opportunity to develop their talents in this field." A meeting will be held with Mr. Green as soon as the dialogue writers have made a rough draft of the script.

Meetings of all students interested in working with the "Wigue and Masque" are being held in Memorial hall every afternoon except Saturday from 2:30 to 4 o'clock.
