Ramsay Potts, Jesse Lewis Decline Party Nominations To Hold Campus Positions

Tennis Captain Spurns Chance To Head Student Body

Reverses Decision

By VOIT GILMORE

Ramsay Potts will run for no political office this spring.

Yesterday he officially declined the University party's nomination of him for student body president.

"I am definitely not going to run for any office," he declared, following the University party's offer to support him for the presidency of the student body.

Not Main Interest

"Politics is not my main interest," he added. Other than declaring himself unable to lend his time to such an exacting campus position, he declined to reveal other reasons for his decision, which he intimated exist.

University party officials met last night to choose another nominee. They have not yet announced their selection.

Best To "Stay Out"

Potts stated that for a long time he has weighed the advisability of running for campus office this spring. After much consideration he believes it best to "stay out."

He was considered the University party's candidate when a steering committee meeting ended Tuesday night. Temporarily he had consented to run. Now, however, he feels that it is worth reversing the party's selection to justify his undisclosed reasons.

Steering committee members were silent on the verge of their meeting last night as to other possible nominees. One likelihood was Marvin Allen, who has previously been considered by the party.

Indications Show Summer Session Registration Big

Director Knight Announces Many Information Requests; 36 Visiting Professors

Indications are that the enrollment in the University's sessions for 1937 will greatly exceed that of last year, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director of summer sessions.

Requests for information and catalogues concerning the summer sessions are considerably larger than last year, and provision has been made for more than 300 courses to be taught by 130 regular members of the faculty and 36 visiting professors.

Visiting Faculty

Among the visiting professors will be Professor August Cook of Converse college in the department of art; Professor C. K. Brown of Davidson and Professor J. J. Spengler of Duke in the department of economics; Dr. L. R. Johnston of Hawthorne, N. J., public schools, Miss Catherine McAndrews, Professor S. G. Noble of Tulane university, Professor Arthur Clevenger of the University of Illinois, and Dr. Willis Sutton of the Atlanta, Ga., public schools in the department of education.

Circulation Manager Prefers To Hold Present Post

By BOB PERKINS

Jesse Lewis, circulation manager for the three campus periodicals, announced yesterday that he would not run for membership on the Publications Union board as it would conflict with his present duties.

Under North Carolina law an individual is not allowed to make a contract with himself. The circulation manager is contracted by the U. U. board, and therefore Lewis would be in the position of contracting himself if he kept the job of circulation manager and won the election.

States Appreciation

Lewis stated that he fully appreciated the honor in connection with the P. U. board membership, but could not afford to allow an honorary position to interfere with his job.

"I believe that the University party's choice of a candidate for the position will be very capable of filling the job, and whomever they choose will receive my support," said Lewis.

Council Approves New Dance Plan

"Quadrangle Frolics" Instituted By Dormitory Men

The Interdormitory council met Wednesday night in Graham Memorial with President "Boo" Campbell and Supervisor Albert Ellis and unanimously voted for a plan providing quadrangle dances.

President Campbell appointed a dance committee consisting of Billy Robinson, chairman, Beaty Bass, and Fred Tetor which will select the dates for the dances and make plans for them.

Two Divisions

"These 'Quadrangle Frolics,'" Ellis said, "will make two divisions of the dormitories on the campus. The upper and lower quadrangles will have their dance together and the other division will consist of Old East, Old West, Steele, and Battle-Vance-Pettigrew."

Other business discussed during the meeting consisted of the council banquet and the question of a bell to be placed in the lower quadrangle. At the last meeting the bell question was debated and carried to the advisory committee, which voted it down.

Leaders Voice Approval For New Proposal

First Plans Called For Bi-Cameral Campus Legislature

By ALLEN MERRILL

Campus leaders in interviews yesterday were generally in favor of the recent proposal for the introduction of a campus legislature into student government, branding it as a democratic medium for voicing student opinion and opening channels for more efficient student government.

Plan Being Formed

The plan, which is being formulated by committees appointed by president of the student body, John Parker, will be submitted soon to the student body for a vote, if it bears the approval of the Student council.

The tentative proposal is a bi-cameral campus congress, one chamber of which would draw geographically on fraternities and dormitories for representatives and the other, headed by the student body president, on campus organizations for its constituency.

Question Hasty Action

In questioning the wisdom of too hasty action, Fred Weaver, student body vice-president and student assistant to the assistant controller, suggested that the main problem for successful operation of the campus legislature might be awakening

'Need Money Immediately' Is Typical Carolina Wire

Local Western Union Office Reveals "Side-Splitting" Collection Of Telegrams

By RAY LOWERY

"Need money immediately." That is the content of the typical telegram that friends of Carolina students receive, according to Manager George Tannery of the local Western Union office who makes a collection of the various types.

"But that is only the most common type," he said. "Some of them are so comical we should make additional charges for side-splitting injuries. However, the plea for finances is most frequently used."

Another type is the genial love note. "I love you, babe, so there!" was a recent example.
