Brickleyer Is Chosen Leader Of Frosh Week

Y. M. C. A. Retreat To Be Held For Three Days

Students To Speak

Eugene Brickleyer, vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year, has been appointed chairman of next year's freshman retreat according to Harry F. Comer, "Y" secretary.

Registration for the retreat will begin Friday, September 11, at the Y. M. C. A. The program will open with a banquet Friday evening at 7:30 and will close Sunday night, September 13. Meetings will be held in the Graham Memorial and the banquet in Swain hall.

Purpose

The retreat is an effort to point out to its members the more important values that await them in their University life; to discuss these values and how they may be found in the work and organized life of the campus; and to prepare them for membership in the Freshman Friendship council.

Prominent among the speakers and leaders of the retreat will be President Frank P. Graham, Coach "Bob" Fetzer, Harry F. Comer, Dean R. B. House, Dean Francis F. Bradshaw, J. M. Saunders, Roy Armstrong, Bob Magill, Scott Hunter, Mac Smith, Joe Patterson, and Glen Davis. Other leaders to assist in the program include various members of the "Y" cabinet and pastors of the Chapel Hill churches.

Bids For Finals Being Sold Now; Crowds Expected

Morgan, Kyser Melodies Will Be Here Thursday Friday, Saturday

Bids to the German Club finals set of dances may be purchased from any member of the dance organization during the next week, it was announced last night.

The selling price of a complete dance set bid is seven dollars. If the purchaser is not a member of the German Club, however, a five dollar initiation fee is charged above the sale price.

Crowds

One of the largest crowds of dancing couples is expected to hear Russ Morgan and his orchestra and Kay Kyser with his swingmen.

Morgan and his "slide music" will furnish the tempo for the Thursday night dance beginning at 10 o'clock next Thursday night.

For Friday and Saturday afternoon tea dances, Kay Kyser, University alumnus, will lead his orchestra in a return engagement to the campus of his alma mater.

Kyser

The Kyser troupe will play also for the Friday and Saturday night formal dances.

During his stay in Chapel Hill, Kyser and his orchestra will make their headquarters at the Sigma Nu fraternity house. The popular dance leader is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Since being graduated from the New Dean?

Dr. William deBernier MacNider, for 30 years a pharmacy professor, may be the new dean of the medical school when students return next fall. The University executive committee has recommended that at its meeting next week the board of trustees appoint him as successor to Dr. Charles Mangum, retiring.

Alumni Guests To Be Feted

Saunders Plans Parties For Graduation

J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary, yesterday announced that eight University dormitories would be at the disposal of visiting alumni classes during commencement exercises June 7-8. He also announced the location of the various class reunion banquets.

Former graduates will room in Steele, Graham, Aycock, and in the first section of Old East during their stay here. Members with wives or children will occupy portions of Grimes and Manly. Sections of Old East and Old West have been reserved for visiting alumni.

De-Occupation

According to T. E. Hinson, supervisor of dormitories, University students will be required to move out of the above dormitories by June 7.

The "Old Students club" will hold its banquets in the private dining room at the Carolina inn Monday, June 7, and the classes of '88 and '89 will meet in the main dining room there. At the banquet hall in the inn there will be a joint banquet for the classes of '24, '25 and '27. The classes of '05 and '06 will have a dinner in the inn cafeteria.

The classes of '07, '08, and '12 will have a separate meal in the banquet hall of the Graham Memorial. The '02 class will have its meal at Mrs. Basin's house, opposite the Episcopal church. The class of '36 will dine at Swain hall. All of the banquets will be on Monday.

Swain Hall Sets Record

Manager Reviews Tastes Of 2900 Student Eaters

By RAY LOWERY
"What did the average Carolina student eat the past year?" Chief Steward E. F. Cooley, of Swain hall, the University cafeteria, gazed reflectively over the two long lines of hungry students eagerly forking chops and steaks into their plates and smiled.

"Well, I'll tell you—most of them like plenty of good meat—beef, lamb, and pork, with a good supply of green vegetables on the side," he answered. "We serve about 600 pounds of fresh meat every day."

Drinkers
"They like green beans, peas, potatoes, greens—most any kind of vegetable—and lots of milk and tea. We serve on the average of 750 bottles of milk each meal."

Chief Cooley was asked about the dominant desserts and replied: Well, we have 32 different kinds of vegetable salads, fruit deserts, and pastries, and change them frequently. Best of all, though, they like ice cream and eat about 25 gallons a day."

Just Plain

When asked whether the students liked plain or fancy food, he answered: "They don't particularly care for

Hudson Tells Of Curiosity

English Professor Challenges Story Of Freak In Wilmington

The cat-dog-rabbit freak, the offspring of a cat, recently reported at Wilmington, N. C., is a biological norm in comparison with a freak of nature with three heads, one resembling the head of a child and the other the head of a dog, which startled citizens of Raleigh, N. C., years ago, according to Dr. A. P. Hudson of the University English department, who yesterday cited a letter from a Raleigh citizen.

