Dr. Thorning Approves Spanish Insurgents

Freshmen Hear Guest Speaker From Maryland School

Enthusiastic approval of the Spanish insurgents was expressed Monday in freshman chapel by Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Thorning of St. Mary's seminary at Emmitsburg, Maryland.
 Dr. Thorning pointed out that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces were fighting for democracy and Christianity while their opponents were attempting to maintain a militant atheistic dictatorship.

Personal Pledge
 In supporting the rebels in the hope that a bloody regime might be demolished, Dr. Thorning said he had accepted a personal pledge from General Franco that foreign troops aiding him would not be tolerated in Spain after the revolution is won. Franco, according to the priest, is also planning a broad program of social reconstruction in Spain.

He denounced the republic as no longer democratic and asked rhetorically why Loyalists remained faithful to a government which fostered atheism.

Introduction

Rev. Thorning was introduced by Rev. F. J. Morrissey, of the Chapel Hill Catholic church.

Preceding the talk, Dean F. F. Bradshaw announced that a vocational discussion group for freshmen and sophomores would be conducted each Wednesday at 10:30 beginning tomorrow. He explained that the talks would be conducted in an attempt to spur on a choice of a major among underclassmen.

CPU APPLICANTS MUST APPLY TO HEARD

Written Forms Due Monday, April 18

Written applications must be filled out and handed to Alex Heard at the SAE house before persons desiring membership in the Carolina Political union will be considered for one of the vacancies which will be caused by graduation this spring.

The factual questionnaires accompanied by written statements telling why the applicant wants to join the union, must be handed to Heard before Monday, April 18.

Interviews

When questioned yesterday, Heard said that the reason for using the new plan is to do away with the long interviews that have formerly been required.

Among the questions asked on the mimeographed forms are: what is your name, your class, your address, your political affiliations, your campus activities, both extra curricular and otherwise, are you a coed, and have you previously applied for membership in the union.

Statement

At the bottom of the form is found this paragraph: "This information sheet should be accompanied by a statement not longer than 300 words written by the applicant explaining why he wishes to become a member of the Carolina Political union. In so far as possible, preference will be given to those applicants who have applied before. All persons, whether they have applied before or not, must fill out this form and submit the written statement."

Applications

The application blanks will be distributed after Philip Murray's speech Thursday night, and they will also be given out from the YMCA office after Friday morning.

Heard also announced yesterday that Dr. Howard K. Beale, of the University history department, and Dr. L. O. Katsoff of the University Philosophy department, have been elected members of the Carolina Political union's faculty advisory committee. The faculty advisory committee will not have its spring quarter meeting for several more weeks, he added.

Yesterday's Wake Forest-Carolina game was pretty hot, but it "ain't nothing" compared to what will come off today at Durham when the Deamon Deacons meet Duke. You must remember back to the late football season when Duke beat Wake Forest 66-0 in a display of power that was supposed to scare Carolina. That beating was unmerciful and uncalled for. Wake Forest men have never forgotten it.

Last Monday Peahead Walker, Deacon football coach, was a visitor at the Carolina-Dartmouth baseball game. During the course of the struggle, Peahead let not a few people know that Wake Forest was out for Duke in baseball this spring.

Today Duke and Wake Forest clash in a ball game that should see plenty of flying spikes if nothing else. Duke has a team that all season has beaten down the opposition with 20-run splurges. Wake Forest's team is young, inexperienced, but developing fast. There are two other Duke-Wake Forest games and all of them should be worth coming to see. Revenge is a strong motive, and revenge and plenty of it seems to be the Wake Forest motto at the present.

According to the sports-writing chums on the Daily Worker, the revolution will be with us in late September. For Mr. Lester Rodney of the astute journal has decided to pick Cleveland and Chicago as the teams in the 1938 world series. The Yankees are placed no better than third, while the Giants hold the same rating in their league. He sees the Polo Grounds and the Yankee stadium as idle about the first week in October.

At that Mr. Rodney is pretty conservative. If he did want to help the revolution along he might have picked Brooklyn and the Browns for the World series. Then he might have had something.

JOHN L. LEWIS' ASSISTANT WILL SPEAK TOMORROW

Subject For Talk Has Not Yet Been Announced

In addition to being John L. Lewis' number one assistant and chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, Phillip Murray is international vice president of the United Mine Workers association.

The Carolina Political union's second spring quarter speaker, whose present home is in Pittsburgh, has been on the board of education of that city since 1918. He has been vice president of the United Mine Workers association for the last 18 years. From 1917 to 1918 Murray was a member of the Pennsylvania Regional War Labor board and during the same period he was on the National Bituminous Coal Production committee.

Subject

Murray, whose Memorial hall speech Thursday night will begin at 8:30, had not released the subject for the address at the time the DAILY TAR HEEL went to press last night. Alex Heard, union chairman, said yesterday that he could not announce until tomorrow who will introduce the speaker.

Authorities say that it is Murray, and not Lewis, who is the CIO's main negotiator with the big business men. Lewis recently said of Murray, "Among the coal corporation heads of the country there is not one who is capable of meeting vice president Murray in debate."

Naturalized

The CIO assistant was born in Blantyre, Scotland, May 5, 1866. He came to the United States in 1902 and was naturalized in 1911. He was brought up in the midst of unionism teachings by his father, thus coming naturally by his interest in unions.

Murray's present yearly salary is $9,000. Last year the miners voted to double his pay, but he declined the offer. A similar incident came back in the days when he was working in the coal fields. At that time he was offered $5,000 a year as assistant manager, but also refused.

In regards to his speaking ability the New York Times says, "He shines at open forums when questions are hurled at him from the floor. He speaks with a genuine but distinct Scotch accent. On the platform he is said to speak quietly but distinctly and with much earnestness."
