Varsity, Freshmen Grapplers Leave For Virginia Tomorrow

Tankersley Is Elected
Captain Of 1938
Main Team

Quinlan Worried

Leaving Emerson stadium at 8:30 this morning, a bus-load of hopeful freshmen and doubtful varsity wrestlers will head for the mountains of Virginia to contest V. P. I. tomorrow afternoon in the first meet of the season.

Centering his worries mainly on the varsity, Coach Quinlan stated that neither squad was in good condition. "It will be at least two weeks before they reach top form," he said, "and only five of the boys have ever wrestled against varsity competition."

Stand-Bys

Three lettermen — Harriss, Tankersley, and Woodson—will be used as the foundation for the expectedly weak Carolina attack. Tankersley was elected captain of the 1938 team at practice yesterday, replacing the graduated Umstead. Davison and James are also counted upon for good performances; otherwise, the squad has been only mediocre in appearance to date.

Last year the Gobblers fell before the Tar Heels 21-11, and the freshmen deadlocked 18-18. No news has come from the Blacksburg school concerning its grapplers of this season, but it is known that they have lost at least two veterans.

Trip-Makers

Freshmen making the trip today are: Lambeth, 118; Walters, 126; Kemper, 135; Broadfoot, 145; Robertson, 155; Forrest, 165; Torry, 175; and Merrow and McNaughton, unlimited.

The varsity line-up will probably be: Harriss, 118; Tankersley, 126; Davison, 135; Pitts, 145; Joyner, 155; James, 165; Woodson, 175; and Fearing, unlimited. McFayden, 155, and Clements, unlimited, are going along as reserves.

Pitts

Tom Pitts, captain of last year's freshman team, is the only one to make the squad this year as a sophomore. Wrestling in the 145-lb. class, Pitts went through the season undefeated and has shown ability in his scientific approach to the game. According to Coach Quinlan, the present freshman squad has more-than-average chances for a good season. Especially promising are Lambeth, Kemper, Broadfoot, and Torry.

Both squads will take a short workout after reaching Blacksburg this afternoon. The freshmen will open the meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with the varsity scheduled to take the mats immediately afterwards. A captain will be elected by the frosh shortly before the action begins.

Duke To Feature Lunceford Band

(Continued from first page) will be the first presentation of the Duke university Year Book's beauty queen, and the beauty section, composed of 10 coeds who were selected by producer Cecil B. DeMille.

Carolina students will be welcome. Lunceford and his orchestra come to Duke direct from their successful appearances at the Loew's State theater, Times Square, New York City.

Boxers Are Ready To Go As Citadel Match Draws Near

Military Lads Will Offer Tar Heels Stiffest Opposition They Will Meet This Year

Although the boxing ring in the Tin Can has not yet been festooned with its blue and white crepe, the boxing team is ready to go and is marking time until 8 o'clock tomorrow night when it meets The Citadel in the Tin Can.

Hopes for a peachy season are considerably brighter than they were last year at this time but the cadets will offer the stiffest opposition which the Tar Heels will meet this year.

Quote

"The boys are becoming more serious about their boxing," said Coach Mike Ronman yesterday, "and the experience they will gain from the first two meets will carry them along nicely throughout the season."

Although the varsity berths are pretty well cinched for the opener, Coach Ronman is still undecided who he will send against Johnny Hughes in the 115-lb. class. McFalls and Winstead have been see-sawing back and forth all during the practice weeks and the final decision will probably be withheld until just before starting time.

Lyons Is Out

The military lads have lost the services of veteran Jack Lyons in the senior middleweight division but Coach Matty Mathews is expected to convert a light heavy, Happy Deas, into a middleweight to fill the hole. Either Walton Aston or Frank Huguenin will be used in the 175-lb. class in place of Hugh Rogers, who failed to make that weight.

Crowell Little, not in too good condition as yet, will have plenty of worries when he slips between the ropes to meet The Citadel's Pete Lempesis, but Mr. Little has absorbed many a hard knock in his day and his bite is worse than his bark.

The bouts will be conducted under Southern conference rulings which prohibit any vocal demonstrations by the spectators during the course of the rounds. It will be the official's privilege to stop the fight during any one of the three rounds and award the bout to the visiting boxer if this ruling is not observed by the students.

The blade of a good Toledo sword may be sprung from its point to its hilt without breaking.

Bantamweight

Johnny Hughes, one of The Citadel's veteran ringmen, is expected to be one of its point-getters tomorrow night.

MURALISTS ARE SHOWING POWER

Phi Deltas, Mangum, Med School, Manly Win

The Phi Delta Theta number one and Mangum number one fives showed unusual power yesterday afternoon in mural play while Medical school and Manly's number one team encountered a bit more trouble in stopping somewhat more obstinate opponents.

But one should, by no means, under rate the Alpha Epsilon Pi quint for it put up a scrappy and persistent fight, but the decided edge held by a smooth and well organized Phi Delt five gave the latter an undisputed victory.