The story of the Raleigh freak, which made its appearance during the last year of the 18th century, is told in one of Dr. Hudson's recent volumes, "Humor in the Old Deep South," published last year by the Macmillan company.

Freak

"The following is an extract from a letter received by a gentleman of this town, from a correspondent in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina.—

'A most curious spectacle was exhibited in this city a few days ago. A female of the canine species was delivered of the most perfect lusus naturae that has ever been beheld in this part of the world, or, I believe, in any other. I will give you as accurate a description as I can.

Childlike

"Its shape more resembled that of a child, than anything else I can compare it to; indeed it appears to be a composition of the human and brute parts of creation. It has three heads, viz., one on each shoulder, and another between them. The one in the middle is the exact representation of the human face; those on the shoulders no way differing from those of a dog. It has six legs, two of which stand upright on its back, and four tails. I forgot to mention that the middle-head instead of being covered with hair similar to that of the body, is furnished with black curly hair, similar to that on the head of a negro; and hands instead of paws, are placed on the ends of those legs or arms, (whichever they may be called) which stand upright on the back.

"The owner of this curious animal expects to make a fortune by it. He sets out in a few days on his travels, and will, no doubt, pass through Petersburg, when you will see with your own eyes; and I dare say, you will be as little able to account for such a strange appearance as I can."

N. C. Bankers To Hold Conference Here June 12-16

About 175 Bankers Expected To Attend Meeting; Impressive Speaker List

The first of its sort in this country, a conference of North Carolina Bankers will be held here during the week of June 12-16, under the sponsorship of the North Carolina Bankers Association, the University, and the State Banking Department.

Dr. John E. Woosley of the economics department, who has been interested in the formation of plans for the conference, said yesterday that an impressive list of speakers had been lined up for the week of intensive study. Approximately 175 bankers are expected to attend the meeting, he declared.

The conference developed from a research program of the association and the state department of banking. The objective of the research was to determine the changing character of bank assets and earning for the last ten. It was directed by Banking Commissioner Gurney P. Hood.

Diploma Fees

Diploma fees must be paid at the business office in South building at once, according to Niles Bond, president of the senior class.

Bond stated yesterday that only a small per cent of those expecting to graduate next week had paid their fees and if this were not done they would be unable to graduate at the regular exercises.

Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday Morning First Event 500 To Graduate

The 142nd commencement program of the University will get underway Sunday, June 6, when approximately 500 graduating students in caps and gowns gather at the Old Well preparatory to attending the baccalaureate sermon in Memorial hall at 11 o'clock that morning.

Dr. Paul Dwight Moody, president of Middlebury college, will deliver the sermon. Earl A. Slocum, of the University music department, will conduct a band concert under Davie popular that afternoon at 4:30 and that night at 8:30 in Hill Music hall, Joseph Hadyn will present "The Seasons", an oratorio, under the direction of John E. Toms.

Monday

Monday, June 7, is class and parent's day and will open with senior prayers in the Playmaker theater. The president's and deans' reception will be the principal event that morning. Seniors and their parents will lunch at Swain hall at 1 p. m. where Dean R. B. House will speak.

The Carolina Playmakers will present a program of folk plays at 4 p. m. with a repeat performance at 8 p. m. An alumni reception and ball in the Tin Can will close the day's program.

Tuesday

Concluding the commencement program on Tuesday, June 8, the graduation exercises will be held together with various alumni day programs. Informal class get-togethers, and an alumni parade will precede the exercises.

At the alumni luncheon in the Carolina inn, George Stephens of the class of '96 will act as toastmaster and induct the class of 1937 into the alumni association. President Graham will present the "Golden Anniversary" diplomas to the alumni attending their 50th (or more) commencement.

Diplomas

After a band program in Kenan stadium at 6:30 p. m., the academic processions will form and at 7 p. m. Governor Clyde R. Hoey will conclude the commencement when he presents the diplomas to the class of 1937.

Various other events will be added to the above program shortly before commencement.

Smith, Bragdon Are Winners In Student Contest

Director Smith Terms Art Popularity Test A Success

J. L. Smith's watercolor sketch entitled "Landscape," and Ralph M. Bragdon, Jr.'s photograph, "Against the Sea, Cape Breton" were first choice winners in the Person hall student art popularity contest that closed Friday night.

Student preferences for student drawings, painting, and photographs have been recorded for several weeks and last night Russell T. Smith, art director, expressed gratification over the interest manifested.

Others

Two drawings by Annie Tucker tied for second choice in the drawing contest, while third place was split by Wautel Selden's "Portrait Sketch" in watercolor, Isabel Hodges oil portrait, "Pat," and Irma McCurdy's drawing, "My Grandmother."

