Fry Resigns As Dorm Head

VICE-PRESIDENT WALES SUCCEEDS TO PRESIDENCY

Bill Hill Chosen For Vacated Post By Councilmen

At a meeting of all dormitory presidents held last night in Graham Memorial, Tom Fry, who was elected president of the Interdormitory Council last spring, resigned in favor of Charles "Puddin" Wales vice-president.

Fry, presiding at the first part of the meeting, said that due to heavy scholastic work he was unable to devote what he thought would be sufficient time to his duties as president of the council. "I have enjoyed working with you all and I regret having to resign, but I can commend "Puddin" as most worthy for the position.

"Let me urge your help and cooperation; if the whole council will work with him, this can be the best year it has ever known. I offer my support wholeheartedly to everything you may do during the year."

Hill Elected

Wales was unanimously accepted by the council and presided over the election of a vice-president to succeed himself. Bill Hill president of Lewis dormitory was elected, defeating Bill Pearson, president of Everett.

It was decided, in accordance with previous plans, to elect all dormitory athletic officers and floor councillors last night. Results were not available until after the TAR HEEL went to press.

Lee Shanor was introduced by Fred Weaver as a representative from the students in the Strowd, Sutton and Whitaker buildings. This is the first town representation in the council. He was welcomed by Wales.

Future Plans

Plans of the coming year were discussed including ideas for decorations of dormitories on the homecoming game with Tulane and free shows for dormitory residents.

Wales adjourned the meeting with his expression of wishes for a successful year and asked the help of the whole council.

GRAHAM DENIES HE IS SLATED FOR ISLE POST

Discounts Rumors Concerning Puerto Rico Governorship

Newspaper reports that Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University, was being considered by President Roosevelt for the governorship of Puerto Rico was denied yesterday by Dr. Graham.

"I know nothing whatever about it," he said, and sources close to President Graham stated that he would not leave the University.

Not Surprising

The president has been close to the Washington administration and has served in important capacities, and the report that he was being considered for the insular post is not surprising.

He was a member of the educational committee and vice chairman of the consumers advisory committee of the NRA, and held the chairmanship of the advisory committee on social security. Dr. Graham was also a member of the committee that framed the report on the south which the national emergency council recently submitted.

Since Dr. Graham has denied his supposed appointment, it could not be learned last night who might be slated for the post.

LEAGUE FINALLY SAYS TACKLE'S SLATE IS CLEAN

Article 12 Not Interpreted To Cover Ship Teams

By WILLIAM L. BEERMAN
Gates Kimball, star sophomore tackle on the varsity football team, was declared eligible for intercollegiate competition late yesterday afternoon by action of the Southern conference executive committee.

"The reason for this decision," Dean Hobbs said late last night, "is that the committee interpreted the clause covering this situation as not including battleship teams."

The decision was immediately forwarded to Chapel Hill by Dr. W. H. Wannamaker, of Duke university, president of the Southern conference and head of the executive board.

Status Questioned

For several weeks Kimball's status was unknown, mainly because of the newspaper publicity given him. It was known that several members of the Southern conference had declared three players ineligible because they had played football on service teams while in the Army. Kimball, serving in the Navy in 1935 and 1936, had played shipboard football on the U. S. S. Idaho, and sports writers began questioning his right to participate in intercollegiate football because of Article 12 of the conference constitution.

However, no official action was taken, and no one registered a complaint with the executive board or asked for a ruling. Voluntarily, the University turned to the committee and asked that a decision on Kimball be made. President Wannamaker sent complete case histories to the three other members of the board, Fletcher (Washington and Lee), Cowper (Virginia Military Institute), and Hobbs
