Actors To Do French Play

Hugh Davis, Old West resi- Moliere Farce To Have American Premiere

France and the 17th century will be evoked tomorrow evening on the Playmaker stage when the French department presents for the first time in America Moliere's hilarious farce." Monsieur de Pourceaugnac," and on the same program the French club perpetrates a horror play in the manner of the Grand Guignol of Paris.

"Monsieur de Pourceaugnac" was written for the court of Louis XIV and was first played in 1669. It was popular during the eighteenth century but, condemned by mid-Victorian prudery as being immoral, coarse and vulgar, fell into neglect. Recently, in the light of modern broadmindedness, it has been revived in France with great success, having been made into a Sunday afternoon the local film which was barred from the U. S. by the Legion of Decency. Initial Performance

The play was translated into English by Wycherley and was the spot, the officers found a played in England under the Res-(Continued on page two)

Three Dormitories Choose Executives

Bill Pierson and Frank Neely were chosen presidents of Everett and Manly dormitories respectively in the last quadrangle elections, yesterday.

The two quadrangle units, along with Graham, were the only ones that failed to elect officers on Tuesday.

Kilpatrick, who had tied with C. J. Stoopack for the vice-presidency of Graham, was elected to that position in a run-off vote.

Everett chose Pierson for its president although it has yet to select its vicepresident.

Gordon Stevens was chosen by Manly as assistant to Neely.
