DI NOMINATES NEW OFFICERS

Senate To Hold Social Tuesday

The Dialectic senate held nominations for next year's officers last night when they met in New West. Those nominated were: For president—William Cochrane, Sam Hobbs and Clarence Kluttz; president pro-tem—Senators Bonner, Kluttz and Busby; critic—Senators Putzel, Kleeman and Kantrowitz; clerk—Quarles and Howard; and sergeant-at-arms—Rittenberg, Hand and Link. Elected also, from a group of freshman speakers, were Senators Hand and Kantrowitz to serve as the Di's representatives in the annual Di-Phi debate. Gordon Duggar will serve as an alternate. The senate approved a bill favoring the abolishment of compulsory military training in colleges. A social in the banquet room of Graham Memorial will follow the regular meeting of the senate next Tuesday. Each senator may bring one guest and the group will have the use of the game room between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Bradshaw Speaks At Conference (Continued from first page) terracial conference is evidence that a growing spirit of cooperation between the two races is flourishing and this fact places such meetings among the most important things happening in the United States today. Yesterday's program included discussions and reports by R. B. Downs, University librarian, and representatives from a number of other universities and colleges. Mr. Downs reported that there are now 10,000 volumes on race relations in the libraries of Duke and Carolina and suggested that these books be duplicated and supplied to other institutions for the use of Negro teachers, study groups and students. Sketches of prominent Negro educators were presented by various members of the delegation. 10

PHI ASSEMBLY TO HOLD PICNIC

Group Favors Reorganization

Members will be encouraged to bring their own beer to the Phi picnic to be held next Monday night, it was decided at the Phi meeting last night. Committee members Billy Broadfoot, Claire Whitmore, and Ed Maner will be at the YMCA this week at 10:30 for the convenience of Phi members who wish to pay the price of admission which will not be over 25 cents. At the meeting, John Rankin brought up the motion that a key be awarded to the most prominent woman member. The motion was not accepted at the wish of the co-eds. Representative Ben Dixon spoke on the bill, Resolved: that the Phi go on record as favoring the President's re-organization bill. Claire Whitmore and John Rankin brought up, and disposed of the dictatorial aspects of the new re-organization. The bill was passed 20-2. Representative Edith Gutterman reported on the bill, Resolved: that the Phi assembly approve the acceptance of co-eds into the University for four undergraduate years. After heated debate, the bill was accepted 16-6. All freshmen who wish to represent the Phi in the annual Di-Phi debate should get in touch with the officers of the Phi. The debate will be held two weeks from yesterday. 32

NORVO-BAILEY ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY FOR SET

Program In Kenan Stadium Friday Also Planned

By MISS JANE HUNTER Climaxing Senior Week and its full program of festivities, Juniors and Seniors will dance Friday and Saturday to the music of Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey and their orchestra. The new gymnasium will be inaugurated as the dance spot for Carolina party-goers, as Norvo's "soft, subtle swing" swings on. Opening the set with a tea dance in the gymnasium Friday afternoon, America's "Mr. and Mrs. Swing" will hold forth during the Junior Prom that night and during the tea dance and Senior ball Saturday. They will also play in Kenan Stadium during the picnic on Friday afternoon after the tea dance, Joe Patterson announced yesterday.

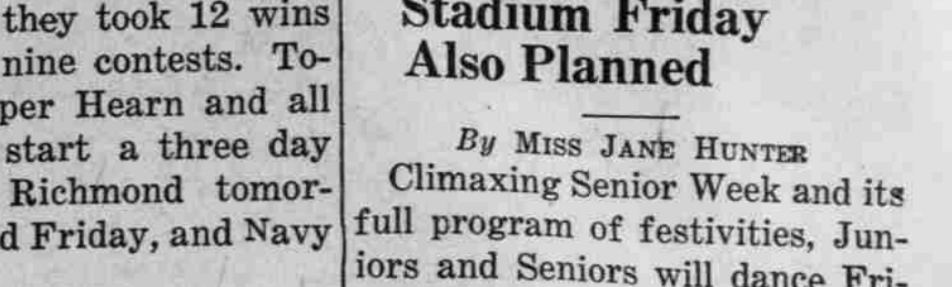

Was With Whiteman

Red Norvo, known as the world's finest xylophone player, and Mildred Bailey, the "Rockin' Chair Lady," have played and sung with Paul Whiteman for several years. They have both been featured over the Mutual Coast-to-Coast network, broadcasting from Chicago's famous Blackhawk Cafe, where both Kay Kyser and Hal Kemp made national reputations as the most popular orchestras among schools and colleges. Norvo's theme song, which is as yet untitled, was written by Red and Mildred Bailey last summer. Crossing Brooklyn Bridge in their car one day, Mildred Bailey started humming a catch phrase of melody. Red immediately jotted it down on an envelope. When he got home, he worked over the tune a while, and now radio listeners throughout the country hear it at the beginning and end of every Norvo broadcast. Stellar Swingsters With the leader and the songstress of the band will be featured Herbie Haymer, famous "hot" saxophone man, Stew Fletcher, ace trumpeter, Pete Peterson, star bass player, clarinetist Hank D'Amico, and other stellar swingsters. Bill Miller, pianist for the Norvo-Bailey band, does some of the arranging and is responsible for several song hits, including the college favorite "Riffin' at the Ritz."
