'Boy Meets Girl' Begins Tonight

These Boys Will Meet These Girls

Seniors Applaud Comedy Success At Special Show

Play Is Satire Of Wild Hollywood Life; Enjoyed Long New York Run

It's "Tonight at 8:30" for the formal opening of the current Playmaker attraction, "Boy Meets Girl." After several weeks of intensive rehearsals, Howard Bailey, who directed the production, pronounced his group fit for performance.

Last night several hundred seniors greeted this comedy with enough laughter and applause to indicate that it will be a hit.

Although but one of the protracted series of satires upon the wild and often ludicrous tempo of Hollywood life, this play, the work of Bella and Samuel Spivack, was a far greater success than any of its successors. It enjoyed a long run in New York and various groups have presented it on tours.

"Boy Meets Girl" is a behind the scenes picture of a prosperous Hollywood studio. Its title is derived from the cynical remarks and writings of the team of Law and Benson, who are successful because they always have "boy meets girl," "boy loves girl," and "boy gets girl."

However, when Susie, a studio waitress, finds herself an expectant mother, things really begin to happen. Midst a maze of hilarious episodes, the baby, "Happy," is born, and becomes a sensational child movie star. Susie is supposed to marry Larry Toms, a cowboy star who has been featured with Happy, but doesn't. Law is supposed to retire to Vermont and "really write," but doesn't.

And when the play and the laughs are over, Law and Benson remain in Hollywood to write still more about "Boy Meets Girl."

'SLINGIN' SAM' TO COME HERE THIS WEEK-END

Professional Star Will Coach Backs, Ends In Passing

By SHELLEY ROLFE

Sam Adrian Baugh of Sweetwater, Texas, who won his fame as a passing fool at Texas Christian university two years ago and his fortune with the Washington Redskins last fall, will be assistant football coach during winter practice this year, Coach Ray Wolf announced yesterday.

Baugh, hailed as "Slingin' Sam" from one end of America to the other, wired Wolf he would arrive in Chapel Hill over the week-end to assume his grid duties. His work will be mainly with the backs and ends and will deal with the passing end of the game. He will remain on the Hill for the duration of winter work. This spring Baugh will report to the St. Louis Cardinals in Florida as a third-base candidate.

From Sugar To Sugar

"Slingin' Sam" first slipped into national prominence three years ago when he led TCU to the Sugar Bowl with his trusty right arm. Two falls ago he was captain of the Horned Frogs and made everybody's All-American team with the exception of the Associated Press'. Last fall the steel-armed Baugh joined the Washington Redskins to become the biggest sensation of the pro game since Red Grange joined the play-for-pay lads. Baugh pitched Washington to the eastern championship of the National Pro league, and finally to the pro championship of the league and the world. He was hailed as the greatest pro player in history, and, was reported to have signed for $25,000 for next fall's ball-heaving.

The report that Baugh might come to Chapel Hill started last December. Baugh has always

The University faculty meets this afternoon to discuss athletic regulations over and above those of the Southern Conference, and to formulate what the University's athletic policy shall be.

When the group met last week a list of ten regulations, governing University athletics, were presented to them. Of the list, numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 were automatically put into effect by their endorsement of the Southern Conference regulations.

FDR SAYS WAGE CUTS WILL BE DISASTROUS

Washington, Jan. 26.—Maintenance of the worker's power to buy what he needs, according to President Roosevelt, is a primary objective in the administration's business-betterment campaign.

At a regular press conference late yesterday, the President pointed out that the way to get rid of the recession is to cut prices, not wages.

He declared that, "If industries reduce wages this winter and spring, they will be deliberately encouraging the withholding of buying. They will be fostering a downward spiral and they will make it necessary for their government to consider other means of maintaining purchasing power."

The reference to "other means" was understood by some commentators to mean added legislative control over hours and wages, new public works, and more relief spending.

WITNESSES HEARD IN PAYNE, TURNER TRIAL

Asheville, Jan. 26.—Actual trial of North Carolina's most notorious criminals, Bill Payne and Wash Turner, began today when the prosecution called five of its 38 witnesses in the case against the two for the murder of State Highway Patrolman George Penn.

COMMERCE MEN TO PETITION FOR DELTA SIGMA PI

About 40 Students Are Expected To Sign Tonight

Approximately 40 commerce students interested in reorganization of the local Alpha Lambda chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, national commerce fraternity, will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in Bingham hall in an effort to gain 25 signatures to a petition asking for a recharter.

Plans

If the signatures are obtained, the petition will be sent to national offices of the fraternity in Chicago for approval. After approval, those who signed the petition will elect temporary officers and hold an initiation, after which a banquet will be given them by the national council of the fraternity.

Petition Certain

It was believed to be almost certain the required number would sign the petition, as over two-thirds of the group voted to pass it at a former meeting.

Discuss Fraternity

Any student interested is urged to attend the meeting tonight, at which a discussion of the proposed fraternity will be held before the petition is passed among those attending.

Aims of the fraternity would be to bring speakers to the campus, secure moving pictures of industrial and commercial processes, and to establish a subsidiary placement bureau, to assist the University vocational bureau.
