

Freshman Practice Today At 4

Daily Tar Heel Sports

Freshman Practice Today At 4

'Calling All Freshmen' -- Coach Skidmore

WITH LEAVE TO PRINT...

By RAY HOWE

Football experts would like to go down to Kenan field house and tack up a little brass plaque reading:

THIS IS THE HOME OF THE SECOND BEST TEAM IN THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE.

The Tar Heels have already received that appellation in the columns and the summaries and the news stories. But don't you believe the columns and the summaries and the news stories. It is not quite as cut and dried as all that.

Instead go down and watch the lads work out and then ask Line Coach Johnny Vaught about the wall prospects. There, they tell us, is the weakness. But Johnny Vaught will rattle off names, three and four for each position, and you will get the general idea that the first string line will be good, the second string line will be good, and the third string line will be not too bad.

True, "Touchdown" Trimpey will be missing, and Dick Buck will not be at end BUT Bershak will be at the other end, Pete Avery and Bob Adams are experienced centers, Hank Bartos and Steve Maronic are still in that line and Elmer Wrenn, Ed Palmer, Jim Woodson, Chuck Slagle, Danny Desich, Ed Hubbard and Ed Megson are all trying for those guard and tackle positions.

Bartos and Maronic are rather certain to fill the tackle posts. Gene Bricklemeyer and Horace Palmer are the standouts for the coveted end job with Jack Kraynick alternating between the end and the backfield. Bricklemeyer is faster and a better pass receiver but the other two men have a considerable weight advantage.

For the so-called "second best" team, it's not so bad. Grab a gander at the "best" team—Duke. In a practice game with the Elon Christians last Saturday, the second team failed to score against the Elon first team and the latter outfit shot two touchdowns through the Duke reserves.

Duke has a team, but the accent seems to be on the "a."

Those same experts have been quite brash and put the Tar Heel backfield at the top of the list of Southern backfields. That's including the Harp and (Continued on page four)

Tar Heels On Hand

NORTH CAROLINA'S SCHEDULE

Sept. 25	..... South Carolina at Chapel Hill
Oct. 2	..... N. C. State at Raleigh
Oct. 9	..... New York University at New York
Oct. 16	..... Wake Forest at Wake Forest
Oct. 23	..... Tulane at Chapel Hill
Oct. 30	..... Fordham at Chapel Hill
Nov. 6	..... Davidson at Davidson
Nov. 13	..... Duke at Durham
Nov. 25	..... Virginia at Chapel Hill

Tar Baby Gridders Start Work Today

State Eleven Prepare For Initial Tilt

Wolfpack Will Meet Ready But Injured Davidson Team

With many players in bad shape and two first string men unable to play due to injuries, the Davidson Wildcats ran through their final scrimmages yesterday in preparation for the opening game tomorrow night at Greensboro against N. C. State.

Ready for action and pointing for the game, the State team is reported to be in first-class shape. Doc Newton drilled the squad thoroughly stressing signal drills and pass defense and offense.

The loss of Dave Warden, leading tackler, early this week when the doctor would not allow him to get into a uniform (Continued on page five)

1937 Outfit Will Engage Same Schedule As Last Season Opener October 8

Slated to get underway early next month and with the same schedule as last year, the Tar Baby gridders will start training this afternoon on Emerson field at 4 o'clock.

Coach Walter Skidmore will start sending his material through their paces with only three weeks remaining between now and the first tilt with Wake Forest at Chapel Hill.

Mediocre Last Year

Last year's record of two wins and three losses will be the background for the Baby eleven. There will be considerably more and better material this year with which Skidmore can work to shape out a winning squad.

Opener

Opening against the Wake Forest Deaclets, Carolina will attempt to repeat the 33-0 win garnered last fall. Following this contest a week later, the Blue and White frosh will encounter William and Mary away. Last year's close 6-0 decision for the Indians should be easy to turn homeward.

N. C. State may prove to be the toughest of all when the Tar Babies travel to Raleigh to face the State freshmen. A last quarter touchdown gave the Tar Babies a 13-12 win over Virginia. The Cavalier first year men will fight hard at Charlottesville November 12 trying to take that game. As usual, the (Continued on page five)

Barrier To Issue Booklet

Carolina's Football History Soon To Be Out

Smith Barrier, '37, former sports editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL and closely connected with athletics at the University for several years as a sports writer for the news bureau and sports editor of The Alumni Review, has prepared a booklet picturing the colorful history of Carolina football which is due to appear next week.

The book tells the history of Tar Heel gridiron battles from the days of Captain Steve Bragaw of 1888 to Captain Dick Buck of 1936.

Detailed and Illustrated

Among its features are an all-time Carolina eleven; the five greatest Tar Heel teams; a short summary of every game played by Carolina elevens, complete records of the longest runs, passes, and field goals; action pictures of important events in Carolina football history, and records of accomplishments of the freshman team.

The book is entitled "On Carolina's Gridiron," and may be obtained at the athletic office.

Wasps Oppose South Carolina

Emory and Henry to Face Gamecock Squad Tomorrow

Opening their current season tomorrow afternoon at Columbia, the South Carolina Gamecocks will oppose Emory and Henry on their home field.

The Gamecocks have been working out continuously in preparation for tomorrow's tilt topped off by last Monday's three hour practice of new plays and pass work.

News that Captain Jack Lyon, leading halfback, will be available in the opening contests has strengthened the South Carolina squad considerably.

Tar Heels Ease Training Preparing For First Game

Squad Begins Shorter Practices After Hard Month

With classes staring them in the face, the 1937 North Carolina gridders went on a one-practice-a-day diet yesterday in preparation for the opener against South Carolina in Kenan stadium a week from tomorrow.

Getting both training drills and scrimmage work in its two sessions every day since the first of the month, the squad has worked continually under the combined tutelage of both the varsity and freshman coaches.

The Gamecocks will open tomorrow against Emory and (Continued on page five)

To Coach Frosh

BARCLAY Q. GUARD

Carolina Squad Dons New Silver-Blue Uniforms

Carolina spectators will be dazzled this year when the Tar Heel gridders take the field in their new uniforms.

The brown and dark blue of 1936 will be cast aside for a brilliant silver and light blue in which the team is scheduled to appear here September 25 against the South Carolina "Gamecocks."

Smoothy Pants

Silver pants, light blue sweat shirts with silver lettering, silver helmets, and black shoes will make up the outfit for 1937 for the Carolina squad.

As an alternate, white jerseys (Continued on page five)

Barclay Back On Gridiron

Former Tar Heel Player To Assist Skidmore

The University of North Carolina's only All-American football player, George Barclay, will return to the Chapel Hill fold this fall to get a degree in physical education and to assist Coach Walter Skidmore in coaching the freshman football candidates.

Selected by the All-American Board in 1934 for one of the two guard posts on the mythical team, Barclay accepted Andy (Continued on page five)

THE CAROLINA INN

—offers you—

AN EXCELLENT PLACE TO EAT

—in the—

CAROLINA INN CAFETERIA

WELCOME STUDENTS Berman's Dept. Store

Established Since 1914

FOR ALL YOUR NEEDS

Men's Clothing, Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear, Curtains, Rugs, Student Lamps, School Supplies, Clocks, Dresser Scarfs, Laundry Bags, Bed Linen, Pillows, and Blankets.

BERMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORE