HOUSING BILL DEADLOCK BROKEN BY AGREEMENT

Washington, Jan. 21—The deadlock, which for three weeks has held up congressional action on recent "must" legislation, was broken today when a senate-house committee reached an agreement on the administration's housing bill.

The committee compromised on the bill after striking a senate amendment which would require a payment of prevailing wages for construction of homes financed under the program.

Expected to act as a stimulus to the lagging construction industry, the bill has the support of many powerful labor forces who also are in favor of the prevailing wage requirement.

Senator Large (R., Mass.) said that he will attempt to reinstate the amendment when the senate votes on the bill.

A near-compromise was reported on the farm bill, the other major block to legislation. The conference on the bill is said to have settled most of its disagreements. Conferees expressed hope of getting the legislation on the statute books by February 1.

NIGHT SESSIONS CALLED TO BREAK FILIBUSTER

Washington, Jan. 21—Although no appreciable improvement has been made in the situation revolving around the senate filibuster on the Anti-Lynching bill, Democratic Leader Barkley today notified the senate that, beginning Monday, special night sessions will be called in an effort to break the filibuster that has prevented consideration of any new legislation. The break was not expected for several days though, by senators familiar with the situation. Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) will probably take up the fight for the opposition today as Senator Ellender (D., La.) quit yesterday after holding the floor for almost a week.

ANDERS CONFESSES TO CRIME CAREER

St. Paul, Jan. 21.—After leading J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, through the northern Wisconsin woods to the bodies of Charles S. Ross, abducted Chicago manufacturer, and James Atwood Gray, Peter Anders, former lumberjack, today detailed numerous crimes in a several thousand word confession to the F. B. I. Among other crimes, Anders confessed to the kidnaping of John Borcia, of Chicago, and his wife, and the robbery of four banks.

Anders was arrested Friday at the Santa Anita race track with about $14,000 in ransom money in his possession.

Religious Leaders Will Speak From Local Church Pulpits

High Will Attend

Five of the 12 prominent speakers to appear here for the Religion in Life conference next week will usher in the program Sunday by filling local church pulpits, Harry F. Comer, executive secretary of the YMCA announced yesterday.

Arrangements made with the visiting religious leaders call for Dr. T. Z. Koo to speak at the Baptist church, Dr. Harry Holmes at the Presbyterian church, Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton at the Methodist church, Professor Gertrude Rutherford at the United church, and Dr. Douglas Steere at the Episcopal church.

The first joint meeting of the conference will be held Sunday night in Memorial hall, as Dr. Stanley High, popular opening speaker of last year's Institute of Human Relations, speaks at 8 o'clock on "The Kind of a Faith for This Kind of a World."

An extensive program of small groups and private "bull sessions" between the speakers and students will begin Sunday and continue throughout the week. Arrangements may be made for private discussions with the visitors by calling the YMCA office. Each dormitory (Continued on last page)

STUDENTS VOTE TO REESTABLISH DELTA SIGMA PI

Haddaway Leads Group Favoring Commerce Fraternity

Forty two commerce students, most of whom are juniors, met last night in Bingham hall to discuss the reorganization of the professional commerce fraternity Delta Sigma Pi. Called together by Warren Haddaway, who is sponsoring this project, the group acted very favorably to his proposals and, after considerable discussion, 30 juniors and two sophomores voted to establish this fraternity.

Professors Taylor and Woolsey, who are members of Delta Sigma Pi, were present at the meeting and gave some significant statements concerning the plan. It is believed that there are five other faculty members on the campus who also belong to the honorary fraternity and they will be contacted in the near future to help the chapter after it has been organized.

Also present last night upon the invitation of the group were H. A. Rhinehart and B. W. Harris, Jr., who are members of the alumni. They participated in the general discussion following the introduction to the problem and the plan for reorganization introduced by Haddaway.

United Press Manager Maintains Chinese "Supercilious"

Asserting that he wouldn't be surprised if the Sino-Japanese conflict stopped any minute or continued indefinitely, Miles W. Vaughn, for 10 years United Press manager in the Far East, spoke at the luncheon meeting yesterday of the Carolina Press institute on the background of the present war in the Orient.

The present night editor of the United Press in New York pointed out that the pressure of population, as one of the principal causes of the war, had been greatly exaggerated.

Attitude
He considers far more important what he termed as "a supercilious attitude on the part of the Chinese."

