

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Carolina Publications Union of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

J. Mac Smith Editor
Charles W. Gilmore Managing Editor
William McLean Business Manager
Jesse Lewis Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL WRITERS: Stuart Rabb, Lytt Gardner, Allen Merrill, Voit Gilmore, Bob duFour, Ramsay Potts, R. Herbert Roffer, David J. Jacobson.
NEWS EDITORS: Will G. Arey, Jr., Gordon Burns, Morris Rosenberg.
DESKMEN: Tom Stanback, Ray Lowery, Jesse Reese.
SENIOR REPORTER: Bob Perkins.
FRESHMAN REPORTERS: Charles Barrett, Adrian Spies, David Stick, Donald Bishop, Miss Lucy Jane Hunter, Carroll McLaughery (Radio), Miss Gladys Best Tripp, Bill Snyder, Lawrence M. Ferling.
REWRITERS: Jim McAden.
EXCHANGE EDITOR: Ben Dixon.
SPORTS EDITOR: R. R. Howe, Jr.
SPORTS NIGHT EDITORS: Shelley Rolfe, Frank Holeman, Laffitte Howard.
SPORTS REPORTERS: Jerry Stoff, William L. Beerman, Richard Morris, Martin Kalkstein, Leonard Lobred.

Business Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGERS: Bobby Davis, Cien Humphrey.
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE: Dick Eastman.
LOCAL ADVERTISING ASSISTANTS: Stuart Ficklin, Bert Halperin, Bill Ogburn, Andrew Gennett, Ned Hamilton, Billy Gillian.
OFFICE: Gilly Nicholson, Aubrey McPhail, Louis Barba, Bob Lerner, Al Buck, Jim Schleifer.

For This Issue

News: Will G. Arey, Jr. Sports: Frank Holeman

Concert Pianist

HORIZONTAL

Answer to Previous Puzzle • 12 To splutter.

1, 5 Famous modern pianist.
 11 Monkeys.
 12 Stoning devices.
 13 Encircled.
 14 Courtesy title.
 15 Born.
 16 Above.
 18 Tumor.
 19 Southeast.
 20 Tissue.
 22 Spain.
 24 To daub.
 27 Lacerates.
 29 Dregs.
 31 Less common.
 33 Narrative poem.
 35 Unit.
 36 Adheres.
 38 Social insect.
 39 Exists.
 40 Ribbon ornament.
 41 Drone bee.
 43 Chaos.
 44 To wipe.

45 To stitch.
 47 To drink dog-fashion.
 49 Three.
 51 Boxed with fists.
 54 Sheltered place.
 56 Wine vessel.
 58 Ascended.
 59 Marsh.
 60 His native land.
 61 He is also a of

17 Peeped.
 19 He is a favorite concert
 21 Musical note.
 23 He plays in talking—s.
 24 To observe.
 25 In line.
 26 Hurrah!
 28 Mineral spring.
 30 Being.
 32 Left-hand page.
 34 Wayside hotel.
 36 Sea gulls.
 37 Vended.
 40 Bushel.
 42 Sun god.
 44 Fissure.
 45 Ketch.
 46 Small bird.
 48 Scheme.
 50 Knock.
 52 Pair.
 53 Finish.
 55 Self.
 57 Sloth.
 59 Before Christ.

VERTICAL

1 To notch.
 2 To think.
 3 Withered.
 4 Respects.
 5 Neuter pronoun.
 6 Male cat.
 7 Inattentive.
 8 Proverb.
 9 Boils bran.
 10 Distinctive theory.

DEANNA DURBIN
 CRAM APRON ODOR
 LAVE GEEST DIVE
 AGENTS PIPECAC
 SARDIA LO
 IDIOT PALED
 COMMA DURBIN NUBILE
 A T PA
 LASSES A ARRIVE
 JEEL TELAR ARA
 ARCA INANE MOLA
 SLINGERS TRAINED

A crossword puzzle grid with a portrait of a man in the center. The grid contains numbers 1 through 61, corresponding to the clues provided in the adjacent text.

