Get your copy of "Bound to Win" off the shelf and dust it off, for only Horatio Alger, Jr., could describe the comeback our Pete Mullis has made in the last three court games of the White Phantoms.

Up to the State game, Pete was lower in the scoring end of the game than a Confederate dollar. But as soon as the Red Terrors buzzed into the Tin Can, Mullis started hitting the basket from all corners of the court. He hit adding machine totals with 16 points against the Terrors. Against Maryland he fell down to 12. But, lo and behold against Clemson Pete really went on a point grabbing spree, and when he left the court with about two minutes left of the game, he had 17 points by the Mullis name.

Double Comeback

Pete's scoring comeback marks the comeback of the White Phantoms. Before he got going on the tallying end, the Phantoms were deeper in the rut than the Democratic party in Vermont. They had lost to Wake Forest in the South, they had been trounced by Princeton and nosed out by St. Joseph in the North.

With three straight defeats, they were ready to run up against State, and prospects for a Tar Heel win were anything but alluring. But boom, Mullis found his scoring eye and the Phantoms were off. They beat State handily, and in the last two games against Maryland and Clemson, the Skidmore lads have not been extended.

All of which leads to NYU. Don't look now, but the Violent Violets are in the Tin Can Saturday night for a game with the Phantoms. The battle for NYU will be the final one of a hurried trip through the conference. They start tonight at College Park against Maryland. Tomorrow

Tar Babies To Meet GMA Tonight

Out for their eighth victory out of nine starts, Bo Shepard's freshman hoopsters tonight meet the Georgia Military academy's basketeers at 8 o'clock in the Tin Can.

Last night the Carolina frosh partook of a light workout in preparation for this evening's encounter.

Strong

Rumors have drifted up from the Cracker State of a strong, steady-playing G. M. A. quintet which threatens to cut short the present Tar Baby winning streak. The home team will be out for its fifth consecutive win.

Tonight will probably see a starting line-up of Glamack, Branson, Watson, Harnden, and Ralph.

Forwards Holland and Erickson, guards Messina and Cooper, and center Bill Thompson are likely to see action.

School Tourney
Starts Monday

Opening in the Tin Can at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, the annual state championship tournament in high school boxing and wrestling will get underway with preliminary matches in both sports. Widespread interest in the meets this year has caused an exceptionally large number of schools to enter.

Following the preliminaries, the semi-finals will take place at 8 o'clock Monday night. The finals will be contested Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and state champions declared in both boxing and wrestling.

New Yorkers Have
Hung Up Envious
Record This Year

(Ed. Note: Mr. Roffer, latest addition to the DAILY TAR HEEL, is a transfer from New York university, entering here this quarter to finish up his senior year. At Washington Heights, Roffer was a night editor on the New York university newspaper and, therefore, knows what he's writing about.)

By RALPH HERBERT ROFFER

Flashing the brand of play that a few seasons back earned for them the mythical national collegiate hoop crown, the virulent Violets of New York University are journeying south to meet Walter Skidmore's White Phantom five on the Tin Can court Saturday night.

Victorious in 10 of the 11 games they have played so far this year, their lone defeat coming at the hands of the Minnesota Big Ten co-champs, the Violets have averaged close to 50 points a game, featuring a hard-driving, aggressive style of play that combines a whirl of sharp-cutting tactics with an ability to sink a good proportion of long set shots.

New York Skyscrapers

The New York five will have a distinct advantage in height over the Phantoms, as four of its five starters, as well as a good many of its reserves, are well over six feet. Irwin Witty, Bernie Carnevale, Dan Dowd and Sy Boardman range from 6:1 to 6:3, while Jerry Harlow, diminutive passing star, is 5:9.

There is no outstanding individual player on the team, although Witty, the center, is generally conceded to be the class of the outfit. Witty has scored 101 points this season

PHI DELT CLUB
TAKES BATTLE

DKE Noses Out Kappa
Sigma One Team

With a loss meaning elimination from the 1938 intramural court tournament, games at the Tin Can yesterday were hard fought and well played.

Headliner of the two tilts played yesterday, was the Sigma Chi-Phi Delt Number 1 game. The Phi Delt managed to win 26-20, but it was not before a long hard struggle.

Thriller

The game was full of personal fouls and a thriller from start to finish. The first half was close with Sigma Chi pulling out at half-time with a 15-13 margin. In the second half, however, the famed Phi Delt offense started clicking and by the end of the third quarter they had taken a 19-16 lead.

The final quarter saw the Phi Delt team pick up steam to finish up on the long end of the court. Sigma Chi came apart in the final period to shoot and pass poorly.

DKE downed Kappa Sigma Number one in a fast well played game. The Kappa Sigs showed up well, but they could not crash through the Deke offense.

The Kappa Sigs had a few defensive tricks up their sleeve, and time and time again, they balked the Dokes when they had worked the ball under the basket.

Kappa Sigma held the lead briefly in the second half by

Ronman To Lead His Lads On State;
Sapp To Box

Freshmen To Fight

Although Claude Sapp is not in as good condition as was first thought, Coach Mike Ronman announced yesterday that the 145-pounder will definitely put on the short pants and gloves for the Tar Heels against State in Raleigh tomorrow night.

Joe Fisher has had no difficulty keeping down his weight and will again box in the 135-lb. class. The rest of the berths will probably be filled by Billy Winstead, 115; Captain Joe Murnick, 125; Crowell Little, 155; Bill Moore, 165; Jim Bryant, 175; and Ed Hubbard, unlimited.

The State lineup will probably include Betts, 115; Young, 125; Brown, 135; Sorrell, 145; Bateman, 155; Smart, 165; Arnot, 175; and Vost, unlimited.

A freshman meet will precede the varsity bouts.

Quinlan Silent As Generals Move In

Finishing up a week of preparation for the Washington and Lee meet tomorrow night in the Tin Can, varsity and freshman wrestlers pushed themselves to the limit in a two-hour workout yesterday afternoon. Both squads will taper off with a light session today.

Coach Quinlan had not a word to say in regard to the chances of his varsity against the heavy artillery of the Generals, but he did rate his freshmen on a level with the best in the state. Victorious in their opening match with VPI, the yearlings should have easy riding for the rest of the season—
