North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute Opens Today; Registration At 1:30

125 Delegates Expected To Attend Convention

The second annual North Carolina Scholastic Press institute will get underway this afternoon at 1:30 with registration and room assignment at Graham Memorial.

David Stick, director of this year's convention, announced yesterday that approximately 125 delegates will attend the institute, which will end Saturday night.

Opening

The institute will be officially opened at 3:30 o'clock, at which time Stuart Rabb, last year's director, will explain why the institute was begun. Director Stick will outline the program for this year's convention and will answer questions in regard to it. Through the cooperation of the University Club and The Daily Tar Heel, the delegates will be taken on an extended tour of the campus at 4:30 this afternoon.

At 9 o'clock tonight in the banquet room of Graham Memorial there will be an informal dance, sponsored by the Grail, to which only delegates and persons affiliated with the institute will be admitted.

Beginning at 9:30 tomorrow morning

Plyler Solves Old Carbolic Acid And Whiskey Mystery

Physics Prof Explains How Whiskey Takes Kick Out Of Acid and Vice Versa

By TOM STANBACK

Back in 1910 Dr. Howell of the Pharmacy faculty found that if a fellow drank carbolic acid and followed it with a stiff slug of whiskey he would observe no undesirable effects. Now carbolic acid is a very deadly poison and will quickly cause great painful blisters. Prior to Dr. Howell's discovery there had been no antidote for Phenol, or carbolic acid burns. The discovery amazed the chemists of the country. In no tests were they able to find any reason for this reaction. But Dr. E. K. Plyler of the University physics department has found out in his little laboratory in the depths of Phillips hall.

"We grew quite interested in the problem over here," said Dr. Plyler, in explaining his work and apparatus. "And so we decided to see what we could do with it. Let me cut the light off, and I'll show you what happens." The room went black, except for a tiny ray focused on a scale near the wall opposite us. In the darkness Dr. Plyler removed the lid of the large aluminum box. The ray wiggled crazily.

"You see that's why the sensitive part of our apparatus is heavily shielded. We are able to observe on this scale through the use of our ultra sensitive instruments a change in temperature of one millionth of a degree.

"But let me turn the light on again. This arrangement of reflectors, slits, and prisms is for the purpose of magnifying and selecting the tiny part on the spectrum that the atoms of the alcohol molecule and carbolic acid molecule occupy.

"The light ray from which our energy is obtained is reflected about a dozen times, turned into electrical

LAW FRATERNITY PRIZE AWARDED W. T. M'GOWAN, JR.

Student Ranks Highest In First Year Class

By FRED CAZEL

William Tillman McGowan, Jr., of Timmonsville, S. C., received the annual prize offered by the Phi Delta Phi law fraternity to the student ranking highest in the first year class at the annual law school banquet held last night in the Carolina Inn.

Clarence A. Griffin, Jr., of Rocky Mount, was awarded the annual prize offered by George Watts Hill of the Durham Bar, for the best aggregate contribution to the current volume of the North Carolina Law Review.

Executives

The executives of the student editorial staff of the North Carolina Law Review named were: Robert Cooke Howison, Jr., of Raleigh, editor in chief; Moses B. Gilliam, of Windsor, associate editor; and Clarence A. Griffin, Jr., book review editor.

Robert C. Howison, Jr., Moses B. Gilliam, Clarence A. Griffin, Jr., and Joseph M. Kittner of Weldon, were made faculty research assistants. Elected to the North Carolina chapter of the national honorary law school society of the Order of the Coif, because they stand, in point of scholastic attainments, within the highest ten per cent of the graduating class were: Winifield Clary Holt, of Greensboro; Charles Marshall Ivey, Jr., of Concord, and Julian C. Franklin, of High Point.

The toastmaster of the banquet was Charles Aycock Poe, of Raleigh, who is the retiring president of the Law School association. Dean M. T. Van Hecke made the awards after a "grid-iron club" program of typical songs and skits satirizing the events of the year. Justice and Mrs. A. A. F. Seawell and Attorney General and Mrs. Harry McMullan were the honor guests.

The newly elected incoming officers of the Law School association for next year are: James D. Carr, Wilmington, president; Wiley F. Parker, Goldsboro, vice-president; W. R. Shelton, Asheville, secretary-treasurer; and Joseph M. Kittner, Weldon, Law School representative on the Student Council.

DELTA SIGMA PI ELECTS HEADS

Hogan Chosen For New Headmaster

The local chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, a national professional commerce fraternity, met Tuesday night and elected officers for next year.

The new executives are as follows: Milton E. Hogan, the student who lead the program for the campus radio studio, Head Master; Paul Blue, Senior Warden; Jim Hall, Junior Warden; Harry Tyndall, Scribe; and George Hunt was reelected treasurer.

Committees

At this business meeting the new President appointed committees to draw up a set of by-laws and to put in operation an administrative plan for placement bureaus. It was decided that the faculty advisor will be chosen at a future date.

Delta Sigma Pi's purpose is: to 1) establish a subsidiary placement bureau to be operated in conjunction with the University vocational office, 2) to bring speakers and special films to the campus stressing professionally commercial ends, and 3) to conduct tours to leading industries of the state which will be open to all interested.