Second choice in the photography contest went to H. Bartlett's "Crucifix," and third to his "Smile."

Other artists whose works were mentioned as first choices are:

T. Duncan Eaves, "Dutch Lunch," "Indian Boy," and "Oklahoma Pioneer Cabin"; Tom H. Humphries, "Helen"; Annie Tucker "Negro Portrait No. V"; Madeline B. Haynsworth, "Portrait No. 1"; W. C. Fields, "Old Man Reading," "Still Life"; Ja

Goodbye

Today's Daily Tar Heel will be the last issue of this quarter. Publication will be resumed at the opening of the fall quarter.

He Says When

Henry Lewis, editor of the so-far very scarce 1937 Yackety-Yacks, yesterday joined Ned McAllister, the annual's business manager, in urging students to be calm until distribution is resumed Tuesday. Yesterday the first 350 copies were given out in record time. At 3 p. m. Tuesday 700 more will be available on the second floor of Graham Memorial, and an equal number on both Wednesday and Thursday. McAllister said yesterday that students who have not been enrolled all year will be required to pay $1.35 for each quarter they have missed.

More Betting! Now It's $15 Over A Race

Baxter Taylor, Lawson Turner Trot To Durham; Mathes Tosses Ball

Queer bets are filling the exam-laden Carolina air.

As a fit sequence to Thursday's hike to Raleigh by three Chi Psi, Baxter Taylor and Lawson Turner, two Deke freshmen, yesterday afternoon raced from Chapel Hill to Durham on a $15 bet.

After setting a hard pace for an hour and 20 minutes, Taylor, president of his class, sprinted into the Bull city 400 yards ahead of his rival, who is a track man and was a 4-1 favorite. Taylor averaged a seven-minute mile.

Because of their apparent good condition, the duo's entire fraternity has decided to stage a Deke Medley race from their house to Kenan stadium some time next week. Betting is unlimited.

More betting on skill took place in the lower quadrangle the other night when Ken Fishback bet Al Mathes, a freshman baseball player, he couldn't throw a baseball from the varsity tennis courts over Graham and Everett dormitories.

With odds at 5-to-1, Mathes wound up and proceeded to do the job. But he only won a few dollars.

Janie Britt Wins Cup For Drama Script

Playmaker-Authoress Receives Roland Holt Cup

Given At Revels

The Roland Holt Cup, awarded annually for the most outstanding work in playwriting at the University, was presented to Janie Britt last night at the annual Playmaker Capers, a fun fest which each year brings the group's activities to a close. Playmaker masks were also awarded to students whose work had merited them the award.

Miss Britt's plays on which the award was based were "Leavin's" and "Long-Sweetnin' ". Both were given by the Playmakers during the past season. The Cup was presented to Miss Britt by Dr. F. H. Koch, head of the dramatic arts department.

Program

Before the presentation of the awards there was a special program consisting of improvised comedy, original sketches, take-offs on faculty members and other novelties. One of the outstanding skits was a playlet on the Duke and Mrs. Simpson, entitled, "My Kingdom for a Clothes-Horse" written by Josephine Niggli, graduate student, who won the Roland Holt Cup last year.

Thirty-nine received the mask award.

Four holders of the award were elected as first members of the newly inaugurated advisory council. This committee will work in conjunction with the Playmaker staff in the section of plays for public production. The editors of the DAILY TAR HEEL and the Carolina magazine will serve as ex-officio members.

Henderson Will Give Supper For 60th Birthday

Mathematics Department Head, Shaw Biographer, To Have Barbecue

Dr. Archibald Henderson, mathematics department head and official biographer of George Bernard Shaw, will be 60 years old on June 17 and to celebrate the event he is giving a birthday party in the form of a barbecue supper at the Chapel Hill Country club next Thursday, June 3, from 5 until 7 p. m.

Dr. Henderson emphasized last week that he was attempting to return the hospitality shown him by Chapel Hillians. No invitations will be sent out through the mail, but in addition to the faculty and townspeople, around 30 members of the student body have been invited to be present at the occasion.

Honored

These men were chosen by Dr. Henderson and A. Guy Ivey of Graham Memorial as "representative" of the campus, since it would be impossible to entertain the entire student body.

Dr. Henderson will not be in the receiving line but will "mingle" among the guests to make their acquaintance.

Dr. Henderson was recently, honored by Professor Frederick H. Koch and his Carolina Playmakers when the George Bernard Shaw comedy, "Androcles and the Lion" was dedicated to him.

Durham Alcohol Board Releases Plans For Shop

Store Will Open For Business June 15; Porto Rican Rum Featured

The Durham county Alcoholic Beverage Control board yesterday announced that it would open a legal liquor store on the corner of Chapel Hill and Foster streets.

The store is expected to open for business by June 15.

Placing its first order for stock, the board bought 25 cases of Porto Rican rum. Following this order were several more for various whiskies and wines.
