Boxers Are In Pennsylvania

PRINT TO FIT . . .

By Shelley Rolfe

With Bill McCachren still hobbling around, we wonder how true the report is that Bill will forego basketball entirely this year. That would give the third of the McCachrens another full year of varsity competition, instead of a half a season this winter. Its a case of a whole loaf being better than half.

Around these parts it promises to be a slow sports weekend, for the basketball team is on its annual northern tour and the boxers are up at State College, Pa., ready to do battle with the strong Nittany Lions. Penn State has long been the center of college boxing in this country.

The only local event is the freshman basketball game with Belmont Abbey. But because of George Glamack that game may be a bigger attraction than the average yearling conflict, for a lot of people have been hearing about George and they may decide to see for themselves.

Nady Cates of the Winston-Salem Journal saw Glamack score 20 points against Wake Forest and promptly called the Tar Baby bucket man a better basketeer than Bob Spessard. For this Cates was soundly castigated by his readers. They asked how a green freshman could compare with one of the most valuable college players in the country, one who scored 25 points in the Southern conference tournament finals last year, and who has been All-Conference for two years. As far as we're concerned, Glamack has no peers when it comes to sinking pivot and bucket shots, but he is a bit slow on the defense and in getting started.

Virginia, which ran away from home and the Southern conference two falls ago, is getting the all-is-forgiven sign from conference leaders. The Cavaliers left when their football team started losing against all comers. Virginia wanted to subsidize and the Graham plan made that hard. Now, a year and a half later, what does Virginia find, but the conference adopting an athletic program almost identical with that of the Cavaliers. Virginia still plays most of its games with conference foes, but when the Cavaliers were invited back in a few days ago they said not yet. It seems, from this corner, that the Virginians want to enjoy all the advantages of the Southern conference without the benefit of clergy.

Frosh Quint Gets Ready For Abbey Team Here Tomorrow

Football Equipment For Winter Session Given Out Tomorrow

Wolf Will Begin Off-Season Practice Monday Whether Baugh Comes Or Not

With or without the assistance of Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Coach Ray Wolf will get winter football practice under way Monday afternoon. The Redskins professional star has not as yet definitely accepted the invitation to assist at the annual pre-season roundup but an answer is expected in a day or two.

Football equipment will be issued at Kenan stadium tomorrow afternoon from 2-5 o'clock and all candidates are expected to report at that time. Freshman football managers are to report at Kenan stadium Monday at 2 o'clock.

In case of inclement weather Monday, an illustrated football lecture will be given in Murphey hall with pictures of last year's games.

Frosh Football

All freshmen interested in winter football practice are asked to see Mr. Sievert in 101 Peabody tomorrow or Monday morning between 10:30 and 11:30 o'clock. This must be done before any freshman in physical education goes out for football this winter.

Tar Babies Have Three Home Games During Coming Week

Meet State Tuesday

In preparation for tomorrow's encounter with the highly reputed Belmont Abbey quintet, Carolina's freshmen cagers went through their fastest paces yesterday, vigorously recuperating from the 31-30 Wake Forest loss of last Tuesday evening.

The usual starting five of Glamack at center, Branson and Watson at guards, and Ralph and Harnden at forwards worked together for most of the session, with Severin and Brown substituting in the forward berths.

Freshmen To The Fore

The Belmont Abbey tilt will be the first of three encounters, all on the home court, which are scheduled for the ensuing week.

Tuesday night North Carolina State's basketeers will invade the Tin Can in a return engagement with the Little Ghosts. State went down before the Tar Heel onslaught 52-23 on January 14, but there is promise that a greatly improved team will play here.

A week from today the powerful Oak Ridge institute's basketball battalion will do battle with the Tar Heel frosh in the latter's territory.

Handsome Dan II, bulldog mascot of Yale, died on the eve of last autumn's football game which was won by Harvard.

NYU got the nickname Violets from the fact that the campus is full of these flowers every spring.

Cagers Meet Tigers Tonight

BOXERS TAKE ON PENN STATE MEN AWAY TOMORROW

Ronman Will Be Trying To Hand Defeat To Alma Mater

Still looking for a chance to break into the win column after a 4½-3½ defeat by The Citadel in the opening meet, the Carolina boxing team will meet the Penn State glovers tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in State college.

Coach Michael Ronman, captain of the 1935 Penn State team, will try to break the record he helped to establish by handing the Nittany Lions their first home defeat since 1934.

Shift

Several changes have been made in the Tar Heel lineup since The Citadel meet which will bring Captain Joe Murnick from 135 to the 125-lb. class, Jim Bryant from the 175 to the 165-lb. class, and Bill Moore from the unlimited to the 175-lb. class. Ed Hubbard, a sophomore, will break into the varsity lineup for the first time in the heavy-weight class.

Against the Nittanics Coach Ronman will use Billy Winstead in the bantamweight, Tom Bass in the 135-lb. class, Joe Fisher in the 145-lb. class and Crowell Little in the 155-lb. division.