Spade A Spade

The present editor of the Tar Heel, acting on first-hand knowledge of the two candidates' editorial abilities, is supporting Staff Nominee Allen Merrill.

Any statements to the contrary are untrue.

In the interest of a fair election, and according to traditional policy, the regular machinery of the Tar Heel has of course been open to both sides.

PLAYING THE GAME

The Reverend Dr. Joseph F. Thorning of Emmitsburg, Maryland, believes in a New Spain under General Franco.

He told the freshmen yesterday. He spoke in assembly.

If Dr. Thorning had been speaking for the CPU, attendance at his meeting would have been voluntary. There would have been an open forum afterward.

Attendance for the freshmen yesterday was compulsory. There was no forum.

If the program-planners are going to use CPU speakers they ought to abide by the rules.

LOST IN THE RUSH

Lost in the mad scramble over personalities in today's election will be the no small matter of the revision in student government to provide for a campus legislature.

The plan under voting consideration is simple and clear, promises the necessary efficiency, and opens a wedge in the campus governmental structure through which later generations may pour an increasing amount of democratic representation.

The excuse for the legislature has been discussed in detail in previous editorials and in President Bob Magill's statement of last night which is appearing in this morning's paper.

To pass today's proposal will be a step (long talked about) in the right direction.

COME AGAIN

There were from 4,000-5,000 visitors to the campus this week-end, visitors interested in getting a Sunday afternoon prospective of North Carolina's higher educational center.

It is conjectural whether they came to breathe University tradition, bathe in the intellectual atmosphere, see Chapel Hill in the Spring, or tour the new gymnasium.

A corps of student guides have been organized to lead the visitors to spots of interest and direct them through the maze of strange territory. Under the leadership of R. M. Grumman, extension division head, and Roy Armstrong, pre-college guidance head, student guides are available as a courtesy to guests.

The "traffic-control" incident of last week is more than neutralized by this new move. It has thrown a spotlight on what was a wide-spread case of chronic negligence.

The "traffic-control" incident of last Sunday week is "a thing of the past," in more ways than one.

() Those In The Running ()

By Donald Bishop — Bob Perkins

Gordon Burns . . .

Gordon Burns, University party candidate for editorship of the Carolina Magazine, unhesitatingly admits the magazine is the least read publication on the campus, but he presents a plan to provide the students with a magazine that will be worthy of the money they are forced to pay.

"Its unpopularity lies in the obvious fact that the editors in the past have been publishing reading matter which they feel that the campus should read, rather than what the campus really wants," he said.

"Despite the fact that a pathetically small number of students read the magazine, proportionately large fees are paid by the student body for its maintenance. If I am elected to the editorship of the magazine, I shall make it my aim to eliminate the objectionable material that has gone between its covers and substitute in its place a light, readable and more universally popular type of matter."

He has a long record of activity in work on publications. On the staff of the DAILY TAR HEEL three years, he has been an editorial writer, reporter and technical worker. In this last connection he is serving this year as one of three news editors. He has been on the Yackety-Yack staff one year and is secretary of the University club.

Burns was associate editor of this year's Freshman Handbook and a member of the Freshman Orientation committee. For two years he has been a member of the Carolina Political Union and in his freshman year he was an executive committeeman, and member of the Freshman Friendship council.

Fred Rippy . . .

If created Tuesday by campus vote, the office of secretary-treasurer of the Student Council has the potentiality of being one of the most important offices next to that of council president.

For this office the Student party has chosen Fred Rippy, who, although only a junior, is the present business manager of the Yackety-Yack.

His freshman year Rippy was a member of his class executive committee and started work on the Yackety-Yack staff. Hard work and initiative won for him the assistant business managership on the annual his sophomore year and the job of full business manager his junior year.

Other activities this year include University club, chairman of the Student-Faculty day luncheon committee, and counsellor for the freshman orientation committee.

Keith Eutsler . . .

If Keith Eutsler is elected secretary-treasurer of the student body, a new position to be voted on today, his position will be nothing new for him, since he has one year's experience as student council secretary and two years' experience on the council.

