Boxers Smash Through With Easy Win Over State Men, 6-2; Washington And Lee Wrestlers Overwhelm Tar Heels, 23½-4½

Harriss Gets Lone Victory; Frosh Turned Aside, 23-15

Davis Loses First Mat Match To Farrier In Best Bout

One Fall; One Draw

By WILLIAM L. BEERMAN

Losing the first bout on a decision, the Generals of Washington and Lee marshalled their forces for a complete rout of the Tar Heel wrestlers in the Tin Can last night and strutted away victorious 23½-4½. It was the tenth straight time for a Carolina team to go down in defeat before the wrestlers from Lexington.

Opening with a fast-moving 118-lb. contest, the only one for Carolina to win, the meet progressed in the victors' favor before a small crowd of 250 fans who found little to cheer about until the match between football-playing Jim Woodson and his Mexican opponent, Henry Braun, came up. Woodson found an even match in the 175-pounder and battled for 13 minutes to secure a draw, the bout running into the extra periods.

Harriss

Johnson Harriss, unbeaten at 118-lbs. this season, saved his teammates from utter ruin by getting the referee's decision over Harry Crane. A letterman on the conference champion basketball squad of last year, Crane recently gave up the sport to enter wrestling.

Beginning their march to triumph in the next bout, the Generals rolled onward over the reluctantly-retreating Carolinians with a steadiness that won them two falls and four decisions, the other match ending in a draw.

First Defeat

Spoiling his perfect record of wins, Tom Pitts, freshman captain of last year, dropped a close decision to Nielsen in the 145-lb. class. Pitts, never defeated since he began wrestling here, found his style of attack ineffective against the aggressive General grappler.

The best struggle of the evening saw Ike Davis lose his first mat encounter on a decision to Farrier. Outweighed, the red-headed Davis refused to be pinned and fought hard for the lead, but the more experi-

Lambeth, Torrey, Merrow Take Falls

Showing their teeth for the second time this season, the Tar Baby twist-and-turn artists unwillingly went through the Washington and Lee dentist chair in the Tin Can last night and passed out under the anesthetic 23-15. Losing the first bout, the young Generals came back to win the next five straight before dropping the last two.

Opening the evening's program in a 118-lb. bout, Walter Lambeth gained an early advantage that ended in his favor as he pinned Washington and Lee's Sam Ames with a half nelson and wrist lock in 2:10. Following at 125-lbs., Randolph Hanna avenged his teammate's defeat

Captain, My Captain

Above are the two captains in tonight's Carolina-NYU battle at the Tin Can. Earl Ruth on the left is in his second year as leader of the White Phantoms. Ruth, who hails from Charlotte, was All-Southern guard last year. This semester he has played top ball and is second to Pete Mullis in the Phantom scoring chase. To the right of Mr. Ruth, is Bernie Carnevale of the Violets. Carnevale a forward hails from Somerville, New Jersey. He is a senior at the New York school. So far this season, he has kicked in over 80 tallies to the NYU scoring total. As has been hinted before, the game will be a revenge match for Carolina, for in the past two years, the New Yorkers have beaten Carolina twice in games played in Madison Square Garden. Catching the Big Towners away from New York should make the Phantoms slight favorites in a toss-up game.

Crowell Little Rivets Way To Win; Hubbard Draws; Freshmen Beaten, 4½-3½

Sanders, Bass Get Bouts; One Drawn

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 4.—After a formal exchange of forfeits, State yielding to Carolina in the 125-lb. bout and Carolina bowing to State in the unlimited, the State and Carolina yearling boxers carried their fighting to the canvas here tonight and the home boys pulled a bit of a surprise by defeating the Tar Babies 4½-3½.

When Larry Bass decided Bill Shaw in the bantam weight and the Tar Babies went into the 135-lb. bout with a two-point lead, all looked rosy but the officials decided that State's Andy Nicholson had shaded Carolina's Andy Gennett in that bout and

Sapp, Showing Effects Of Lay-Over, Drops Decision

Meeting VPI Next

By R. R. HOWE, JR.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 4.—Jumping into the pro column with both feet here tonight, the Carolina boxing team smacked out a 6-2 win over the State ringmen while some 2300 noisy spectators cheered, booed and heckled the contestants.