Established here in 1925, this honorary fraternity went out of existence in 1934 only to be revived this year by a group of students headed by Warren Haddaway. It now contains 20 members and 5 pledges.

Ticket Winners

Battle-Vance-Pettigrew dormitory and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity were winners in the contest for representative attendance at recent campus inaugural ceremonies it was announced yesterday.

Only those members of the two organizations present at the inaugural will receive free theater tickets offered by E. C. Smith as rewards for representation.

Bob Crystal Chosen To Head Student Party Next Year

Honored

Dr. William B. MacNider, dean of the University Medical school who was this week elected to the National Academy of Sciences, the most exclusive scientific society in the nation.

OTHER OFFICERS TO BE NAMED AT FALL MEETING

Crystal Succeeds Mitchell Britt As Party Leader

By BUCK GUNTER

The Student party last night unanimously elected Bob Crystal as chairman of the party for next year. The other officers will be named at a meeting to be held at the beginning of next year.

Mitchell Britt, who has been acting chairman of the party since the resignation of Bill Cole, presided over the meeting.

Crystal has worked with the Student party since its origin three years ago.

Statement

In taking over the reins of the party, Crystal stated:

"I am going to keep the party ideals and keep democracy on the campus, and continue the policy of letting the campus vote for men put up as candidates by the Student party.

"I just want to remind the campus of the ideals of the party, and that democracy is our watchword."

Praise

Crystal said that he had "only the highest praise for Mitchell Britt and Bill Cole, and I am going to fill their shoes as capably as I can."

The new chairman stated that he wanted a correction of the misunderstanding on the campus concerning fraternities in the Student party.

"Fraternities have no interest in the party," he said, "except as individual people, and any fraternity man elected to an office by the Student party is elected by a popular acclaim of the student body, which the Student party represents."

PU Board Selects Business Managers For Coming Year

In a joint meeting yesterday of the old and the newly elected members of the PU Board, business managers for the four publications were chosen. The new appointees are: Buccaneer, Alex Fonvielle; Yackety-Yack, Fred Rippey; Carolina Magazine, Bobby Davis; Tar Heel, Clem Humphries.

It was announced at the meeting that the Yackety-Yack will not be ready for distribution until July 25. Copies will be mailed to seniors and all others who will not return next year. The method or time of distribution for the rest of the student body has not yet been decided.

Harrelson Asks For Time For Consideration

By BOB PERKINS

A general student strike was averted at State college last night when Col. J. W. Harrelson, head of the Raleigh division of the University, asked that the students give the faculty until Tuesday to fully consider the request for removal of the ban on the final commencement dance.

With the promise of Colonel Harrelson that every angle of the question would be investigated, student leaders went about yesterday evening persuading students already assembling for a huge mass rally to give the faculty council "one last chance."

High Feeling

Since the burning of E. L. Cloyd, dean of students, in effigy Tuesday night, sentiment has risen to a fever pitch among some 1200 of the 1800 students enrolled at State as the day passed without any active action being taken by the faculty.

Colonel Harrelson attempted to check the possibility of a strike when he spoke before some 700 students at freshman assembly during the morning. His principal objection to any further move was based on an argument set forth against the general consolidation plan of President Frank Graham some two years ago.

He called to their attention that a survey was made of State college by a group of authorities who reported that the school had a rating no higher than the average junior college, and

NATIONAL ORDER PICKS M'NIDER FOR MEMBERSHIP

National Academy Of Sciences Honors Med School Dean

Dr. William B. MacNider, dean of the University Medical school and widely recognized authority on kidney diseases, especially bright's disease, was this week elected to the National Academy of Sciences, in Washington, the most exclusive scientific society in the nation.

Dr. MacNider became head of the Medical school last September 1 upon the resignation of Dr. Charles S. Mangum.

Research

During the World war, Dr. MacNider's studies were used as the basis of treatment for nephritis among soldiers. His latest research, detecting tissue changes as the result of old age, has attracted considerable attention.

Dr. MacNider is a member of the National Board of Medical Examiners and a number of scientific societies. He has had an unusually long list of papers published, and has spoken on numerous occasions before learned societies.

In 1918 Dr. MacNider became a Kenan professor of pharmacology, and in 1924 he was made a Kenan research professor in pharmacology.

A member of the Class of 1901, Dr. MacNider acted as instructor and laboratory assistant since 1899, before his graduation. He was awarded his M.D. in 1903, at the old Raleigh branch of the University Medical school, now non-existent.

At various times Dr. MacNider has taken graduate work at the University of Chicago, Johns Hopkins and Western Reserve universities.

He was born in Chapel Hill in 1881.

President Graham In Again, Out Again For Another Speech

Stops Long Enough On Campus to Autograph Egg For Duke Neophytes

President Graham returned yesterday from Annapolis, where he spent several days inspecting the United States Naval Academy as a member of the board of visitors, and left almost immediately for Boone, where he will make the commencement address at Appalachian State Teachers College today.

While here Dr. Graham was approached by two fraternity initiates from Duke, who asked him to autograph an egg which they carried in an envelope.

President Graham will return Friday night or Saturday.