He was elected sophomore Student Council member and at the end of last year the council selected him as hold-over member. He was elected secretary of the council and has held that job all this year. He was vice-president of his freshman class.

Eutsler, a commerce major, comes from Goldsboro. He has made a name for himself athletically on Sigma Nu intramural teams and on the varsity baseball squad.

When the Student Council announced the night before nominations that candidates might be put up for the position to be voted on, the University party turned to Eutsler to fill the post.

George Zink . . .

George Zink, Student party candidate for head cheerleader, has an excellent record since he has been at the University. As secretary of the sophomore class he increased his popularity and served also as a member of the sophomore executive committee.

Zink was presented with numerals for his work both in wrestling and in freshman track, and won the AAU wrestling championship.

In winning the cake race last fall he set a new record for the event in 9:42 7-10.

Vice-president of Ruffin dormitory, he also served on the Interdormitory council.

Charlie Wood . . .

Charlie Wood, University party nominee for president of the junior class, yesterday issued an appeal for a large vote today and urged that the class members who live out in town cast their ballots.

"Since my matriculation here two years ago, I have always been proud of my class, its members, and its spirit," he stated. "I want that loyalty to continue. I want every man in the class of 1940 to vote at the polls today, particularly the men who live out in town in private homes, those without direct contact with dormitories and fraternities. These members form an integral part of our class, one-fourth in fact. Everybody vote, for in that way the opinion of the class as a whole may manifest itself."

"I sincerely hope that the fight will be clean and hard and may the better man win," he concluded. Wood's activities here last year included membership on the freshman executive committee, in the Freshman Friendship Council, and in the Yackety-Yack staff, and active in intramurals.

cluded membership on the freshman executive committee, in the Freshman Friendship Council, and in the Yackety-Yack staff, and active in intramurals.

At R. J. Reynolds High school, Winston-Salem, Wood was president of his senior class. He was also active in student government, dramatics, debating, publications, and the Hi-Y.

Bill Dees . . .

Endorsement of the proposed student legislature which will be voted on at the general election today has been made by Bill Dees who is the University party's candidate for the sophomore Student Council post.

Dees, who has been closely associated with student government since entering here in the fall, said he believed the legislature would be a progressive step and would strengthen student control of student affairs and would increase interest in maintaining the honor system and student government.

When the freshmen elected their seven honor councilmen in the fall, Dees polled 280 votes, one less than the leading candidate. He has since taken an active part in upholding the honor system within his class. At Goldsboro High school he was president of the student body. This year he has also been treasurer of the Freshman Friendship Council.

His work with the Freshman Friendship Council included an important part in making the Religion-in-Life conference a success. He had charge of devotionals in freshman assembly this year. He is continuing his high school interest in athletics by being out for freshman track this spring.

Tommy Meder . . .

When Tommy Meder graduated from the Jamaica High school (enrollment of 7,000 students) among other offices he had to his record the editorships of the school literary magazine and the school annual.

While a freshman here the Student party's candidate for editor of the Carolina Magazine wrote a term paper. Most other freshmen write term papers, but this one was published as a research paper in "Nelson's College Caravan," English textbook used here and in colleges throughout the country.

With these qualifying points as to his literary and editorial ability, Meder is also a member of the Foreign Policy League, an English honors student, and has made no mark less than B in college so far.

As he doesn't believe in knocking on doors before election he takes this as an opportunity to make a statement:

"The Carolina Magazine has been far too heavy to be a representative publication of the students of the University. It needs a sane popularization, an escape from pedantry, a return to the spirit of gaiety that is a part of life in Chapel Hill—a return to the students."

John Creedy . . .

Hailed by his backers, who range from Bob Magill through Ramsay Potts and Mac Smith to Andy Bershak, as "the only qualified candidate" for the Magazine editorship, John Creedy has been ignored by both parties.

(Continued on last page)

On The Air

8:30—Franciska Gaal, who recently appeared with Frederic March in "The Buccaneer," will be the guest of Al Jolson tonight (WBT); Wayne King (WSB).

9:00—"Watch the Fun Go By" with Al Pearce and His Gang (WBT); Horace Heidt's Brigadiers (WSB).

