LARGER NAVAL FORCE PLANNED BY VINSON

Washington, Feb. 11—A fleet large enough to protect both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts is proposed by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee.

The representative told his committee today that he would attempt to amend the $800,000,000 naval expansion bill so that the fleet would be large enough to protect both coasts and all insular possessions.

Vinson said that such a fleet would provide that the navy should be "sufficient in strength to guarantee our national security, but not for aggression.

In the senate, a move intended to delay action on the Administration's farm program was defeated. The upper house voted down a request to send the compromise legislation back to conference with the house of representatives, which has already approved the bill.

A group of Western senators asked that the bill be referred to a senate-house committee because of certain changes in the bill which were not to their liking.

DICTATORSHIP SET UP IN RUMANIA BY CAROL

Bucharest, Rumania, Feb. 11—Rumania was under a government with dictatorial powers commissioned by King Carol today in order to restore confidence shaken by the anti-Semitic regime of Premier Octavian Gorga, which lasted for six weeks.

Until a new constitution is provided, the new premier, Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian church, will rule without a parliament.

Immediately after assuming office, Cristea put the country under virtual military power. He postponed indefinitely chamber and senate executions, set for March and decreed that persons charged with the "more serious" crimes should be tried before military courts.

RUSSIAN EXPLORERS STILL ON ICE FLOE

Moscow, Feb. 11—Adrift on an ice floe off Greenland, four Russian scientists reported that their sole protection, a silk tent, had been blown down in a severe arctic storm.

Their radio mast was also wrecked, but was put up again and communication established with authorities here.

The campers were reported to be within 38 miles of a tiny island near Greenland, but were expected to drift past it because of the arctic current. This current, during the last eight months, has carried the explorers more than 1,000 miles from their original North Pole position.

'College Swing' Threatens Popularity Of 'Big Apple'

New Dance Step Originated By Western Colleges Is Reported Rapidly Moving East

The College Swing is the latest dance craze which is destined to take the place of the Big Apple.

The hi-de-ho era of swing was first introduced in San Francisco in 1911 with the turkey trot. The encyclopedia terms the year as the beginning of the "negroid and animal dances."

Always seeking the unique, the American people added variations until it became known as the grizzly bear, Texas Tommy, and other terms.

Time Marches On

The Charleston and Black Bottom characterized the post war period, and their successors have been the Lindy hop, shage, truckin', Susie Q, peckin', shuffle off to Buffalo and the Big Apple.

Sweeps Eastward

Now the College Swing has swept the western colleges and is reported moving east with great velocity.

Although claiming the College Swing is more fun to dance than any which has come along in years, even its most ardent devotees admit it has no sense

One of the University's most promising alumni returned to the campus last night when Thor Johnson, director of the University of Michigan Little Symphony, arrived with his 14-piece orchestra for a concert in Graham Memorial lounge tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Honored by the Golden Fleece for his ability while here, Johnson was enthusiastically received in the spring of 1936 in the Student Entertainment series.

Arrive From Ohio

His famous symphony group arrived on the campus direct from a concert at Ohio University, and will remain for several days.

Fourteen assistant professors at the Michigan school form the organization. Its purpose is to provide experience in professional concerting and also to acquaint the musical public with the caliber of an instrumental ensemble composed of American youths.

The Little Symphony has appeared in over 130 concerts in many of the country's leading musical centers. Besides these formal engagements, it has appeared in numerous high schools, presenting unique programs especially adapted for youthful audiences.

This afternoon the result of this idea will ring out across Hill music hall as Osborne and his boys present a special jazz concert from 2 to 3 o'clock.

German Club Arranges

The German club, which has brought the maestro and his orchestra to Chapel Hill this weekend, arranged to offer this extra performance chiefly because the mid-winter dance bids were limited to 250. Under the present arrangements many more persons will be able to hear the nationally famous band.

Admission Fee

An admission fee of 25 cents has been decided upon in order to cover expenses. The German club also requests that spectators refrain from smoking during the concert.

475 Calls For Teachers Made To Bureau Here

University Placement Bureau Unable To Fill Large Demand Throughout State

During the past year approximately 475 calls were made to the placement bureau of the University department of education for teaching positions to be filled by 1937 graduates of the department.

Although it was possible to supply only 110 or less than one-fourth of the demand through the registration in the office, all were placed in favorable positions and are reported to be making good records.

Study Being Made

A study is being made now in preparation for placing the 1938 group. Teacher selections will begin in March in the best systems. The bureau will try to find the openings and then fit the graduates into the proper place in so far as possible. The 1938 group will be larger than that of 1937.

DIECKHOFF HAS BEEN DIPLOMAT FOR 25 YEARS

Ambassador To Be Fifth CPU Speaker This Quarter

Doctor Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, Germany's ambassador to the United States, will appear in Memorial hall Wednesday night as the Carolina Political union's fifth winter quarter speaker. Socialist Norman Thomas, Republican William Hard, steel leader Tom Girdler, and Soviet Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky have already spoken on CPU programs since January 1st.

Served 25 Years

The 52-year-old Nazi representative to this country is a diplomat of long standing, having served in his Fatherland's service for over 25 years. He has held his present important post since last March 3.

At the age of 18 Dieckhoff began his studies in law, attending during the next few years the universities of Lausanne, Oxford (St. John's College), Munich, Berlin, and Strassburg. From 1906 to 1912 he served an "internship" as is customary for law graduates who plan to serve in the judicial branch of their country's government.

Hans interest in the foreign service got the better of young Dieckhoff, though, and late in 1912 he took the entrance examination. He passed the test and was assigned first to the home office in Berlin for seasoning, and then to the German Legation at Tangier, Morocco, where he was serving as an attache when war broke out.

Sam Hood Has Compiled 13 Outlines Of Courses

"Education Is What You Remember After You've Forgotten What You've Learned."

By GLADYS BEST TRIPP "Education is what you remember after you've forgotten what you've learned," was the definition Sam Hood, University senior, gave the other day.

Hood has typed and bound 13 outlines of courses he has taken while he has been in college. Over a period of two years he has worked on these volumes. His bibliography was not restricted to the textbooks for he said he found many of them "hopelessly inadequate." Also the views of several authors tended to make the work more comprehensible.

Title

He calls these books "The Common Sense Series," and the motto which is printed on the first page of each is: "There is nothing so uncommon as common sense."

The books are on varied subjects. There are two volumes on elementary chemistry, and two on the economic history of the United States. There are also volumes on theme topics on physics, social problems, the United States versus crime, advertising, development of vocal music. English literature from 1700 to 1890, the national government of the nation (historical), and the national government of the nation (executive, legislative and judicial). His last volume which was completed February 6 was on North Carolina history from 1815 to 1860. Several of these are illustrated.

Long Working Hours

On "United States versus Crime" Hood worked for 50 hours continuously; only taking off time to eat. In gathering material for it he wrote and received letters from Hoover and other leading authorities on the subject. He began to write Friday, and continued over the week-end, staying up all Saturday night. This was the unusual however, because Hood was trying to beat a Monday deadline. During this period of consistent work he lost about eight pounds.

Each book has its table of contents and foreword. The foreword to his volume on English literature is as follows:

Foreword

"It was not the intent of the editor to present to the reader a full account of England's literary history during 1746 to 1889, for such a book would be impossible.

"This notebook contains criticisms of the important authors during this period along with comments about their most important writings. It is the hope of the editor that the reader will receive from this notebook a realization of the pleasure and
