BRITISH EMBASSY CARS TARGET OF JAP PLANES

Shanghai, Oct. 12.—Three cars of the British embassy, bearing the English flag, were attacked today by two squadrons of Japanese warplanes as the embassy and other Englishmen rode along near Minhong, 14 miles south of Shanghai.

The machine gun raid did not result in the death of anyone because the occupants immediately left the cars and sought shelter from the rain of bullets.

The staff cars were returning from Nanking on the same highway on which the British ambassador to China was riding when he was seriously injured by Japanese bombs and machine gun fire. Because of this, the British government has planned to look into the matter with gravest concern.

Japanese authorities investigating the attack reported that no details had been received as yet, but they did state that the British embassy had failed to notify either the army or the navy that it was making the trip.

The British expressed the belief that the cars could have easily been identified by the Union Jack, and stated definitely that the planes were Japanese warplanes.

Other Japanese air attacks were centered around Chapei, Nanking, and other places of less importance. However, the battle over Nanking was most spectacular and resulted in the loss of 24 Japanese planes.

A. F. OF L. MAKES C. I. O. OFFERS

Denver, Oct. 12.—The American Federation of Labor today extended the privilege of rejoining to its unions which have gone to John L. Lewis' C. I. O., or expulsion from the club.

William Green, federation president, stated:

"The door is open. The hand of the A. F. of L. is extended. The voice of the A. F. of L. says 'Please come back home.' If any one of these (C. I. O.) organizations comes to the door x x x we'll be there to welcome them and embrace them."

Following this statement Green warned the convention that the council will resort to its powers of expulsion against "obstinate unions."

"I say to those who want to go (to the C. I. O.), get out and leave us alone." This last statement was shouted to those present.

COURT OPENS WAY FOR QUESTIONING

Washington, Oct. 12.—According to beliefs expressed today by legal experts, the supreme court has left the way open for further challenges of Justice Hugo Black's right to the bench.

The petitions of Levitt and Kelly, which were ruled out because of lack of sufficient interest in the outcome of the trial, left this opening.

Levitt had very little to say about the actions taken yesterday, but he did assert that he intends to make further challenges.

This dilemma was uncovered when Senator Cochran took the rostrum and announced that, after looking over some of the senate records, he discovered the constitution had been lost "through some mishap."

Proposal

To adjust this situation Senator Cochran proposed that the Senate constitution of 1931 be adopted with the exception of Article II, which refuses admission of coeds to the organization.

Senator Cochran's motion was supported by Senator Busby, who also expressed an opinion that the Senate had lost its standing on the campus and urged that it begin now to "clean up the waste of the past and re-
