The Fordham week-end, although now among the gone, has returned and is walking around the campus with its head under its arm.

Several stories have filtered in from various sources. Perhaps the good-natured Doug, the engaging waiter at the Coffee Shop, has the best one.

His is the one about a rotund individual of about 40 years who blew into the eating place after the game and ordered hamburger. Decidedly under the weather, he battled valiantly with a crying jag and then broke down completely and wept all over the table, all over the floor, and all over his hamburger.

Doug, a sympathetic soul, stood by to the last and listened to the drunk's touching story of how his father used to play football at Chapel Hill in the years gone by, how the father's picture was even now hanging somewhere or other on the campus and how seeing it had made him feel more at home and lonely than in his own home.

Slowly the quivering frame straightened, the sobs came less frequently, and the heavy one turned his attention towards the meal at hand.

One big bite of the hamburger went palate-wards and the drunk let out a roar, "Waiter, take this hamburger back. It's too damn salty!"

And another story comes from no less a personage than the editor of the Fordham Ram.

Having had a date in Chapel Hill Saturday evening, he wandered up to Harry's about midnight to get coffee. His Yankee accent, or perhaps it was the red feather in his hat-band, gave him away as a New Yorker and he soon struck up an acquaintance with fellow New Yorker Rood, one of the tennis-playing, double-feature Roods.

Carl was bemoaning the fact that he had wandered off to commune with nature or something in the woods around Chapel Hill Saturday morning, had fallen asleep and had wakened to hear that Carolina had lost to Fordham 14-0. The whole thing was very sad.

We were slightly mollified Sunday morning when newspaper pictures showed that Bershak and Watson were both outside of the end zone when they jumped for that pass in the first quarter and collided.

Even had they caught the pass, either collectively or individually, the play would not have been legal since both ball and player are automatically disqualified when either one leaves the field.

In which case it would have been even more heart-breaking had the play been completed and then called back.

Mural Contests May Decide
Finalists 25 Days From Now

Stiff Competition

By JERRY STOFF

The time has come when all good men must hark to the aid of their organizations for in the remaining three weeks of play, the undefeated teams and their close pursuers will clash in contests which will probably determine the finalists some 25 days from now for the Intramural Rose Bowl at Fetzer field.

A season has yet to pass when at least one intramural football team doesn't complete its eight games undefeated but, from all indications, the 1937 circuit will break this unofficial record. The next three weeks should see this ark fall.

Undefeated Stay So

Three undefeated outfits went up against strong opponents yesterday afternoon in the first day of stiff competition in the home stretch of mural football. Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Sigma played off their tie of early last week with the former remaining in the win column with a 22-0 conquest. The strong Beta Theta Pi squad turned back a fighting Zeta Psi eleven to also remain undefeated, while Ruffin trounced Old West 25-0 to complete the successful hurdling of the first obstacle in the football race by three of the no loss mural teams. T. E. P. nosed out Phi Alpha 4-2 in first downs, and Chi Phi beat Sigma Delta 7-0 in the other two contests of the afternoon.

Winner Kappa Sigma

It was the old early season power-house Kappa Sigma team that ran over Phi Kappa Sigma 22-0. The victors let loose an offensive campaign which couldn't be stopped while their defensive game was impenetrable. Jim Hambright scampered across the goal for two tallies for Kappa Sigma while Wellons hung up the other. Dunn converted twice. Marv Allen played his usual brilliant game headed by his outstanding generalship. Beta Theta Pi met its toughest foe of the year in Zeta Psi yesterday afternoon and barely won—by a lucky safety. Hall, end for Beta Theta Pi, played a spectacular game in his position in his defensive receiving and offensive breaking up of many Zeta Psi plays. A bad pass from center over the backfieldman's head was recovered by Zeta Psi but the receiver was trapped in the stripped area to give the Betas its two point margin. In first downs, Zeta Psi had almost doubled its opponents, 5-3, but that one break for Beta Theta Pi did the trick.

