Harriers Workout; Frosh To Virginia

Hardy Back In Line-Up
With Hendrix, Hall,
Captain Jones

Race Devils Next

Coach Dale Ranson sent his varsity harriers through a light workout on Fetzer field yesterday in preparation for their dual meet with the Duke Blue Devils which will be run here tomorrow at 3:45.

Coach Ranson feels assured of a victory over the Duksters since their team is considerably below the calibre of former Blue Devil cross country teams.

Final Workout

The Tar Heels will take their final workout this afternoon. Bill Hendrix, Captain Andy Jones and Jim Hall, the trio that has led Carolina to victory in all of its meets this year are ready for action, and Fred Hardy, another consistent point-getter who has been out the past two weeks, is expected to be back in the lineup.

Duke has had a great deal of trouble trying to find someone to replace Bill Morse, winner of the conference championship in 1935 and 1936.

Fourth Of Season

Carolina's freshman footballers leave Emerson field at 1:30 this afternoon for Charlottesville, Va., where the Tar Babies meet the Virginia yearlings tomorrow afternoon. Thirty-four men are making the trip.

The battle is the fourth of the season for the Tar Babies. They have conquered State and William and Mary, while bowing to Wake Forest. Last year the freshmen nosed out Virginia, 13-12.

Run Plays

The yearlings concluded practice for the game by running through plays on Emerson field yesterday afternoon. The squad was divided up into three teams, with the first squad still practicing against the varsity at Kenan stadium. In addition to working on plays, Coach Walter Skidmore drilled the Tar Babies in punting, with Bob Osborne and Cameron McRae doing most of the kicking.

11 O'CLOCK IS NEW DEADLINE FOR CAKE RACE

Winner Of Contest To Receive Big Cake,
Few Medals

The deadline for the Cake Race has been changed—from 10:30 to 11 o'clock Saturday morning (the day after tomorrow). Come what may, nobody or nothing can help you after the eleven gongs of the bell-tower at 11 o'clock because if your name is not down in the little file box of Sam Southerland, you just cannot enter the big Cake Race next Friday.

Southerland is down at Fetzer field every afternoon from 2 to 6 waiting for you to come down and sign up for this 14th annual intramural cross country run. It's a big event, and waiting for the winner of the 1.9 mile run around the campus, will be a nice, large cake—plus a few medals, etc.

The course, for the benefit of those who may have just come out of a hangover, starts in front of the Tin Can, goes past the Carolina Inn, down Cameron Avenue, circling back past the Intramural fields finishing back on Fetzer field.

Passbooks

Students will be admitted to the Duke-Carolina game in Durham upon presentation of their passbooks and 50 cents at the student gate on the East side of the Duke stadium. All students are urged to have fifty cents in change in order to avoid delaying the other students.

Twelve Times

When Biff Jones brings his powerful Nebraska football team across the country to play Pittsburgh at home Saturday, it will be the twelfth meeting between the two teams.

Phi Delta Theta fraternity and Lewis dormitory climaxed a colorful season of intramural football yesterday afternoon when they both turned back their foes to finish the year with no losses and eight wins.

Lewis Is Tops

Lewis played the finest game of its 1937 career yesterday afternoon, setting back Law school 21-0 in a battle of undefeated elevens. Lewis is now also assured of a playoff berth with Ruffin which will oppose Steele next week. If Ruffin loses to Steele, Lewis will automatically become the dormitory titlist, and the contender for the campus crown against Phi Delta Theta Monday, November 22.

THE INQUIRING RE-SPORTER

Cloudy was the word given your Football Weather Bureau yesterday by Jim Hutchins, former All-Southern Conference fullback for three years, and Mope Melchor, last year's Tar Heel baseball catcher, as the former predicted a Duke-Carolina 7-7 deadlock; while the latter gave victory to Carolina by 7-0.

Melchor chose V. P. I. to conquer Carolina's rival, Virginia, by 27-0; while Hutchins predicted a 21-0 V. P. I. win.

Mope's other scores were: Notre Dame 14- Army 0; Alabama 26- Georgia Tech 0; Cornell 13- Dartmouth 7; and Yale 14- Princeton 12.

Hutchins picked Notre Dame over Army 21-7; Alabama to defeat Georgia Tech 21-7; Cornell to take Dartmouth to the tune of 13-0; and Yale to trod upon Princeton 13-6.

Charley Gehringer, voted the most valuable player in the American League this year, has played for 14 years in the majors.

Wade Knows Tar Heels
Are Better Than

Fears Backfield

By E. T. BAKER III
(Duke Chronicle Sports Editor)

Durham, Nov. 19. — Last week's 67-0 slaughter of Wake Forest to the contrary, Duke football coach Wallace Wade is worried over the outcome of Saturday's clash with North Carolina's Tar Heels. The phlegmatic Duke mentor was quoted in Tuesday's issue of the Duke Chronicle as saying that if his team played as poorly Saturday as they did in Monday's practice session "Carolina will beat us by four or five touchdowns."

Nevertheless, Duke fans are confident of a Duke victory over the Tar Heels, if only after a hard fight. They realize Carolina has a much stronger team than its opening 13-13 deadlock with South Carolina would indicate, but the Wake Forest romp topped off a long line of impressive Blue Devil victories, and partisans of the Wademen are looking ahead to the Pittsburgh encounter.

Hudgins Vs. Bershak

The battle between Hudgins and Carolina's great Andy Bershak for end honors is eagerly anticipated by Duke fans. It is generally supposed that these two men are the best at their position in the Southern conference, and Hudgins' many supporters are anxious to see how this converted halfback in his first season at the flank post stacks up against Bershak, a veteran of three years at the position.

Most of all, Duke fears the

Ex-captain Montgomery
Sends Encouraging
Poem To Team

Remembering '35

By FLETCHER W. FERGUSON

At a moment when we are hoping for a sportsmanlike revenge for 1935, a poem comes to us—a poem that should give inspiration not only to our football team, but to our student body and friends. It was written by Harry Montgomery, Co-captain with "Hump" Snyder of the great 1935 club. Although we will be at a high pitch of enthusiasm for this game, Harry's philosophy should be remembered by all of us—win, lose or draw. We give you Harry's poem:

If the score looks kinda gloomy
And your chances kindatough
If the situation's puzzlin'
And the opponents awful rough;
If the other team keeps pressing
'Till hope is nearly gone
Just bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on comin' on.

Loafin' never wins a game
And quittin' never pays
'There ain't no use in foolin'
In these very selfish ways.
Charge just kinda harder
Tho hope is nearly gone
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on comin' on.

There ain't no use in growlin'
And grumblin' all the time
When the line begins to weaken, the backs
Fail to gain—Yes, everything's all wrong;

Just keep pluggin' doggedly
If hope is nearly gone
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on comin' on.
