WAGE-HOUR SUPPORTERS FIGHT REVISION PLANS

Washington, Dec. 3—A new fight began today as supporters of the Wage-Hour bill, who were successful in forcing a house vote this month, attempted to save the measure from a general revision.

Critics discussed proposals to modify or defeat the bill just as soon as the final signature was written on a petition freeing it from the rules committee.

Some critics were in favor of striking all geographical differentials from the measure, a goal which would intensify the already heated north-south conflict over the legislation.

The American Federation of Labor's executive met to draw a set of new recommendations concerning labor standards discussion.

The federation recently opposed administration of the program by a proposed five member board. The house labor committee agreed to substitute a single administrator under the jurisdiction of the labor department.

It is probable that the bill will come before the house on December 13. Speaker Bankhead and other leaders did not wish to estimate the bill's chances of getting to President Roosevelt before the session begins during Christmas week, however, because the senate will have to vote on all of the alterations made by the house.

DISABLED VESSEL SEEN IN HEAVY HATTERAS SEA

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 3—(The tanker "Gulf Prince" informed the coast guard here today an unidentified steamer was drifting in a heavy sea off Hatteras. The message said:

"Steamer apparently in no danger. Probably disabled steering gear. Cannot communicate with him. He does not answer our signal. We are not able to assist. Strong north wind and heavy sea."

The message was relayed by the coast guard cutter "Sebago," patrolling the area.)

THREE NATIONS ACCUSED IN ATTACK BY DUCE

Milan, Dec. 3—The United States, Britain, and France were accused by Premier Mussolini's newspaper "Popolo D'Italia" today of planning an "economic strangulation" of the "have not nations."

The publication, which is frequently used by Il Duce, stated in one of the bitterest editorials it has carried in recent months that:

"To believe the history of the world can be crystallized by diffusing as active or potential aggressors the poor peoples who have the sacred right to resign themselves perpetually to the too sharp inequality in the distribution of the earth's goods is an effrontery in veritably ultra-democratic style."

The editorial was probably referring to the "poor peoples" of Fascist Italy, Nazi Germany, and Japan.

According to the article, which generally caters to the opinions of Mussolini, the only answer to what it called "economic strangulation" was a "timely and whole-hearted preparation of spirit and arms."

The editorial indicated Musso-

Construction Of Infirmary Annex Will Begin Jan. 5; W. L. Jewell Gets Contract

Bids Opened Yesterday; 118 Days Needed For Completion

Two-Story Wing

Construction is scheduled to begin on the new two-story clinical annex to the University infirmary on January 5, it was revealed yesterday when bids were opened to contractors for the project.

Low bidder for the general contract was W. L. Jewell, of Sanford, N. C. Bagwell Plumbing and Heating Company of Durham placed the low bid for the plumbing contract, while J. L. Powers of South Carolina made the lowest bid on the heating.

Wing

The two-story wing will be added to the south side of the infirmary, facing toward Peabody. It will contain examination, treatment, and isolation rooms, in addition to those for regular patients.

The contract calls for the building to be completed within 118 days from January 5.

Step

Representing another step in the program for expansion of the Medical school, Infirmary, and Public Health service at the University, the annex is being made possible through the same appropriation from the legislature and P. W. A. grant under which the new medical building is being built.

Plans for the expansion program were begun two years ago when the government, particularly interested in the public

FOWLER, TAMARA WILL APPEAR IN MEMORIAL HALL

Noted Dancers To Be Featured Monday Night, 8:30

Fresh from recent triumphs at the Follies Bergere in Paris and appearances in the capitals of Europe, the American dance team of Fowler and Tamara appear Monday night at 8:30 o'clock on the Student Entertainment series.

In addition to recital appearances, Fowler and Tamara have been featured by C. B. Cochran in London and in stage shows of Paris and Broadway.

Florenz Tamara was born in San Francisco. Early in her career she studied with the Russian Ballet.

Addison Fowler, also from the West, began his career as a ballroom dancer, later developing into a stage personality.

The extensive repertoire of Fowler and Tamara is ever being augmented. This season they are introducing a version of modernistic dancing, involving the sensuous movements and glamour of the Far East.

"The number, 'Mystic Persia,' is said to have music of plaintive sequence evolving into a haunting cadence of mystical longing typical of the Orient.