Ruffin Vs. Old West

Ruffin dormitory and Old West were supposed to have a tough battle—a tossup—according to the general opinion of many of the neutrals, but the result seemed to have upset the dope. A mere four touchdowns for Ruffin gave it a 25-0 decision. Following the example of Kappa Sigma just two fields down, Ruffin suddenly pulled out of a slump in which it just about topped B-V-P and played just the opposite game of last week. The line held consistently to give Passer Oglesby plenty of

When last seen the Lewis dormitory intramural football team was walking around the curve and over the hill into Carrboro to get away from the pre-game excitement in Chapel Hill.

The undefeated Lewis "Tigers" meet the Steele "Rats" tomorrow afternoon down on the mural fields. Lewis has won over some of the strongest mural teams this year and so far only twelve points have been scored on them.

Coveted Honor

Much talk has been circulated on the campus that if Lewis should go through the season undefeated that they would be issued the invitation to play in the Fetzer Bowl classic New Year's Day.

Davidson Contest

Two Groups Cover Two And One
Half Mile Course; Team To Workout Today, Tomorrow

Coach Dale Ranson put his freshman cross country men through a time trial yesterday afternoon in preparation for their first meet of the season against the Davidson yearlings Friday afternoon.

The boys went out in two groups. The first group taking the two and one-half mile course included Davis, McCarthy, Morrison, Peters, Singletary and Wagner was clocked in 14:35.

A second group went over the same course and in this bunch were Glover, Katz, Hubbard, J. Henderson, Williams, Dawson, Haigh, Rutter, Dever, Pickard, H. Henderson, and Cooper.

The freshmen will take light workouts today and tomorrow as Coach Ranson wants them to be in perfect shape for their first meet.

OLYMPIC CHAMP
VISITS CAMPUS,
SCHOOL COACHES

Harold Osborn Is Past
Performer On U. S.
Olympic Team

Unknown to the campus at large, Coach Dale Ranson has been playing host to Harold Osborn, member of two United States Olympic teams, since last Thursday. Osborn arrived here last week to visit track coaches Ranson, Fetzer and Morriss, whom he has known for a good number of years.

Yesterday, some of the accomplishments that have made Osborn's name a fixture in the minds of trackmen were brought to light. Graduating from the University of Illinois in 1922, he went to the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy where he received his doctor's degree. He showed a fine sense of humor when asked as to the meaning of Osteopathy and answered, "It took me four years to find out, and I can't tell you in two minutes."

However, talking a bit more seriously, he said that in 1924 and 1928 he had been a member of the Olympic team, and that in the 1924 Olympics in Paris he established a world's record in the high jump when he cleared the bar at 6' 8 1/4". In addition to that he captured the Olympic decathlon championship. His high jump record remained unchanged until 1933 when Walter Marty broke it.

Besides the honors gained while competing as a member of the Olympic team, Osborn holds the world's record in the standing high jump. He established the height of 5' 5 3/4" in 1925 in Cincinnati, and 11 years later he broke his own record making a new one of 5' 6" while competing in St. Louis.

Osborn is still very active in

Potential Prophets Try
Predicting Outcome
Of Grid Tilts

Renewing his efforts in quest of a true prophet among the inhabitants of Chapel Hill, your "inquiring re-sporter" again chose six outstanding gridiron battles of the oncoming week-end and inquired anew as to their outcome.

Out of the Central Records office on the second floor of South building came the first responses to this week's probing, as Miss Louise Davis and Mrs. Donavie R. Rogers predicted the following scores:

Mrs. Rogers: Carolina 21, Davidson 6; Army 13, Harvard 7; Notre Dame 7, Pittsburgh 7; Fordham 19, Purdue 7; Alabama 13, Tulane 7; University of S. California 7, Stanford 6.

Miss Davis: Carolina 19, Davidson 0; Harvard 7, Army 0; Notre Dame 7, Pittsburgh 0; Fordham 14, Purdue 0; Tulane 7, Alabama 7; and U. S. California 7, Stanford 6.

GAME YESTERDAY

All-American Player
Steals Show In Grid Tilt

George Barclay showed the freshman footballers yesterday afternoon why he was all-American guard in 1934. Barclay didn't don uniform and dash into the line, but he did everything but as he led a team of freshman in a hard scrimmage that lasted all through yearling practice.