Moe Blount and Walt Clark kept the Phi Delt forward wall constantly on the go with the top notch defensive work of Mosier and McColl rounding out the victor's game. Alpha Epsilon Pi, active but ragged, had only the fine work of Ed Karlin and Harvey Kaplan to keep it active. The point scoring is:

Phi Dels No. 1 (31);	AEPI (17)
Mosier—5	Levine—2
Blount—5	Weber—7
Seawell—0	Topping—2
Clark—13	Karlin—4
Peterman—6	Cohen—2
McColl—2	Kaplan—0

Gymnasts Will Have Chance To Show Their Stuff Soon

Tournament At Duke To Be First Of Its Type In This Section Since 1922

(Ed. Note: Bill Lindau was well-known on the campus last year for his activities on the gym team and his non-activity on the sports staff of the DAILY TAR HEEL. He deserted us to take a job with the N. C. State news bureau but has kept plugging gymnastics. Last fall he was appointed chairman of the A. A. U. committee in charge of that sport.)

By BILL LINDAU

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 13.—Like murder willing out, and the candle under the bushel not being able to be hid, the Man on the Flying Trapeze has finally come swinging across the Carolina skies, for the first time since 1922.

The week-end following the Southern conference basketball tournament, amateurs from the two Carolinas will meet in the Duke gymnasium in an effort to decide who is the bes' dam' King of Swing in these parts. It will be the first tourney of its type since Doc Lawson's 1922 State Olympics, in which Carolina more or less walked away with things.

Preview

The tournament will act as a spotlight, among other things, uncovering the available talent in this section for the national championship and, possibly, for future U. S. Olympic teams.

Compared to the North in particular, the sport in this section is in its infancy—or at least second childhood. Carolina maintained a team for over 25 years, compiling a record for intercollegiate competition during that period which has never since been equalled in any section of the country, not excepting the Naval Academy teams which, during a period recently, showed only two defeats in 14 years.

Not Since 1926

But those were the good old days. The team was abolished in 1926 as an intercollegiate sport. About four years ago, the monogram for the sport was again installed, the award going to the candidate who success-

DILWORTH, GRUBB SCORE HIGH IN SLOW CONTEST

Henry, Gobbler Ace

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel) Blacksburg, Va., Jan. 13—Little Pete Mullis, who has been lagging behind in point-grabbing this basketball season, came out of the dog-house tonight to score nine points and lead the Carolina White Phantom hoopers to a 38-32 conquest over the Gobblers of V. P. I.

The game was the first of a three game stand for the Spooks in Virginia. Tomorrow night the Blue and White cagers move on Lexington to do battle with the Cadets of V. M. I. V. M. I. is reputed to have a strong team this year. They have been beaten only by Elon.

Right behind Mullis in the scoring came Foy Grubb with eight points and Ben Dilworth with seven. Dilworth continued his stellar play of the year by playing a major part in the Carolina victory. Other Blue and White point makers were Ruth, with five; Boone, four; Worley, three; and Bershak, two. Henry stood out like Gibraltar for the Gobblers, playing an outstanding floor game in addition to racking up eight of the loser's points.

Coach Walter Skidmore's starting White Phantom line-up was Andy Bershak and Dick Worley at forward spots, Dilworth at center, and Grubb and Red Stoopack at the guard posts. Mullis and Captain Earl Ruth did not get in until nine minutes of the first half had gone by.

Once Mullis got in he dented the nets with three field shots and an equal number of free throws. Mullis' performance tonight showed Pete had once more found his eye, and that he would be valuable when the Phantoms come up against Washington and Lee Saturday night, and Duke, State, and Maryland later in the season.

The game was slow, with the White Phantoms holding the lead from the beginning, and having their own way in hurdling over the Gobblers. The half time score was 23-17.

Frosh To Invade State Tonight

LITTLE GHOSTS ARE UNBEATEN; WOLFLETS GOOD

Game Will Be At 8

By LARRY FERLING

Carolina's undefeated Little Ghosts will invade the North Carolina State yearlings' home court tonight at 8 o'clock in quest of their third consecutive triumph.

Led by high-scoring forward Richardson, the Wolflets promise to make a serious challenge for the state's court supremacy with their unique fast-breaking attack.

Carolina's frosh quintet, at present ranking tops in yearling competition, has crushed two highly-rated cage teams during the past week. Last Saturday night saw the defeat of the Davidson Kittens 45-25, while Tuesday evening the Wake Forest Deadlets went down 33-16.

State's Wolflets will enter tonight's fracas after the recent defeat at the hands of Duke's Blue Imps 62-29 last Wednesday night, but word has come from the Raleigh domain that the State quintet will flash a far-from-lame Dark Horse attack upon the Tar Heel invaders.

Yesterday afternoon the Chapel Hill yearlings went through a stiff workout, introducing several new offensive plays into their repertoire.

A squad of thirteen men will make tonight's trip. They are Watson, Messina, Brown, Ralph, Severin, Glamack, Lindsay, Holland, Palanski, Harnden, Branson, Cooper, and Erickson.
