- (1) The above mentioned can secure swimming privilege cards from the office of Dean of Administration.
- (2) After physical examination, faculty men should present their swimming privilege cards at the athletic office for locker assignment. A deposit fee of $1.00 will be charged for lock rental. This deposit will be refunded upon return of lock, towel, and swimming trunks.
- (3) Faculty men will be issued swim trunks and towel. These two items are to be returned to the basket room after each use.
- (4) Wives of faculty members will not be assigned lockers, but will be assigned swim suits and towels at each swimming period. They must furnish their own swimming caps. No women will be allowed in the pool without caps.

The following swimming periods have been announced for this group: 3:00-3:45—women's period (regular coed period); 6:00-6:30—men's period; 7:30-8:30—mixed period (regular student period). In addition faculty men may use the pool at any of the regular periods for men students. Athletic officials also emphasized the fact that there will be no swimming after 6:30 for the remainder of this week until Saturday night. Such a ruling has been made because of the Red Cross instructor's courses which will be offered during the evening periods.

Council Sets Time, Place For Run-Off Race Tomorrow

Present Group To Hold Last Meeting Tonight

By CHARLES BARRETT

The Student council last night set from 9 to 5 o'clock in the YMCA as the time and place for tomorrow's run-off election for junior representative to the Publications Union board. The session was the council's next to the last before inauguration of the new student government body next Tuesday. The last meeting of the 1937-38 group is scheduled for tonight.

President Bob Magill said he was planning to make this year's inauguration ceremony, when Jim Joyner will be inducted into student body presidency, more attractive and impressive than ordinary, and expected a larger group of students to hear Joyner's inauguration address.

Morris Rosenberg, University party candidate, and George McDuffie, independent, will vie at the polls tomorrow in the University's first run-off election in five years. Rosenberg, with a plurality of 15 ballots in last Tuesday's general campus election, failed to gain a majority of the votes cast in the three-way race for the PU board post. Bert Premo, Student party aspirant, was the third candidate.

Rosenberg, McDuffie
Rosenberg has served on the Daily Tar Heel staff for the past two years, and is now the only sophomore news editor. McDuffie has been an assistant business manager for the Yackety-Yack the past two years.

The run-off election was requested by Vaughn Winborne, who nominated McDuffie in the campus-wide nominations session. University rules require a candidate to secure a majority of the votes cast in his race before he is assured of victory.

The only parallel to this year's run-off in recent political history was in 1933, when presidency of the Student body and editorship of the Carolina Magazine were undecided in the first election.

Kendrick To Speak

After the business of the meeting is over, John Kendrick, graduate student in economics and vice-president of the FPL, will lead a student discussion on "Recent economic tendencies in international relations." The discussion shows all signs of being very interesting and follows the talk that Mr. Burnstein made last week before the two groups on "International Money."

All students who are interested in international relations and would care to participate in the discussion are urged to come.

The two organizations plan to continue this type of routine. At one meeting one of the members will lead a discussion as a follow-up to the previous address. Both organizations at present are concentrating on the conference that will come in May.

The Phi assembly last night defeated a measure favoring the conversion of the Tin Can into a roller skating rink by a vote of 12-4.

Representative Wallace spoke in favor of the bill and asserted that Chapel Hill, as a modern community, should provide such a facility "as the rest of the nation has done."

Speaker Leighton Dudley protested the change, and said the Tin Can was needed for track practice.

Will Face Georgia Tech Squad Here Saturday Night

By JERRY STOFF

Carolina's New Gymnasium will officially be ushered into intercollegiate athletic circles Saturday night when the fencing teams of North Carolina and Georgia Tech meet in the season's finale for the Tar Heels.

The fencers will move into their new headquarters this afternoon. Throughout the remainder of the week, the team will be housed in one of the two auxiliary gyms underneath the main floor on the third level. It is expected, though, that the equipment and facilities will be moved to the main floor Saturday morning for the meet that night.

Up To Now

Up to now, the new athletic headquarters have only been used for basketball and boxing practice—and swimming. Saturday's meet will begin a long reign of varsity competition in the new and spacious gymnasium.

However, there will be little pomp and ceremony attached to Saturday's fencing meet. The contest alone will provide enough interest for ardent fans.

One Loss

The Carolina swordsmen have met defeat but once in their reborn year of fencing this season, at the hands of William and Mary, one of the country's leading contingents.

During the course of their schedule, the Carolina fencers have defeated Maryland, Middle Atlantic titlist, and already have once turned back Georgia Tech, southern conference champions, at Atlanta, 9-8.

Other teams which have tasted disaster at the hands of the powerful Blue and White fencers this year were VPI, Kentucky, and the Charlotte Men's club.

GLASS AGREES ON RELIEF; ATTACKS PUBLIC WORKS

Washington, April 19. — Senator Glass of Virginia today attacked the administration's plan to allot a billion dollars to provide public works loans and grants to cities and states.

Glass, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said that the expenditure would duplicate a program which is possible under authority recently given the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The senator said he would, however, support the President's plan to spend $1,250,000,000 for relief.

The recently-passed bill which Glass referred to provides that the RFC make public works loans to state and municipal governments. The same bill authorizes the agency to make loans to business, while thus far no such loans have been considered.

Glass, in introducing his bill, said that he thought it would be sufficiently wide in scope to provide for public works.

At the same time, a joint senate-house conference met to try to iron out differences between the senate and house revenue bills recessed today, still undecided, to meet again Friday.

The committee started its meetings last week, but even at this stage has been unable to reach a compromise on major differences between the bills of the two houses.

FOES OF NAVY BILL CONTINUE HEAVY ATTACK

Washington, April 19.—Senate opponents of the administration's huge navy expansion bill renewed their attack on the measure today by demanding that the senate kill an authorization for 950 additional navy airplanes.

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the senate naval committee, began floor debate on the bill, expressing the confidence that it would be passed by an overwhelming majority.

Senator Nye (R., N. D.), one of the bill's principal foes, stated that the present navy force of 2,050 planes is sufficiently large, and said that the army should have the job of defending our coasts and naval bases.