In contrast to this is the pres-

NEGRO TENOR TO SING IN DURHAM MONDAY EVENING

Roland Hayes To Give Concert At Negro College

From barefoot boy, guiding a plow on the Georgia farm of his widowed, slave-born mother, to the heights of world wide music heights is the story of Roland Hayes, Negro tenor, who will give a concert at the North Carolina College for Negroes in Durham Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

While he earned his living at odd humble tasks and helped support his family, Hayes used his savings studying and giving recitals, and soon he triumphed before the exacting critics in Boston's Symphony Hall.

History

From that time, he has been a living chapter in musical history. He reached his zenith when he was called to Buckingham palace to give a command performance before the late King George V. At that time Ernest Newman, famed English critic, stated that the American Negro was "the only tenor I have found worth listening to this season."

Tickets are on sale for the concert at the "Y" office here. Reserved seats and patron's tickets are at $1.50, main floor seats at $1, and balcony seats at 75 cents.

ENGLISH TEAM IN BRILLIANT DEBATE

Brown, Hobbs Oppose Gibson, Kluttz

Sam Hobbs and Clarence Kluttz, of the University Debate Council opposed each other last night as they debated with the Oxford-Cambridge Debate team, in Hill Music hall, on the American Isolation policy.

Hobbs, president of the Debate council, and James Brown, of Oxford, upheld the non-isolation policy. Brown was brilliant in his witty remarks and repartee with his British opponent, Gibson. Hobbs' debate was conservative, but in the rebuttal he accused his opponent, Kluttz, of being deaf. Most of the bantering, however, was between the Britishers.

Defense

Kluttz and Ronald Gibson, of Cambridge, defended an isolation policy, pointing out that "it's none of our business" to bother with foreign affairs. Gibson pointed out that Brown's speech was "so full of cracks that the very edifice of it was likely to fall into ruin."

In the last rebuttal of the evening, Brown said of his Scotch companion: "It was Northern Ireland that educated the Scots; but, judging by tonight, we made a bad job of it."

KIRBY PAGE TO GIVE SERIES OF LECTURES HERE

Advocate Of Christian Socialism Speaks Tomorrow

University students will have an opportunity to hear the nation's foremost advocate of Christian socialism as Dr. Kirby Page, author and lecturer, comes to Chapel Hill tomorrow for a series of addresses and public forums.

Dr. Page is well-known for his belief that Christian principles imply socialism. Many students heard him during the Student Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge last spring. He is speaking here under auspices of the local Y. M. C. A.

Address

The speaker will deliver his first address at regular church services of the Methodist church. "Race Relations and Christianity" will be his topic.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial he will lead an open forum, at which questions on subjects of economic justice, international relations, and interracial relations, will be invited.

His visit will be climaxed tomorrow night by a mass meeting at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall. He will speak on "The Present International Scene," after which he will conduct another open forum.

Council Members Issue Subscribers' Forms For Buyers

Shares Sell At $1

Dormitory and fraternity residents last night received subscription blanks from their council representatives for stock in the new co-operative cleaners plan.

Students willing to invest a dollar or more in stock to raise capital with which to purchase the defunct cleaners when it comes up for bankrupt sale Monday, were asked to sign the subscription, pledging their support.

Backing

By this means the student group backing the movement hope to determine whether there is enough campus interest to continue the plan. If the support is adequate to guarantee enough money the group will place a bid at the hearing in the Orange county superior court Monday.

If the support obtained is not enough to justify this action the cleaners, according to all reports, will be sold to a private enterprise.

Plan

Although only a tentative working plan for the co-operative has been drawn up, the fraternity-dormitory representatives at the last meeting voted that only stockholders would be allowed to participate in any rebate from patronage.

The purpose of the cleaners, it was stated, would not be to work on a "cut" price system, but to do business at the standard retail price of the community. Profit is to be returned to members in the form of a rebate in proportion to their patronage.

Dramatic Artists To Present Play Tuesday At 8:30

"The Long Christmas Dinner" By Thornton Wilder To Be Given In Campus Theatre

A special performance of "The Long Christmas Dinner" by Thornton Wilder will be given in the Playmakers theater on Tuesday at 8:30 by students in the Acting and Stage Scenery courses of the Department of Dramatic art. This is not a season ticket performance and an admission charge of 15 cents will be made.

The play is said to be an extremely interesting one, offering scope for the actors and presenting a challenge to the imagination of both director and audience. In "The Long Christmas Dinner" Thornton Wilder has