RESERVES MEET SCHOOL MATMEN

Frosh Wrestle Durham High In Bynum Gym

Freshman grapplers who did not make the VPI trip will get a chance to exhibit their prowess in Bynum gym this afternoon as they tangle with the Durham high school matmen in a practice meet at 4 o'clock. Only one or two weights will be fought by men who saw action in the opening meet of the season.

Yesterday's workout session was devoted to a thorough review of fundamental offensive and defensive tactics, together with general but strenuous mat tussling.

Quote

The 23-man freshman squad looked especially good. "There," pointed out Coach Quinlan, "is a bunch of lads with a future. They are really interested in the sport and have what it takes to excel in it."

But as to the varsity—"Well," continued the coach sadly, "if the few men I have got don't get to reporting for practice, I'll have to get my face lifted and fight in the meets myself."

An Even Dozen

And that was literally true if not practically so. Twelve men, no more no less, are out for the eight weight-divisions on the squad, and of this small number one or more is absent from the daily workouts with unerring regularity. All of which is, in

State Wins

N. C. State's galloping Red Terrors eked out a 45-44 victory over Wake Forest last night in a Southern Conference basketball game in Raleigh. Carolina plays State here next Tuesday.

DITT SCORES 32 POINTS IN GAME

Chi Phi Quintet Takes Kappa Sig; ATO Wins

"He's just good," was all Marvin Allen, captain of Kappa Sigma's number one outfit had to say about Art 'Dead-Eye' Ditt after Ditt had led the Chi Phi's in a complete shellacking of Kappa Sigma's number one five, 42-23.

Ditt hung up 22 points in his initial appearance on the mural hardwood last week, and again went to town yesterday afternoon. But this time he did a better job, tallying 14 field goals and four foul shots. That's all there really was to the tilt. Here's the box score:

Chi Phi (42):	Kappa Sig No. 1 (23)
Myers—1	Umstead—4
Ditt—32	Hambright—0
Drye—3	Wooten—0
Wills—6	Lalanne—9
Lucas—0	Allen—0
Oglesby—0	Downing—7
Cooper—0	Coghill—3

St. Anthony Triumphs

Baskets were scarce yesterday afternoon on intramural court number three where Phi Alpha and St. Anthony hall met in their contest. The half score was 8-6 and only 9-9 at the beginning of the final period. Five minutes were left to play when both quintets started fighting and acting for precious points to break a 12-11 score in favor of St. Anthony. But, the leaders dogmatically held onto their slim margin for the remaining few minutes and went a step further, increasing it to 18-13 by the end of the game. The box score is:

St. Anthony (18)	Phi Alpha (14)
Murchison—0	Turteltaub—0
McIlhenny—0	Stang—0
Laurens—2	Drucker—4
Fackner—0	Whyte—2
Brown—4	Abramson—6
Dick—12	Laskey—2
Walker—0	Jacobson—0
Steward—0	Gewalb—0

ATO Over Phi Delt

Ahead 11-7 at half-time, ATO did all it could to equal a determined, aggressive drive by Phi Delta Theta's number 2 team and leave the Phi Delt secondary outfit by the wayside 21-18 in a slow but close mural game. The box score follows:

Phi Delta Theta No. 2 (18):	ATO (21)
McKinney—6	Greer—0
Rogers—3	Mackie—0
Howard—2	Winson—3
Jones—3	Yount—6

PRINCETON TEAM HOLDS LONE WIN IN FOUR STARTS

Skidmore Carrying Ten Phantoms To Haunt Yankee Courts

Into the Old Nassautown lair of the Princeton Tigers march Carolina's White Phantom hoopers tonight for the first game in the Tar Heels' annual invasion of the north. Tomorrow night, the Skidmore cagers move on Philadelphia to engage St. Joseph in the final tussle of the week-end whirl.

Carolina will find a poorer than average Orange and Black team at Princeton. The Tiger cagers are next to last in the Eastern league race, with one win in four tries. Their lone win came Wednesday night over cellar-bound Yale by nine points. Last Saturday night, the Tigers were drubbed by Harvard, 33-25.

Meyerholz

Johnny Meyerholz is the leading scorer on the Princeton club. All season he has led the Tiger shooters in garnering points. Princeton has few other outstanding players beside Meyerholz and Scofield, a guard. So far this year the Tiger team has shown a tendency to fade in the late stages of the game after gaining a first-half lead.

Ten men made the trip above the Mason-Dixon line for Carolina. The first team will line up as usual with Mullis and Bershak at forwards, Dilworth at center, and Ruth and Grubb in the back court. This aggregation to date has stamped itself as the number one quintet of the Southern conference with seven wins in eight tries. On tap to do reserve duty for the first five are Boone, Stoopack, Mathes, Stirnweiss, and Worley.

If any of the subs see much action it will be tonight, for St. Joseph promises to be a far tougher nut to crack than Princeton. As usual, St. Joe has one of the outstanding teams in the East. In the Philadelphia area it is topped only by the great Temple club which was