Barclay ran his team against a club coached by Wallie Dunham. On Barclay's club were coaches Johnny Morriss and Buck McCarn. The two teams threw passes all afternoon, got off long runs, and did everything a good football team should.

Barclay was the star of the game. He knifed through the line to cut down opposing runners; he ripped through the line for five yards a shot, and he threw and caught passes in the accepted Sammy Baugh fashion.

Dunham And Sadoff

A tally wasn't kept on the game, but both sides scored freely. Wallie Dunham and Syd Sadoff scored for their side. Dunham ran up and down the field in true varsity fashion. On Barclay's club, runners beside himself were McCarn and Morriss. McCarn may have been an end in his varsity days, but yesterday he hit the line like a true fullback.

While the second and third stringers were playing a ball game, Coach Bill Lange took the first team aside yesterday and started drilling them in Duke plays. Lange had the complete first squad that started against State. Lange told the Tar Babies they were varsity hopes for next year, and he wanted them to practice together the rest of the season. The first stringers

Duke Tied With V.M.I. For
Lead Place In Conference

Though Cadets Share Lead
Place With Blue Devils, Chase
Will Be Settled In Two Weeks

By ROBERT ROLFE

By climbing all over Washington and Lee while V. M. I. was losing a game outside the conference to Army, Duke's Blue Devils advanced to a first place tie in the Southern Conference title chase. Both the Devils and Cadets have won three circuit games, while dropping none.

Behind the leaders come Carolina and Clemson, each with two conference wins. State with three triumphs and one defeat is fifth.

Even though V. M. I. shares the lead with Duke, there is no doubt that the league chase will be settled in the Carolina-Blue Devil clash, some two weeks hence. For the Cadets meet the strong Maryland team Saturday, and the Terps are favored to win. The clash will be the first conference game of the season for the Maryland club.

Shu Leads

While V. M. I. shares the conference lead with Duke, its star back, Paul Shu, has a clear lead on the conference scoring race.

Team Busy Preparing For Wildcat Tilt
Saturday

Tackle Dummies

A fully rested Carolina eleven responded to Coach Wolf's call yesterday afternoon and set about preparations for the contest with the Davidson Wildcats Saturday in the hopes of returning to the victory road once more.

The Tar Heels spent the afternoon on polishing an offense that was stilled by the Fordham Ram last Saturday. In an attempt to get the Tar Heel aerial attack in working order for the Davidson clash Coach Wolf had his charges run through a long session on passing both on the offense and defense.

The tackling, which was sloppy Saturday, received its share of attention as Coach Wolf sent the Tar Heels to tackling dummies to wind up the drill. The Tar Heels will drill for the remainder of the week on stopping the Davidson attack.

Tough Nut

Davidson has always proved to be a tough nut for the Tar Heels to crack and this year should prove no exception to the rule. In Teeny Lafferty the Wildcats have a back that will match any of Carolina's ball toters. Lafferty has been missing from the Davidson lineup for the past few weeks but indications are that he will be back in top shape for the Tar Heel eleven.

The Wildcats rebounded Saturday from a string of defeats to take a highly touted Furman eleven into camp without the services of Lafferty. In Davis, the Wildcats have found a running mate for their star.

They showed plenty of power and deception in trimming Furman and no doubt will push the Tar Heels to the limit as they attempt to upset the dope bucket Saturday when they play host to the Tar Heels on Homecoming Day at Davidson.

Shu picked up one point in the Army game by kicking an extra point. Eddie Berlinski of State and Jim Meade of Maryland are tied for second place with 36 points each. Berlinski tallied 12 and Meade seven Saturday.

Right behind Berlinski and Meade comes Crowell Little with 30 points. Other Tar Heel scorers are George Watson, 18; Tom Burnette, 17; George Stirnweiss, 7; Andy Bershak, 6; Jack Krainick, 6; Wally Winbourne, 6; and Steve Maronic, 1.
