Raper Will Speak At Banquet Here

Alumnus Is Author of "The Tragedy of Lynching"

Arthur F. Raper, University alumnus known for his work on southern social problems, will speak at the annual banquet of Alpha Kappa Delta, honorary sociological fraternity, Monday night at the Carolina inn.

Raper is the author of The Tragedy of Lynching and A Preface to Peasantry. Much of the material for the book on lynching was gathered from participants and eye-witnesses at the scenes of crimes.

Biography

The speaker, born in Welcome, in 1889, graduated from the University in 1924. He acquired his M.A. at Vanderbilt, and then served for two years as a research assistant in the Institute for Research in social science. Since 1927 he has been with the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, in Atlanta, Ga.

Skits burlesquing members of the department of sociology will offer additional entertainment for fraternity members and their guests, said Harold D. Meyers who is in charge of the entertainment.

Portrait Display Is Now In Library

Collection Covers Governors from 1780 to Present

The late Colonel Fred Old's collection of portraits of North Carolina governors has recently been put on display in the North Carolina room at the library.

The collection pictures all the governors of this state from 1780, when Abner Nash held the office, to 1929, when Angus W. McLean's term expired.

In addition to presenting a picture of North Carolina leadership from the early days until recent years, the display is an excellent portrayal of what the well dressed man has worn during the whole of our nation's history.

Playmaker Star

Mary Haynsworth, who will play the part of Lavinia in the Playmakers Forest theater production of "Androcles and the Lion." Miss Haynsworth has played leads in such shows as "Three Corners Moon," "Lysistrata," "The Pirates of Penzance," and has appeared on the Playmakers annual tour.

Faculty Men Play In Show

Holmes, Selden, Davis Will Appear In
"Androcles"

Members of the faculty of the University will appear in the varied roles of a lion, a captain of a company of Roman soldiers, and inn-keeper, and the leader of a band of captive Christians in The Carolina Playmakers' production of Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

Lion Holmes

"There is only one person who could play the role of the lion," says Professor F. H. Koch, director "and that is Dr. Urban T. Holmes. As the fierce beast who dances a waltz in the arena with Androcles, I am sure that Dr. Holmes will give a memorable performance. I am afraid, however, that his roar will frighten the little children in the audience."

Mid-Campus Dormitories To Have Ball

Old West Residents Will Evacuate for Dates

Greensboro girls will occupy Old West dormitory Friday and Saturday nights when the upper campus dormitories, Battle-Vance-Pettigrew, Old West, Old East and Steele stage their Quadrangle frolics.

"The Old West boys will move out for the weekend," said Hugh Davis, president of the dormitory.

Blind Dates

Davis also stated that plans had been made to charter one or two busses to bring the "blind" dates, and others, to Chapel Hill. Residents of the upper campus dorms who want to make arrangements for a date should get in touch with the president of their dormitory at once. There will no charge for the use of rooms in Old West. There will, however, be a small charge for transportation to and from Chapel Hill.

This will be Carolina's first attempt to bring girls here in such quantity. Davis, after talking to a number of girls in Greensboro, reports that they endorse the idea.

Nominal Fee

Dormitory residents may get their bids from representatives in their building. There will be a charge of 50 cents. A few extra bids will be sold at $1.

The dance will be the second of a set of Quadrangle frolics, an idea of Albert Ellis to bring the dorm residents into closer contact with each other. The two lower quadrangles held their dance two weeks ago.

Alumni Magazine Puts Stress On Chemists Meeting

Madry Does Article on Science Achievements

Published by J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary, the April issue of "The Alumni Review", released yesterday contains photographs and detailed accounts of all the many University events during the month of April with special emphasis on the recent chemistry convention.

R. W. Madry, of the University press bureau, has done an article on the notable achievements in science that have been made by faculty members at the University since 1832. Their work is described and commented upon by the author.

Two pages of the new issue have been devoted to an article on campus elections. Ten pictures of the more prominent class officers for next year are reproduced and a picture of the Graham Memorial on election day.

An account of Person hall, second oldest building on the campus and now a modern art gallery, is briefly sketched beside two photographs of the gallery and studio.

The remainder of the copy is devoted to recent University news and accomplishments of the alumni and associations. A post-graduate intelligence test containing 25 questions that graduate students should be able to answer, is also included.

"Courtship Among College Students" Is Topic of Talk to Council

Dr. Ernest R. Groves, sociology professor in the University, will speak to the Freshman Friendship council tomorrow night at 7 o'clock on the topic "Courtship Among College Students."

This will be the second in a series of lectures being given to the councilmen by Dr. Groves. Last week's lecture was postponed because of the conflicting wiener roast.

This week's topic will be a continuation of the discussion begun by Dr. Groves two weeks ago. The floor will be open for discussion by the members after the lecture.

Di Meets Tuesday To Discuss Issues

Opinions on Phi Beta Kappa Standing to Be Aired

Tuesday night in New West at 7:15 o'clock, the Di senate members will debate on three bills, one of local and two of national importance.

The campus bill will be, Resolved, That the Phi Beta Kappa standing should be raised to 95 per cent.

National bills as read by the clerk, will be Resolved, That the British Coronation ceremony is an unjustified waste of money, in view of England's domestic conditions, and Resolved, That the Roosevelt program of increased naval armament should be abandoned.

Maverick Vs Brewster To Be Held Here

Supreme Court Issue
Will Be Subject
Of Debate

Celebrating its first anniversary, the Carolina Political Union, will bring its year's existence to a close Tuesday evening, May 11, when it will sponsor a debate here between Congressman Maverick of Texas and Ralph O. Brewster of Maine on the Supreme Court issue.

Anniversary

Tuesday evening the first anniversary celebration, in addition to the debate between the two Congressmen, will include a banquet at the Carolina inn at 6 o'clock.
