Plans Announced For "CC" Course

Students Are Requested to Register Next Quarter

In a circular letter recently written by Mr. J. O. Bailey, secretary of the committee on English composition, all students that have an English "CC," whether they be freshmen or upperclassmen are warned that arrangements should be made as early as possible to remove the 'condition'.

The letter says "English CC will be offered as a 'laboratory' course, beginning in the spring quarter, 1937. You should register for it when you register for the spring quarter and complete the course in the spring quarter, as it will be necessary to charge a fee for the course ($5.00), beginning in the fall quarter, 1937."

Library Science Students Survey Local Fiction-Users

Statistics Show Average Undergraduate Reader Is Honor Roll Student

The results of a recent statistical survey of the use of the library fiction collection made by members of the library science school indicate that the average undergraduate reader of "front fiction" is either a senior or a sophomore of good scholastic standing.

Questionnaires

These conclusions were from questionnaires prepared by Miss Nora Beust's class in college book selection in the school of Library Science. The questionnaires were distributed to a representative cross-section of library-users, including students in all classes and all departments; members of the faculty, and other persons who use the University library.

Lewis Popular

According to the survey, the average undergraduate reader is likely to be an honor roll student. He may read almost any-

P. U. Charter Amendment Is Discussed

Board Hears Proposal Of Tar Heel Editor; Takes No Action

The Publications Union board adjourned yesterday before deciding whether to propose an amendment to the P. U. constitution authorizing staff elections of editors, as proposed by representatives of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Board President George Allen called another meeting for today at noon to continue discussion of the amendment proposal of Don McKee and Red Sarratt, editor and managing editor of the newspaper.

Majority

Allen stated that an amendment of the section which provides for the election of editors by the subscribers must be proposed either by the P. U. board, or by a majority of those present and voting at a meeting of the union for such an amendment, which must be called by the president of the board.

He added that should an amendment be proposed, a student vote on it would not be called for before next quarter.

Ruling

Students favoring staff elections called for yesterday's session of the P. U. board as a result of the ruling of the student council Wednesday outlawing staff elections. Last week staffs of the Yackety-Yack and the DAILY TAR HEEL voted in favor of electing their editors rather than nominating them for a campus vote.

Smith To Lecture

Professor Russell T. Smith, head of the art department, will give a gallery talk at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the exhibits now on view in Person hall.

Included in the exhibits are water colors by Professor Smith, drawings by F. Lus Mora, and lithographs and etchings by contemporary American artists.

Student Fee Probe Begun By PU Board

Business Office Fails To Make Proposed Reductions

The Publications Union board yesterday began an investigation into the failure of the University administration to reduce student publications fees for the spring quarter by 50 cents, as was voted by the board on January 27.

Spring Bills

Spring quarter bills, which had been given approximately 1200 students by yesterday afternoon, carried the cost of $2.30 as the publications revenue, instead of $1.80 as ordered by the board on the grounds of its sound financial condition. J. M. Lear, faculty adviser of the board, reported that he notified the business office of the reduction in January and was told that it would be possible to alter the bills to the correct amount.

Rogerson Away

L. B. Rogerson, assistant controller of the University, was out of town yesterday, but A. H. Shepard, Jr. stated that the spring quarter bills had been printed since last September, and that he was not sure how the business office had intended to change the amount of the publications fee.

Mr. Shepard said that he would communicate with Mr. Rogerson last night or this morning for a decision on the matter.

Tying Wake Forest Goal In Final Minute Is Ruled Out

Overflow Crowd

Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, March 5—Before a capacity crowd here tonight Carolina's White Phantoms, defending champions of the Southern conference, successfully repulsed the attempts of Wake Forest's Demon Deacons and earned the right to meet Washington and Lee in the tourney finals by virtue of a 37-35 victory.

Wake Forest, playing in the semi-finals for the first time, quickly showed why they had been rated an even chance to beat the Phantoms, taking an early five point lead in the first half and resisting stubbornly all attempts on the part of the white-shirted five from Carolina.

The Tar Heels crept up slowly but relentlessly and by half time had forged into a 23-19 lead. The Deacon mainstay during this first session, and during the entire game, was Wake Forest's sophomore flash, Waller.

Potts had a hard time in bottling up the shifty forward and as a result Waller tossed in ten markers, being the essential

Large Crowd Is Expected Here March 9

CPU Anticipating State-Wide Audience At Farley Talk

After placing posters in several North Carolina towns, the Carolina Political union bids fair to have a large state-wide attendance when the union presents Postmaster-General James A. Farley here on the afternoon of March 9.

Program

The program will begin at 2:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with a band concert by the University band. Farley's address, to begin at approximately 3 o'clock, will be broadcast over radio station WNCN. Memorial hall has been tentatively set as the locale for the program, but Kenan stadium will be resorted to in case of overflow crowds.

Although not yet 50 years of age, Farley has, in a national career of less than 10 years, become what many political commentators consider the greatest political ringmaster since Mark Hanna.

Career

Born at Grassy Point, New York in 1888, Farley's political career began in 1912 when he was elected town clerk of Stony Point, N. Y. From 1919 to 1929 he was chairman of the Rockland County Democratic committee and was delegate to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1924. He was also a delegate from the 25th New York congressional district when the convention met in Houston in 1928. In 1932 he was delegate-at-large from New York to the Chicago convention.
