Senator Pope's Speech Will Climax Peace Program Tonight

WILL SPEAK IN MEMORIAL HALL
 AT 8:30 O'CLOCK

Ramsay Potts,
 Frank Braynard
 Also On Program

Senator James P. Pope of Idaho will appear in Memorial hall at 8:30 tonight as the feature speaker for today's campus peace demonstration.

Serving as a climax on a program that is being arranged by the Venidas group and the Carolina Political union, Pope's speech will be concerned with the question, "Watchman, What of the Night?"

Introduction

Dean of Administration R. B. House will introduce the speaker, and Ramsay Potts, University senior, and Frank Braynard, chairman of the Duke Peace committee, will express their viewpoints on peace in short talks which are scheduled to come immediately after the Idaho Senator's address. The entire program will be concluded with another of the union's regular open forum discussions.

At 12 o'clock today Pope will speak to Dr. Howard Beale's history classes in the large class room on the third floor of Saunders hall. The subject for his talk, which is scheduled to last for 30 minutes will be "Armament Investigation."

Immediately after the regular talk Pope will lead an open discussion for an additional 30 minutes. Any other persons who are especially interested in attending the seminar may do so.

Venidas Group Head Anne Perry, and CPU Chairman Alex Heard have already done much toward making the campus peace-minded. To date 730 persons have cast their votes in a CPU sponsored poll to determine campus opinion concerning peace, and the local peace committee, with the cooperation of a similar organization from the Duke campus, has been sponsoring radio programs over station WDNC in Durham.

Results of the peace poll will be announced before the speech tonight.

Probably the most impressive part of the celebration will be the selling of white poppies by Carolina co-eds. The poppies will be sold for five cents each and the proceeds will go towards paying expenses of the demonstration. The co-eds will be entertained for lunch at fraternity houses.

Senator Pope has been an interesting career. Among the important positions he held before becoming Senator from Idaho in 1932 was Lieutenant Governor of the state and mayor of Boise. Since he has been in the Senate he has served on several committees including the committee on Agriculture and Farming; another

 Intentions As To
 "Memorial Scroll"

Robert E. Lee Says That
 Gift Will Be Presented Ivey
 As Originally Planned

Robert E. Lee, the last of the law scriveners, yesterday explained the seriousness of his intentions to surprise Graham Memorial Director Pete Ivey with an elaborate "memorial scroll."

In yesterday's edition of the paper, Ivey issued a statement explaining that a man was going around the campus charging 25 cents for each person who wished to sign the document as an admirer. The Union director questioned the movement at that time and declared, "If a memorial is being directed to me, or anything of that, I'd like to be in on it."

The scroll, as displayed by Lee, did not refer to a cash charge for a person to sign his name, but it was reported that the signers had given small cash payments of appreciation. The aged scrivener said that the gift would be completed and presented to Ivey as originally planned.

 For Social After Brief Meeting

Briefness was the keynote last night of the Dialectic senate meeting when it convened in New West for a short session before the annual Di social got under way at 8 o'clock in the Graham Memorial game rooms.

In the only major business of the evening Senator John Busby, University sophomore, was elected Di representative to the debate council for the coming year. He won out over Senators George Riddle and Walter Kleeman on the second ballot.

Immediately after the meeting all the facilities of the Graham Memorial game rooms were thrown open to Di members and their guests who had their use until 11 o'clock on the occasion of the annual Di social.

North Carolina Scholastic
 Press Institute To Be Held
 Here This Week-End

Carl Goerch, newspaperman, radio commentator, and editor of the "State" magazine, will be the feature speaker for the second annual meeting of the North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute, to be held here this week-end, Institute Director David Stick announced yesterday.

Goerch will speak Saturday night at a Graham Memorial sponsored banquet. His subject has not been decided upon as yet.

Others

Six other prominent newspapermen will speak to the delegates during the day Saturday, on a series of topics that include news, editorials, business, sports, society, and make-up. Among the persons who have been asked to speak are John Parks Sr. publisher of the Raleigh Times; William S. Howland, managing editor of the Winston Salem Journal; Charles W. McDevlin, managing editor of the Kinston Free Press; Frank Smithehurst, assistant editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, and Anthony J. McKelvin, sports editor of the News and Observer.

In making the announcement yesterday Stick said that he has set tonight as the deadline for official registration of delegates. Although it is impossible at this time to even approximate the number of persons who will be present, judging from the number who have unofficially expressed the intention of attending the meeting, at least 100 should be present for the two day affair.

Debate Postponed
 By Speaker Until Next Meeting

The Phi assembly, meeting as an investigation committee on the 1938 Revenue act now before congress, heard a resume of the bill given by Dr. Clarence Heer, professor of taxation, last night.

The surtax on the undistributed profits of corporations and the tax on capital income of private individuals, Dr. Heer said, were the main bones of contention, the senate wishing to abolish these and the house desiring to keep them at least in principle. The changes finally agreed upon Dr. Heer believed to be very small in comparison to the publicity the issue has received.

Delay

Due to shortness of time Speaker Dudley delayed discussion by the assembly until the next meeting.

Representative L. W. Miller then asked the assembly for a donation to the Conference on International Relations soon to be sponsored here by the League for International Cooperation. Representative Broadfoot spoke against such a donation but no action was taken by the assembly.

A motion to buy Phi keys for past Speaker Drew Martin and present Speaker Leighton Dudley passed unanimously by the assembly.