"The Chinese still assume that the superiority they held over the Japanese until about 75 years ago, when Japan first became a great industrial nation, is still a living fact," he said. "Another important factor is (Continued on last page)

WELFARE BOARD PLANS INCREASE IN TUITION FEES

Additions To University Budget May Cause New Raise

At a meeting of the Student Welfare board yesterday, prospects were discussed for a substantial increase in matriculation fees to meet additions to the University budget, which will be necessary for the support of the new infirmary annex and the new gymnasium.

The plan for meeting the extra expenses was reported to the board by Assistant Controller L. B. Rogerson and Dean of Students Francis F. Bradshaw. If, when submitted to the administration, the plan is approved, it will be passed on for consideration to the Board of Trustees at its next meeting.

Examination

If the infirmary receives the necessary appropriation, it is hoped that an optional annual medical examination will be offered to all students. With the present system of entrance examinations, the student is examined physically only upon his entrance, and not in succeeding years. Under the proposed system the required entrance exam- (Continued on last page)

TOPIC GIVEN FOR MONDAY NIGHT'S SPEECH BY HARD

Commentator To Speak From Republican Viewpoint

William Hard, assistant chairman of the Republican National committee, who speaks in Memorial hall at 7:15 Monday night, recently notified Alex Heard, chairman of the Carolina Political union, that his subject for the speech will be "A Program for Progress."

Hard, who arrives in Chapel Hill from his Washington headquarters Monday morning, said that his subject would be presented from the Republican point of view.

Forum

The CPU speaker has been asked to conduct an open forum discussion in Graham Memorial lounge immediately after his speech, but as yet has not accepted. The time of the speech was changed from 8:30 to 7:15 and the place for the proposed discussion period was changed to Graham Memorial so as not to conflict with the Religion in Life conference which meets in Memorial hall later that night.

In the north, especially, Hard is known as an excellent speaker, but it is for his political broadcasting and news commenting that he is probably best- (Continued on last page)

Will Consider Proposed Supplements At Next Meeting

Many Are Opposed

By CHARLES BARRETT
The University faculty at a two-hour session yesterday voted to accept the present Southern conference regulations on athletics as a minimum and to consider proposed supplementary regulations at the next faculty meeting.

A long discussion was held before the meeting adjourned on the new recommendations which would place more requirements on student athletes at the University than those of the Southern conference rulings, without taking definite action on the new proposals.

It is understood that a number of faculty members are opposed to the stricter regulations, but whether or not there is any plan for organized objection is not known.

Rule Eight

Rule eight of the 10 clauses passed by the faculty committee on athletics, after conferring with representative student leaders, is the center of controversy. It is as follows:

"It is the policy of this University to condemn as a menace to sound education and wholesome sportsmanship the subsidizing of athletes, and it undertakes to the limit of its power to prevent such subsidization and will disqualify any student for intercollegiate competition who, on responsible evidence, shall be judged to be subsidized primarily because of athletic ability. In line with this purpose we urge alumni and friends of the University to cooperate in carrying out this policy by submitting to responsible faculty committees for approval under their regular standards any assistance extended or proposed to be extended to athletes or prospective athletes."

Opposition

Opposition to this rule has been definitely expressed by a group of 16 representative alumni meeting with a faculty committee at the Carolina inn.

Instead of the proposed statement on subsidization, they unanimously approved the following:

Evolution Of University Band Shown Since 1903

Local Unit Begun With Six Musicians With Few Instru- ments And No Uniforms

By GLADYS BEST TRIPP

From a nucleus of six strong winded men without uniforms and with few instruments in 1903 to a full-sized band of 84 with smart blue uniforms and shining horns at the beginning of 1938, the present University band has evolutionized.

In 1903 the University saw the need of something to enliven the cheering of the games, and so a band was organized. Charles T. Woollen, present comptroller of the University, was selected as its head.

Doubled
The next year it doubled its membership. The 13 men were shown in a full page picture in the Yackety-Yack. They played at school "breakin's" near Chapel Hill, and at commencement in 1911 "gave in fine style the University hymn, the congregation rising and singing!"

In 1914 L. R. Sides, who belonged to the Southern conference championship basketball team the year he played for the University, and now has charge of music in the Central High school at Charlotte, took over the band. The baton again changed hands in 1925, and T. Smith McCorkle took charge.