9:30—Benny Goodman's orchestra (WHAS).

10:00—An interesting program of the inside workings of the Post Office Department will be broadcast with special pickup broadcasts from a mail plane on its route, a speeding railway post office, and from the Central Post Office in New York City (KDKA).

BIRTHDAYS TODAY

(Please call by the ticket office of the Carolina theater for a complimentary pass.)

- BIRTHDAYS FOR APRIL 11
 Fred Dees, Jr.
 Mrs. K. C. Frazer
 Clarence Walton Griffin
 Claude Elton Hobbs, Jr.
BIRTHDAYS FOR APRIL 12
 Harry Ganderson
 James Thomas McAden
 Turner Eugene Pardue
 Jesse Byers Reese
 Luther Wilson Turner
 Edward John Palmer.

CAMPUS NOMAD

By Voit Gilmore

A PRESIDENT IN TOWN

Sunday's New York "Times": "Should he desire to take advantage of them, the President has on his desk invitations to address a dozen or more political and non-political meetings and historical observances between May and September. Here are some of them:

"May (no date)—Anniversary address of the Carolina Political Union."

Pressure Plus

That made CPU members cheer at yesterday's meeting. To get on even the President's "possible" itinerary is an achievement.

Should Roosevelt come, there would likely be a banquet for 200 or so bigwigs at the Inn, preceded or followed by a presidential address in Kenan stadium.

Should he not come, hundreds of letters will have missed their mark. CPUers began last summer getting each of its past speakers, plus sympathizers like Ambassador Josephus Daniels and Dr. Frank Graham, plus state officials, plus big businessmen, to write letters urging the President's visit to quaint Chapel Hill.

Along with Sunday's "Times" are letters from sources close to the President with an optimistic tone.

In less than a month chances are good that we'll be entertaining the Old Boy himself.

Letters To The Editor

Over 250 Words Subject to Cutting

STAFF ELECTIONS

To The Editor:
 Dear Sir:

The Tar Heel boys were facing a problem when they got together one day last week to nominate Mac Smith's successor. Allen Merrill and Voit Gilmore were the only likely candidates, for the job, and despite the fact that they had both worked with the staff all year, it seemed evident that there were about a dozen boys who were not definitely convinced which would make the better editor.

Because it seemed to me that the staff shouldn't make a final decision if a good portion of them didn't know whom to vote for, I decided to make a speech.

I was firmly convinced that the thing should go to a general campus election, and I was just as firmly convinced that if anyone introduced a good reason for voting for either of the candidates, it would determine the outcome of the nomination.

Here's the gist of my speech: "We came here to nominate a candidate for editor of next year's Tar Heel, but we'll end up by either nominating Allen Merrill or electing Voit Gilmore. The explanation is simple. The Student Party has put up Voit and the University Party has expressed the probable intention of backing the staff's nominee. Therefore if we support Voit chances are ten to one he'll have the backing of both political parties in addition to the endorsement of the staff; a combination which would be virtually unbeatable. Thus I say our nomination of him would be tantamount to his election."

On the other hand if we nominate Allen, the University Party will probably support him (they actually have) and the Student Party will still be behind Voit, necessitating a campus election. (At this point I explained, as I have above, why I thought it should go to a campus vote.) As a conclusion I asked, "Don't elect Voit Gilmore, nominate Allen Merrill."

Four people got up to discuss my proposition, and all four spoke against it, contending for the most part, that it entirely did away with the staff prestige. No one agreed with me, my suggestion wasn't seconded, and Allen was nominated anyway. Nevertheless there have been certain persons who since that time have voiced the claim that enough of the fence straddlers were influenced, by that speech to cinch things for Allen. I heartily disagree in this regard, but since they felt that the situation should be described, I have agreed to write this letter.

DAVID STICK.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

To the Editor:
 Unaccustomed as we are to active participation in campus politics we, nevertheless, feel that the issues involved in the race for editorship of the Carolina Magazine are such as to warrant our best effort in behalf of John Creedy.
 The undersigned members of the graduate stu-

(Continued on last page)