36 NEW MEMBERS ARE TAKEN INTO PHI BETA KAPPA

Last Year's Eligibility Rulings Raises Standards

Thirty-six new men take their place this year along side the University's best scholars in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity.

Led by President Lawrence Hinkle, the local fraternity last spring successfully drafted new eligibility rules which make membership in the University chapter an even greater honor than it was in the past. Under new rulings half of the eligible juniors are chosen solely on the basis of scholarship by a committee of Phi Beta Kappa faculty members. The other half are selected by active members of the local chapter on the basis of scholarship and other considerations.

No Repeat

Another section of the new ruling prohibits students from repeating courses for the purpose of making themselves eligible for membership in the fraternity. Grade requirements are not affected by revised rules.

This year's officers, automatically elected because of their top grade ratings, are: Charles Frank Vilbrandt of Blacksburg, Va., president (with a three years' average of 97.37); Charles Jackson Starnes of Asheville, N. C., vice-president (96.94).

Library Opens Today

University library will be open beginning today from 8:15 in the morning until 11:00 at night on week-days, and from 2:00 to 6:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Swing Music Is Added To Band's Repertoire

Swing tunes will be added to the classical and march pieces played by the University band on the programs this year according to Bob McManeus of Charlotte, president of the band.

Sixteen new uniforms have been given the band by the Athletic association which makes the organization now a hundred piece unit. Many of the instruments have been refinished and replated.

Prospective new band members had try-outs last Wednesday and Thursday, and much new talent was discovered.

Band rehearsals this year will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7 o'clock. First rehearsal will be next Tuesday.

SWIMMING POOL TO OPEN MONDAY

Everyone Required To Have New Exam

Carolina's new Bowman Gray Memorial pool will be open for the fall quarter Monday, according to Assistant Director of Athletics A. S. Shepard, but will not open this weekend, due to registration.

A new swimming schedule has been set and everyone using the pool, including students, faculty and outsiders, are required to have new physical examinations. Students other than freshmen are asked to report at the infirmary for physical examinations following registration; a schedule for other examinations will be announced later, according to Dr. W. R. Berryhill, University physician.

YMCA HAS MANY PLANS FOR COMING SCHOOL YEAR

Human Relations Institute And Christian Council Considered

The YMCA has many new plans for the 1938-39 school year at Chapel Hill, according to Brooks Patton, Y president, but they have not yet been settled definitely.

Last week-end annual Freshman Retreat turned out to be a real success. It began Friday night with a banquet for a hundred freshmen who were entertained by three speakers: Dr. O. K. Cornwell, Dean House and Dean Bradshaw. Dean Spruill and advisors were present with ten upperclassmen and some ministers.

Discussion Groups

Saturday morning started with a devotional followed by four discussion groups led by members of the faculty: "Scholarship and Intellectual Development" by Dr. E. Bagby; "Religious Emphasis" by Dr. E. L. Mackie; "Friendship and Social Development" by Dr. Meyer; and "Campus Activities and Development of Citizenship" by J. M. Saunders. These groups were well attended.

On Sunday morning a summary of all the meetings was led by Francis Fairley, president of the student body three years ago. Fairley will be in Chapel Hill this winter as advisor to the Freshman friendship council. Later Sunday morning a service was held in the Presbyterian church where Dr. Walter Kirkland Green, dean of undergraduate instruction at Duke university, gave a sermon on "Building a Philosophy."

Campus Tour

At two p. m. a tour of the campus was led by the upperclassmen and at five p. m. there was a reception at Dean House's residence, attended by Dean Spruill and advisors. Sunday night a meeting was held for the organization of the Freshman friendship council and the following officers were elected: William T. Martin, Raleigh, president; Bill Shore, Charlotte, vice-president; Charles Reese, Winston-Salem, secretary; and Bill Cody, Charlotte, treasurer.

Biggest plan of the YMCA for the coming year is in connection with the Human Relations Institute, acting to bring together authorities in special fields to talk and discuss with students about problems of world interest.

Student Christian Council

Another of the plans is the establishment of a council to be called "Student Christian Council" in order to create a closer union between the Y and churches of Chapel Hill.

First meeting of the year will be Monday and all members of

TWO MEN ADDED TO DRAMATIC ART STAFF RECENTLY

Earl Wynn, Elmer Hall, Replace Bailey And Selden

Two new members, Earl Wynn of Northwestern and Elmer Hall of Boston, have been added to the staff of the department of dramatic art over the summer, it was announced yesterday.