State's only win was in the 145-lb. class, the other point coming from draws in the 135-lb. and unlimited classes.

Little Features

Crowell Little was the thrill of the evening, decisioning Don Traylor in a rough and tumble three rounds. The two boys mixed freely but the Carolinian covered nicely in the slug sessions and counter-punched more accurately than Traylor punched.

Although Little had a slight edge in the first two rounds, the third was all his and he made the most of it.

"We Wuz . . ."

Ed Hubbard, getting better day by day in every way, was awarded only a draw in the heavyweight bout although the judges favored him slightly in the balloting. Of the three votes, one called no decision on the bout, one called it a draw, and the third gave it to the Tar Heel. The decision being taken from the majority of the votes, the bout was called a draw.

Billy Winstead gave the Tar Heels their first point in the bantamweight class by decisioning Billy Shaw. The Carolina boy easily won all three rounds. Captain Joe Murnick had no difficulty decisioning State's Ed Young after once getting used to the unorthodox stance used by the Terror.

Although Fisher and Brown locked arms in the second round of the 135-lb. bout and did a double dive over the ropes and onto the floor, both boys re-entered the ring and boxed to a draw.

In the 145-lb. bout, Claude Sapp, obviously in weak shape

Violets To Bloom In Tin Can Tonight At 8

No Frosh Game Before Battle With NYU Invaders

Expect 5,000 Fans

By SHELLEY ROLFE

The Violets are in town!

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the Tin Can the Violent Violets of NYU clash with Carolina's White Phantoms in the biggest inter-sectional basketball game these parts have seen in years.

The Gothamites come down from the big city with a record of 11 wins in 12 starts. Not since the Gophers of Minnesota left their imprint in the opening game of the Violet schedule, have the New Yorkers been beaten. Since then they have beaten such representative eastern teams as St. Francis, Manhattan, and Georgetown.

Carolina Record

Carolina will carry no mean record into the match for that matter. For the Blue and White in 13 games have won 10 clashes. Their three defeats came in the middle of the season at the hands of Wake Forest, Princeton, and St. Joseph. During the year, the Tar Heels have had winning streaks of seven straight and three straight. Tonight they will try to run the three string to four.

NYU, coached by Jake Cann, one of the nation's greatest coaches and in his day one of its greatest players, has long been noted for its great teams. Year after year Cann has tutored strong, well-balanced aggregations, that have rated high among the top quintets of the country.

Twice Before

Carolina has met NYU twice before on the basketball courts. In both instances, the Phantoms fell before the onslaught of the Violets in Madison Square Garden. Stage fright was the big-

Violets Plucked

Entering Virginia on the second leg of their southern tour, the NYU Violets went down before the University of Richmond basketball team 34-25 last night.

Tarlow, guard, was high scorer for the northerners with 8 points. Boardman, previous leader, was held to one field goal and two fouls. Burde, 6:4 center, was high man for Richmond with 13 points.

Best reason for those two losses. But tonight the Phantoms will be right at home in the big and airy Tin Can, and that in itself should be enough to make the Blue and White slight pre-game favorites. Carolina should win, but by no more than five or six points.

If the Phantoms are to come through, they must stop Irwin Witty, high scoring center, and Captain Bernie Carnevale. Witty has scored over 100 points this year. Ben Dilworth will attempt to hold him down tonight. Carnevale, a steady, dependable player, will be watched by Foy Grubb. Grubb, who has held Bill Mann down to two points and Jim Waller to five, will be ready to tackle the job.

Mullis

Pete Mullis should offer the chief scoring argument for the Skidmore lads. Mullis has scored 45 of the 90 points he has garnered this season in the last three games. Either Tarlow or Dowd will be assigned to watch Dead-Eye Pete.

Correction

Several names were misspelled in the list of Law-Med dance leaders, which was printed in yesterday's Tar Heel. The correct names are: Hugh Mills, who is vice president of the Whitehead society; E. G. Goodman, president of Theta Kappa Psi; Miss Elizabeth Zudema; and Mac Simmons, secretary and treasurer of the first year class.