Book By Dr. Douglass Judged
 One Of 60 Best On Education During 1937

"A Program of Secondary Education for Youth in Modern America," by Dr. Harl R. Douglass, head of the University Division of Education and Teacher Training, has just been judged one of the 60 best books on education during 1937 by a nation-wide vote of education leaders in administration.

The vote was conducted by the Journal of the National Education Association and School and Society.

Dr. Douglass' book is regarded as a definite contribution to secondary education. He is a member of the National Youth commission, in which capacity he has rendered outstanding service.

Physical Exams

Physical exams for the new pool will be given today and tomorrow only from 2 to 3 o'clock and from 7:30 to 9:30 in room 302 of the new gym.

FURTHER VOTING
 TODAY IN UNION
 PEACE POLL

Polls Open For Last Time Between
 9:30, 3 O'clock

Two hundred and eighty-six students, 14 faculty members, and 10 visitors expressed their opinions about peace yesterday by voting in the Carolina Political union-sponsored campus peace poll.

Yesterday's results added to the 420 ballots which were cast Monday, brings the total number of voters to 730. The polls will be open today for the last time in the lobby of the YMCA from 9:30 until 3 o'clock. Final tabulations will be announced just before CPU Speaker Senator James P. Pope's Memorial hall speech at 8:30 tonight.

Sidelight

An interesting sidelight on yesterday's voting was that in every instance the balloting followed the same general trend as the day before.

Results were as follows:

1. Do you favor the billion dollar naval appropriations bill now before Congress? In yesterday's vote: Yes, 169; no, 137. Totals for the two days: Yes, 393; no, 313.

2. Do you favor the general movement toward the lowering of tariff barriers as manifested in the Hull reciprocal trade agreements? In yesterday's vote: Yes, 209; no, 84. Totals for the two days: Yes, 491; no, 239.

3. Do you sympathize with the policy of the Chamberlain government in England in its attitude toward Germany and Italy? In yesterday's vote: Yes, 115; no, 160. Totals for the two days: Yes, 267; no, 388.

4. Do you favor the establishment of compulsory military training in the schools and colleges of the United States? In yesterday's vote: Yes, 57; no, 247. Totals for the two days: Yes, 136; no, 576.

5. Do you favor removing the Civilian Conservation Corps from Army control? In yesterday's vote: Yes, 393; no, 313.

MAGILL, JOYNER,
 HUDGINS SPEAK
 AT INAUGURAL

Leaders Charged
 With Preservation
 Of Honor System

Overshadowed by the Davie Poplar, 63 campus leaders and the entire student body were charged last night with preservation and improvement of student government and its chief function, the honor system, by outgoing President Bob Magill, newly-inducted President Jim Joyner, and Guest Speaker Ed Hudgins.

Offering two observations before culminating an impressive record as chief campus executive, Magill asserted that unless students realize that their freedom bears many responsibilities, it may be taken away from them.

Prerequisites

He outlined the two prerequisites for maintenance of the honor system and student government as acceptance of an individual honor creed, and loyalty to recognized functions of the campus code.

His second observation was that a new era should be ushered in next year as a result of the student legislature. The power to pass on budgets of all fee-collecting organizations and to review the functions for which fees are spent will be responsible he said, for ending a long period of "taxation" about which the student body knew little.

"My success or failure rests not only with me and my administration but upon the interest and participation of the entire student body," Joyner emphasized in his inaugural address.

"The University is 15 years ahead of other colleges in the South in student government because its students have an innate sense of honor. Preservation of this level depends upon continuance of the tendency to make student government more democratic and closer to the students.

 Include Speech
 By Ambassador

Josephus Daniels On Program
 Of International Relations
 Conference, May 5-7

Plans for the International Relations conference to be held on this campus May 5, 6, and 7 have been completed by the executive committee in charge of arrangements for the conference.

It was announced that the honorable Josephus Daniels, Ambassador to Mexico, will be the first of an auspicious group of speakers. Daniels will address the group on Friday, May 6. He will speak upon international relations with special emphasis upon the Mexican situation.

Daniels, a native Carolinian, was secretary of navy under Woodrow Wilson, and has been publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer for a number of years. One of the more popular of Carolina's sons, Daniels' visit should be greeted with considerable enthusiasm and interest.

As an observer of the highly congested Mexican scene, Daniels should provide an enlightening viewpoint upon the present struggle in the neighbor nations. In as much as the elements of conservatism and radicalism are so crudely apparent in Mexico, and as these forces are interrelated in international affairs, an understanding of that land is valuable.

The conference will be officially opened on May 5 with a welcoming address by President Graham.

 Will Be First To Play
 In New Building

Junior-seniors, with music by Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey and their orchestra, will be held in the new gymnasium the week-end of May 13-14, it was officially announced yesterday by Joe Patterson, president of the senior class.

This will be the first dance to be held on the so far uncontaminated expanse of white maple. Rules for dances in the new gymnasium have not been drawn up as yet.

Tea Dance

Known as the Mr. and Mrs. of Swing, the Norvo-Bailey team will open the set with a tea dance on Friday afternoon, May 13. The set will include four dances in all. The Junior Prom will take place Friday night. Saturday will include a tea dance and the Senior ball that evening.

The senior-week program, an annual feature for the members of the senior class, has been arranged for the week of May 9-13 so that Junior-Seniors will come as the climax of the week.

Xylophonist

Norvo is generally considered America's foremost xylophonist; Mildred Bailey has become nationally known as the "Rockin' Chair" Lady. She toured with Paul Whiteman for