Wynn is to replace Howard Bailey, who has taken a position in Rollins college, Florida. He will take charge of Bailey's courses in speech and dramatic literature. A native of Illinois, Wynn received his M.A. at Northwestern university where he instructed and worked under the personal direction of Hubert Heffner, formerly of the University, who recommended him to this post, for two years.

Wynn has worked in and around the theater since 1927 and is interested in voice. The department has secured sound recording equipment from Chicago to be used under his direction.

Hall for Selden

Elmer Hall will temporarily replace Sam Selden, who is away for a year on a Guggenheimer fellowship, and will instruct Harry Davis's classes. Davis is to handle those ordinarily taught by Selden. Hall is to be technical director of the Playmakers, having studied designing and technical stage work at Emerson college in Boston. He has had many years of professional acting behind him with experience with the Lakewood Players, foremost summer theater in America, and a number of stock companies.

Fred Walsh of N. C. State and Fred Koch, Jr. have been given two of the four graduate assistantships that are granted yearly.

Entertainment In Swain Hall Ends Orientation Week

Homecoming Day Is Planned For October 8

Homecoming Day has been set for October 8, announced J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the University alumni association, who has been making plans for the occasion.

Tulane again will furnish the opposition for Carolina in the football game that is the feature of the day. Other festivities will be the traditional decoration contests between fraternities and dormitories sponsored by the University club, and a reunion of alumni wearers of NC, sponsored by members of the Student monogram club.

The Carolina inn will be headquarters for the various alumni gatherings being planned for the week-end.

OLDEST ALUMNUS TITLE CHANGES

Rev. Prout, Class Of '65, Dies

The passing of summer saw the title of "oldest living University alumnus" change hands. The Rev. William C. Prout of Middleville, N. Y., former title holder, and graduate of class of 1865, died early this month.

The title now passes on to two alumni—Peter Mitchell Wilson and Thomas S. Norfleet, both having enrolled in 1865. However, by virtue of age, the former might be considered the "oldest alumnus" since he is 90, and the latter is 89. Mr. Wilson is from Washington, D. C., and Mr. Norfleet from Roxobel, N. C.

Rev. Prout was 90 years of age at the time of his death and was the surviving member of his class; in fact, he constituted the entire class at the University during his senior year, the war taking the other members into service.

Though Peter Wilson is the oldest living alumnus, George McCorkle, an official of the Federal Trade commission in Washington, holds the title of "oldest living graduate." In 1868 the University was forced to close its doors and neither Mr. Wilson nor Mr. Norfleet graduated here. Mr. McCorkle was in the second graduating class after the school's reopening in 1875.

Both Rev. Prout and Mr. Norfleet attended the commencement exercises and reunions held in Chapel Hill last spring.

Annual Affair Held Under Direction Of Jim Joyner

Freshman orientation week, annual affair held this year for the class of 1942, was completed yesterday under chairmanship of Jim M. Joyner, University student body president.

Assisting Joyner were Fred Rippy, secretary-treasurer of the student body, 13 faculty advisors for first year men, and approximately 35 upperclass counselors.

The week of orientation was officially begun Monday morning at nine o'clock with a meeting of the entire freshman class with advisors and counselors in Memorial hall. Official welcome was made by President Jim Joyner, Dean R. B. House, Dean C. P. Spruill, and Dr. W. R. Berryhill of the University infirmary staff. President Frank Graham, being out of town at the time, was unable to welcome the new students. After the general meeting, the group was divided into teams which faculty advisors took aside for advice and interviews.

Dean's Reception

The rest of the day, taken up by placement tests and tours of the campus, was followed by the deans' reception held in Graham Memorial at 8 p. m. Tuesday. New men were urged to consider the honor system seriously, with informal discussions following upperclassmen's talks. A smoker sponsored by University club was held in Swain hall Tuesday night, at which campus leaders spoke.

Wednesday morning found freshmen standing in long lines for registration in Woolen gymnasium. During the day counselors called upon freshmen in their rooms and asked them to sign the honor pledge. A general assembly of the class was held at 8:00 p. m. in Memorial hall.

Week Concluded

Orientation week was concluded Thursday night at 8:30 in Memorial hall with a meeting of the new men for college night entertainment.

Members of the faculty who assisted in orientation and who will be advisors to the new men for the next two years are: C. P. Spruill, dean and chief advisor; S. G. Sanders, S. T. Emory, Cecil Johnson, M. A. Hill, J. W. Huddle, G. B. Phillips, W. D. Perry, W. S. Wells, Roy Armstrong, Ben Husbands, M. L. Jacobs, and I. W. Rose.
