Carolina's Baby Sports-- Fencing and Lacrosse Are Doing Nicely, Thank You

Tar Heels Fence Charlotte Club Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Memorial hall, the undefeated North Carolina fencing team will meet its one and only Tar Heels opponent in a non-intercollegiate meet when it takes the strips against five business men, all ex-intercollegiate stars, from Charlotte representing the Charlotte Men's club.

Though the contest tomorrow will not affect the undefeated intercollegiate status of the Tar Heels, the Blue and White swordsmen will make a determined effort to retain their spotless slate. However, the possibility is slight since the Charlotte men, with a great deal more experience, brawn and fencing ability, have every possible edge over the Carolina sophomore fencing stars and are expected to come out on top.

And also piling up the odds against the defending Tar Heels are the mishaps of the past week, Captain and two-weapon mainstay Allan Bloom has seen but two days of practice this week, being confined for the past few days in the infirmary, while Richard Gips, the other two-weapon Tar Heel, has not attended practice regularly and is not expected to be in shape for the meet. The reserve saberists, Roderick Murchison and Wayne Williamson, have been absent consistently and it will not be possible at all to start either of them.

And, facing the Carolina fencers, will be Captain David Bartlett, past foil-pee star of the strong MIT team who usually leads the Charlotte Men's offense; Harry M. Hewson, foil ace, formerly with the Penn AC outfit; Frank A. Young, previously with the General Electric Engineering school, and Samuel Robinson, unattached.

Lacrosse Practice Looks Good; Strong Defense Foreseen

The lacrosse candidates went through their preparatory paces yesterday afternoon and, for the first time since practice began a week and a half ago, looked like a seasoned outfit.

Not boasting a single letterman as do other varsity teams, Coach Cornsweet's charges nevertheless have now acquired as much polish as any other Carolina athletic group. With forwards and centers operating under the leadership of Johnny Sullivan, and defense men working with Walt Budden, the candidates entered into a spirited scrimmage in which charging and pass-work around the goal was emphasized. The boys got their first taste of the body-contact phase of the game that is so important in intercollegiate lacrosse.

Experienced Man

Outstanding thus far have been the experienced candidates, Sullivan, Coleman, Finkel, Len Pearlman, and Bill Broadfoot have done fine work on the attack. Fighting hard for forward positions are the newcomers, Ira Topping, Al Kornfeld, Ralph Karol, and Elliot Kaufman.

Working splendidly in the defense positions along with Budden have been Marv Kessler, Charlie Lynch, and Jimmy Coxetter of the experienced group and Bud Beers, Tony Santouro, Bob Rosenzweig, and Don Gusar among the novices. In the past few days, the ranks have been increased by the presence of some Carolina football stalwarts, chief among whom are Ditt and Ed Megson. Santouro and Coxetter are both being groomed for the goalie position.

Varsity Plays Davidson Today, Parker Pitches

Carolina Nine To Invade Wildcats, Seek Second Win

This is the day of the great unveiling, for down at Davidson this afternoon, Carolina's Daffy Parker, an eight-game winner last spring, will make his first start of the 1938 season against the Wildcats. The game will be the first bit of college competition of the year for the Davidsons. They opened the season on Tuesday by dropping a 7-5 count to the Lance Packing nine of Charlotte. On the same Tuesday the Tar Heels were getting their season started with a 10-2 win over Richmond.

Parker, who went along at a rapid clip last year with his curve balls until he ran up against Duke in the final series of the season, came up with a sore arm during spring vacation.

Ready

He has taken it easy ever since, doing little more than jogging around the park in between umpiring practice games. Yesterday, before leav-

Freshman Baseballers Meet Roanoke Hi On Emerson Field Today At 4 O'clock

Strayhorn Says That Hitters Are Getting Better

When the varsity is away the freshmen will play—this afternoon on Emerson field, 4 o'clock, against Roanoke high school. And in this, their second game of the season, the yearlings of Coach Ham Strayhorn will be seeking to drown the sorrows incurred in Wednesday's tilt with Wardlaw prep school.

According to the coach, who two years ago caught behind the plate on Bunn Hearn's varsity nine, the lads were just a little too anxious and under-practiced against the New Jersey school boys. "The hitting is steadily improving," he said yesterday, "and in a staff of eight or more pitchers we ought to be able to find one or two good ones."

Quantity, Anyway

And pitchers plenty he has. To enumerate approximately, Tomlinson, Bailey, Kobak, Turner, Edmundson, Cook, Hodges, Pope, and Edwards have cast an aspiring eye at the mound. The other seventy or so candidates bunch more or less profusely around the various infield and outfield positions.

The starting pitcher for today's game will be either Kobak or Turner. Kobak slung a wicked special ball during the last two-thirds of the ninth frame against Wardlaw, relieving Tomlinson who relieved Bailey. Turner saw no action, and will likely begin against the Roanoke Club.

ing for Davidson, Coach Bunn Hearn opined that Daffy would be ready to trot out to the mound this afternoon.

In case the Parker sore-arm doesn't come around, Hearn will shoot Bud Hudson right back onto the mound. Hudson rolled in a three-hitter against the Spiders Tuesday in the first start of his college career, and in a normal scheme of things should be given a rest, but if worse comes to worse and Parker can't pitch, it will have to be Hudson or perhaps Bunn Hearn

Handball Tourney In Semi-Finals, Only One Upset

Freudenheim-Zuckerman Defeat Kalkstein-Rubin In Match Yesterday

In the only semi-final match of the doubles handball tournament played yesterday afternoon, the second-seeded pair of Freudenheim-Zuckerman handily defeated the third-seeded Kalkstein-Rubin duo by a count of 21-10, 21-14.

The other contest on yesterday's card was the quarter-final match between the Geller-Bowman and Hurwitz-Shapiro teams, the latter upsetting the dope for the first time in the tourney, taking the match by the close margin of 31-28. These unseeded contestants, by virtue of their unexpected yet well-deserved victory, will meet the first-seeded team of Hauptman and Schehr in another semi-final match at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The final round will be held early tomorrow afternoon.

himself will have to roll out on the mound to protect Carolina interests.

Nethercutt

George Nethercutt will probably be able to catch today's game. George sprained his ankle in the Richmond game, but after a day of baking and treatment by Chuck Quinlan, Nethercutt believes he will be able to go behind the bat.

The rest of the boys will be out there. Burnette and Co. will bring their bats to massacre the Wildcats. Last year the Carolina lads downed Davidson 8-1 in the only meeting between the two schools.

"Freshman Tennis Will Be Mediocre"

So Says Coach Kenfield As He Outlines Schedule

Prospects for this year's freshman tennis team, according to Coach Kenfield, are not so good. He expects no more than a mediocre team. In as much as the varsity matches with Yale scheduled for Monday through Thursday will attract Kenfield's attention this week, he will not be able to get a line of the '41 team until next week.

Candidates

Freshman candidates, most of whom were out for fall practice, are Dave Early, Mebane Croom, Don Neill, Jack Totten, Chuck Harnden, Harold Jay Berk, Lawrence Tomlinson and Rex Rice.

Tentative matches with N. C. State, Davidson, Duke, Winston-Salem high school and Oak Ridge have been arranged for the freshmen.
