On The Air

By WALTER KLEEMAN

NOTE—If shipwrecked on a desert island, 103 seniors voted for a radio as a companion, as against 40 votes for books, and nine apiece for movies and newspapers. Six voted for women, one '38 man mentioning Alice Faye. (Figures from the recent poll conducted by the Alumni Review.)

3:15—Brian Field broadcasts the Acorn Stakes from Belmont Park over WDNC.

6:30—Living History over WDNC presents the stories of two early settlements, Delaware and Rhode Island.

7:00—Your choice of Cavalcade of America, WCAU or One Man's Family over WLW.

7:30—Prof Quiz guests for Ben Bernie and Lew Lehr on WHAS while Tommy Dorsey & Co. scintillate over WPTF.

8:00—Grace Moore, Kostelanetz' music, Deems Taylor, plus Chester Watson, for the musically minded over WDNC; Town Hall's usual collection of lousy ordinances read by Fred Allen, WPTF.

8:30—Recommended: concert by the Boston Pops Orchestra on KDKA.

9:00—Kay Kyser, back after illness which caused a collapse a couple of weeks ago, with his faculty over WPTF; Gang Busters catch a few more bad men on WCAU.

9:30—Try the songs of Jack Shannon and Ruth Carhart from WDNC.

10:30—Horace Heidt's guitars and orchestra over WPTF.

11:00—Perhaps we shouldn't mention it, but Red Norvo comes to you over WCAU.

11:30—We shudder at the thought: Lights Out tells the story of an insane woman's revenge over WSB.

Women first participated in international Olympic games in 1908, when five events for women were included on the program.

Tennis Team Ends Season

(Continued from page three) one and tied the other 5-5. Davidson in turn was blanked 9-0, and the men made ready to invade Yankee-land.

Beginning at the Massachusetts home of Williams college the fair name of Tar Heel tennis players was slowly tainted and match scores went from close to worse. Williams backed away reluctantly 7-2, and the next day Harvard barely conceded defeat, 5-4. Then a new dawn brought reckoning, and a perfect three-year record was spoiled as Yale won a 5-4 match. One day later, tired by the constant touring and slightly discouraged, Kenfield's men were again beaten, this time by the Princeton Tigers, 7-2.

Hitting the come-back trail, the Carolinians - in - the - North blasted NYU 9-0 to end the series of disasters, and then went on to take the last meet of the tour from Lehigh 8-1.

Not So Bad

In tournament play, for the season, the squad did well for itself and took four titles. Frank Farrell, elected co-captain together with Johnny Foreman before the North trip, copped the singles crown in the State meet and teamed with Bill Rood to take the doubles honors. In the Southern conference tourney, Foreman won the singles championship and together with Zan Carver obtained the doubles title.

Even Kenfield cannot say what the future holds for his men, but the prospects are considered to stack up with those bestowed upon this year's team. Co-captains Farrell and Foreman hand the squad its major catastrophe, as neither will be back, having completed four years of collegiate tennis playing.

Print To Fit . . .

(Continued from page three) nine for non-support as the New York sports writers might say. Daffy has a good case. In the Duke set he pitched two swell ball games and lost both of them. His mates didn't back him up in the field or at bat. The first game was lost 4-1, the second 5-3. That 5-3 battle, the last of the series, was a pure give-away.

Daffy, who was pitching with a bad arm most of the season, came around with a bang in the Duke set to come up with his old time curves that broke all over the ball park. He ought to have a great season next spring.

Nomination for the Big Five ball player of the year—Eric "The Red" Tipton of Duke. Against Carolina he hit three home runs. Eric is only a junior, and by the time he graduates he should be ready to jump into the Philadelphia Athletics' outfield. But he'll probably go to the A's whether he's ready or not.

Track Captains Elected

(Continued from page three) prised all by announcing the engagement of Coach Dale Ranson. Coach Ranson, whose bride-to-be is Miss Etta McDaniel of Maysville, will be married Sunday afternoon.

After the track supper, which was given by the ladies of the parish house and Rev. A. S. Lawrence and served by co-eds, Captain Rube Graham presided. The speakers were Dr. Lawrence, who read his own poem about the conference meet last Saturday; Lionel S. Weil, sponsor of the Carolinas' record breakers' club; Coaches Bob Fetzer, Johnny Morriss, Dale Ranson and R. B. Lawson; and Drs. Cornwell, Harland and Caldwell. In addition to the trackmen and speakers Coaches Bill Lange and P. H. Quinlan and Harry March, Sr., were present.

Two Carolina Coeds Judged Winners Of Sociology Prize

Misses Smith and Dalton Are Joint-Winners Of Annual $25 Award

Misses Virginia E. Smith and Sarah Dalton, University coeds, are this year's joint-winners of the sociology prize of $25 awarded by the local chapter of Chi Omega fraternity. The prize will be awarded during commencement.

"The Southern Mill Village" was Miss Smith's topic; Miss Dalton's paper was titled "The Industrial Community in the South." The department of sociology selected the subject for the paper and acted as judges in determining the winners.

This annual prize is open to undergraduate women writing the best paper on some subject of sociology or public administration.

German Fraternity Elects New Leaders

Charles Vilbrandt was elected president of Delta Phi Alpha, German honorary fraternity, at the society's last meeting of the year. Other officers chosen were Charles Putzell, vice-president, and Leah Robinson, secretary.

At the meeting, Dr. Richard Jente presented three awards for outstanding work in German to Virginia Redfern, Charles Vilbrandt, and Olin Borum.

Swalin Will Be Guest Conductor Tonight

Dr. Benjamin Swalin of the University music department will be the guest conductor of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra in a concert to be given at Greensboro tonight. The soloist for the occasion will be Harold Cone, pianist, in the Schumann "Concerto."

Other selections on the program will include "Overture to Leonore," Beethoven; Suite No. 1, "L'Arlesienne," Bizet; "Pavane pour une infante defunte" and "Bolero" by Ravel.

Mr. Swalin and Mr. Cone collaborated recently in a similar concert of the University Symphony orchestra in Hill Music hall.

Records Office Has Grades For Students Getting Degrees

Degree Applicants Can Get Marks In Office Between 8:30 and 4 O'clock

Students who expect to get degrees this year may get their grades from a list prepared by the Central Records Office and available there any time between 8:30 and 4:30 as soon as instructors turn in their reports.

The Records office further asked that all degree applicants come by the office at their convenience to see if they have any courses to clear before commencement.

"Some of the Inc's., E's, and Abs., appearing on our list may have been cleared and we have failed to get reports on them. We would like to get all back grades, if possible, cleared before examinations for this quarter begin," the statement continued. 7
