Extraordinary Afternoon - Carolina And W & L Battle At 4:30

IF COLD WINDS DON'T SWIRL -- BASEBALL TODAY

Practice Game Will Be Played In Emerson
At 2:30 O'clock

If the winds don't howl too loud and the temperature doesn't drop too low this afternoon, Carolina's varsity baseballers will venture out for their practice joust of the swaddling 1938 diamond season on Emerson field at 2:30 o'clock.

This afternoon's game will mark the third day of outdoor work on Emerson field by the diamonders. Yesterday the squad took a windswept hitting, infielding, and outfielding drill, that was at times interrupted by the gusts of miniature dust storms.

Stirnweiss

George Stirnweiss, who brought joy to all his beholders during the pigskin season, brought some more joy to baseball followers by his work at second during the infield drill. George picked up everything that came close to him, and exhibited an arm of steel.

Today's game will give Coach Bunn Hearn his first opportunity to size up pitching prospects for this coming season. Yesterday Daffy Parker and Bud Hudson, around whom the hurling staff will be built, Cecil Wooten, star

Alas!-Kentucky Has No Epees For Fencing Bout

Extra Sabre Clashes To Round
Out Meet Saturday Night
With Wildcats

The strongest division of the Tar Heel fencing team will not see action in the second meet for the Blue and White swordsmen Saturday against Kentucky. The invading Wildcats have no epee team and thus the Blue and White epeeists will have to be content with just watching the proceedings. In place of the epee matches, two extra sabre contests will be held.

Thus, there will be nine foil and nine sabre bouts, a total of 18 instead of the conventional 17.

Kentucky

This is the first year of intercollegiate competition for the Kentucky fencers. In their opener they were disastrously defeated by an exceptionally strong University of Illinois squad.

The Kentucky fencing team is tutored by Dr. Scott D. Breckinridge, twice the national foils champion, epee medalist, and Olympic team member. Assisting him is Dr. P. M. Knapp, formerly of Columbia university fencing team.

The Invaders

The six man team invading Chapel Hill this week-end from Lexington will be captained by Scott D. Breckinridge, Jr. The foil team will consist of Virgil K. Beasley, Captain Breckinridge, and W. S. Riley. Stanley Hays, Harold L. Riley, and Chester Robbins will oppose the weak but greatly improved Tar Heel sabremen.

So, that leaves Epeemen Bernie Aleskovsky, undefeated so far and with only one point scored against him, and Bill Kaplan accessible for judging while Captain Allan Bloom, Richard Gips, Dave Malone and possibly James McCallum will take up the blades in foil accompanied by Bloom, Gips and Murchison in sabre.

PATRICK, DAVIS WILL NOT TREK TO TOURNAMENT

Harriss, Pitts Ready For Opponents At Blacksburg

Only two men will leave today with Coach Chuck Quinlan to participate in the Southern Conference wrestling tournament at Blacksburg, which opens with the preliminaries tomorrow afternoon. It was previously announced that four grapplers would make the trip, but George Patrick and Ike Davis, 135 and 155-pounders respectively, will be unable to compete.

Entering the meet for Carolina are Johnson Harriss, 118-pounds, and Tom Pitts, 145-pounds. During the current season, both headed the otherwise weak Tar Heel attack. Harriss gained his sixth straight victory and the Big Five championship in his weight last week by decisioning Levy in the State college meet.

Mr. Pitts

Pitts, sophomore class president who would much rather wrestle than try to get a budget passed, lost his first match in two years when he was decisioned in the Washington and Lee contest several weeks ago. Captain of last season's freshman team, Tom will prove plenty troublesome to the big shot matmen from VMI and Washington and Lee, who are tied for first place standings in the conference.

The last individual champ for Carolina was Percy Idol, who brought home the heavyweight crown in 1934. "Percy," says Coach Chuck, "was the greatest wrestler I've seen at this University in the 13 years I've been here." The coach will referee the Carolinas AAU wrestling meet at High Point, March 11 and 12. Pitts is likely to enter the event in the 145-lb. class, and George Zink, grappler of last year, will fight for the 118-lb. title.

The conference tournament is being held at VPI this year, and will open with the preliminaries tomorrow afternoon and continue through Saturday. There was no meet last year.

Gordon At Second

Confident he will make good at second in place of the departed Tony Lazzeri, rookie Joe Gordon of the Yankees in the few days the world's champions have been in spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., has electrified Yankee camp followers with his brilliant fielding and hitting.

Gordon last year led the International league in home runs although he hit below .300. This year he has changed his batting stance and expects to get into the select .300 circle.

Aycock, Betas Take Titles In Mural Division Finals

Betas Trip SAE 53-30,
Old West Loses To
Aycock 29-19

Intramural basketball reached its highest peak of perfection yesterday afternoon, as the four best teams in both league saw action, and these games determined the championship of both leagues.

In the dormitory league Aycock, seeded No. 2, upset Old West, seeded No. 1, the final score being 29 to 19. The fraternity league finals ended in a decidedly different manner with Beta Theta Pi, seeded No. 1, trampling the dark horse, SAE, 53 to 30.

During the first quarter of this game things broke just right for SAE and it appeared that they might come through and upset the highly favored Beta team. But then the breaks changed and the Betas took the lead and kept pulling farther and farther ahead.

At 4 o'clock tomorrow at the Tin Can the winners of these two games, Beta Theta Pi and Aycock, will meet each other to determine the campus championship. This game will be played on the big court and will bring to a close the intramural basketball tournament.

Aycock

In one of the hardest fought basketball games of the tournament Aycock came through to upset Old West, 29 to 19, and to win the dormitory basketball championship. Although heavily guarded Mallory, Aycock's — A No. 1, player, seemed to be all over the floor and was able to score accurately from any

'37 FINALISTS TO BE FOEMEN IN FIRST ROUND

Duke-State Meeting
Headlines Evening
Tourney Card

By R. R. HOWE, JR.

It's going to be an extraordinary afternoon. Carolina and Washington and Lee, as is well known to one and all, the usual finalists, are meeting in the afternoon, not in the evening, mind you, but the afternoon at 4:30. Duke and State, with a bit of a grudge to settle, will meet in the first round at 9:30. Those are the headliners in today's opening round of the Southern Conference basketball tournament in Memorial auditorium this afternoon in Raleigh.

Clemson and Richmond, the latter squad without the excellent services of Captain Pete Jacobs, will meet in the sealer at 3 o'clock and The Citadel and Maryland will start the evening proceedings at 8.

Two Complete Teams

Coach Walter Skidmore will take 10 men, the maximum number allowed, to Raleigh this afternoon and, if all goes well, will take the same number tomorrow. The tournament, we hesitate to say game, will be the last Carolina action for Andy Bershak, Captain Earl Ruth, Pete Mullis, Foy Grubb. Both WDNC and WPTF will carry complete radio coverage of the tournament.

Should Carolina win this afternoon, it will play the winner of the Richmond-Clemson game tomorrow night and should it win that game, it will play the winner of the game between the winners of the State-Duke and
