

Tar Heels Open Season Against Deacons

Yearly Crop Of Rah-Rah Boys

RUSH INVITATIONS WILL BE ISSUED OVER WEEK-END

Fraternity Code Of Ethics Is Released For Publication

Fraternity invitations to freshmen will be delivered to the rooms of new men Saturday night and Sunday morning, according to John Moore, president of Interfraternity council.

Since bids must be signed for by either the addressee or his room-mate, all freshmen are asked to remain in their rooms between 7:30 and 9 o'clock Saturday evening and early Sunday morning. This will prevent the loss of many bids which has been a problem in recent years, when bids were merely put under the doors.

Moore also asked freshmen not to make their first dates too long or they will be unable to revisit some of the houses after the first day.

Education Classes Will Be Held On Saturday Mornings

A meeting of all those interested in the Saturday morning classes of the division of education will be held this morning at 9 o'clock in Peabody 123 instead of at 9:30 as announced on the printed University schedule for the organization of courses.

These classes are in line with the policy of the more progressive universities which are offering night and Saturday classes for those who cannot attend at other times. The classes which include principals and teachers in active work were begun last year. The division expects an enrollment of approximately 125.

The classes which meet two hours each Saturday carry two and one-half hours credit and two courses may be carried at one time. Further material can be secured from the office of the division of education.

Of especial importance is a half course for teacher-librarians which will count toward a Bachelor of Arts degree and a library science certificate for teacher-librarians, but will not count towards the professional degree of B. A. in library science. The course is taught from 9 to 11 o'clock.

Freddy Johnson, who with his orchestra, will play for the first Grail dance tonight in the Tin Can.

FREDDIE JOHNSON PLAYING AT GRAIL DANCE TONIGHT

Freshmen Are Not To Be Admitted To Informal Affair

Freddie Johnson and his orchestra, after filling resort engagements on the North and South Carolina seacoast, will play for the first fall dance of the Order of the Grail in the Tin Can tonight.

The orchestra will feature the singing of Jimmy Applewhite, baritone-tenor, whose rendition of "Trees" and "Roses of Picardy," has gained him fame on the campus and at the beaches. Swing and conventional music will be played on the program.

The affair, which will be given from 9 to 12 o'clock, will include a Grail no-break and an escort no-break dance during the evening.

Only upperclassmen will be admitted to the dance. Admission will be one dollar, paid at the door. Dress will be informal.

Men who have not tried out for the Glee club may do so between 11 and one o'clock today.

Director Says Prospects For Present Glee Club Are Good

Director

Professor John E. Toms, director of Men's Glee club, who is pleased with the club's prospects for the year.

Professor Toms Starts Year With Group Of 80

"The prospects for this year's Glee club are better than they have been since my arrival at Carolina," said Director John E. Toms of the Men's Glee club, after conducting the men's choral group in the initial rehearsal of the season.

Over 80 men were present at the first meeting of the club last Monday afternoon, of whom about 50 were new members. Tryouts reduced the number to 65, and of this group approximately 45 will be taken on trips scheduled for the club during the coming year. Professor Toms hopes, however, that arrangements can be made to include more men on the trips.

GAME WILL START AT 2:30 TODAY IN KENAN STADIUM

Kimball To Start But Lalanne Will Be On Bench

By SHELLEY ROLFE

Carrying the added burden of defending its first Southern Conference title in three seasons, North Carolina football team fires the first gun in its 1938 campaign at Kenan stadium this afternoon against the upsurging sophomores of Wake Forest. Kick-off time is 2:30.

Only one sophomore, sturdy Gates Kimball at right tackle, will break into the Tar Heel starting line-up. Coach Ray Wolf, piloting his third Carolina team, will field nine lettermen and one reserve in addition to Kimball from last year's team which won seven, lost one, and tied one to finish among the first 20 teams of the nation.

Already One Down

The amazing surge of last year's doormat Deacons, who already this season have a 57-6 lacing of Randolph-Macon under their belts, is reflected by the opinion of most experts around the state who believe Carolina will have to work hard to come

FORMER STUDENT'S DRAMA WINS PLAY COMPETITION

Miss Beverly Hamer Wins International One-Act Award

From London yesterday came the word that Beverly du Bose Hamer, formerly a student in Professor F. H. Koch's play-writing classes, had won in the 1937-38 International One-Act Play competition with her comedy of South Carolina life, "Funeral Flowers for the Bride."

Miss Hamer, who came to Carolina after doing her undergraduate work at Columbia college, Columbia, S. C., received her M. A. here in 1937, using as a thesis a full length play which had been expanded from "Funeral Flowers for the Bride." The three act version of the prize-winning play was produced at N. C. State college, this summer.

The play was also produced this summer by Harry Davis of the Playmakers who directed a summer theatre at Nantucket, R. I., this year. George Pembroke, an English actor in the United States for the Lost Colony production at Manteo, heard about the play and brought it to the attention of the judges, who selected it along with two others out of the 266 entries submitted in this year's competition.

A new book by Professor Koch to be published soon by D. Appleton-Century Co. in New York will include the play. The book, American Folk Plays, will comprise plays from every section of the nation, and Miss Hamer's comedy will represent South Carolina.

Student Section

Athletic office requests that all students enter gate 6 on south side of stadium this afternoon. Coupon number one will be taken up. All of sections 16, 17, and 18 have been reserved for the student body.

New Buc Business Manager To Be Chosen

Because of a heavy schedule of work in Law school, Alex Fonvielle has been obliged to resign his position as business manager of Carolina Buccaneer.

Publications Union board will meet in the Grail room of Graham Memorial Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock to interview applicants for this position.

Those interested should submit a written application by midnight, Tuesday, to Tim Elliot at the Sigma Chi house.

Band Rehearsal Draws Aspirants For Membership

Largest Crowd In History Of Organization Present For Practice

The largest band in the history of the University held its first rehearsal Tuesday with 59 old members and 50 freshmen and transfer students present. All of these are experienced musicians and are expected to have a predominating, full-dress 100-piece band.

Plans for the year were discussed with the trip to New York to play at the Carolina-Fordham football game being the most outstanding event on the schedule. Plans were also made for the Carolina-Wake Forest and Carolina-State games. A time will be set for marching practice at the regular rehearsal.

Horns

There were 32 clarinets, 27 cornets, 10 trombones, 10 saxophones, six flutes, six bases, six drums, five baritones and four horns represented at Tuesday's practice.

Mr. E. A. Slocum is director of the band and the leaders for this year are Bob McManeus, president; Phil Walker, vice-president; Hubert Henderson, librarian; Norman Stockton, business manager; Bill Weil, publicity manager and Martin Harmon, editor of "Band Notes."

BARCLAY ASKS PEP RALLY CONTINUE SUPPORT OF TEAM

1800 Assemble For First Mass Meet Of Football Season

George Barclay, Carolina's 1934 All-American guard, keynoted talks at the mass pep rally last night in Memorial hall by asking the assembled crowd of approximately 1,800 to back up the 1938 team as they had the Southern conference champions last fall.

George Nethercutt, varsity baseball co-captain and Charley Wood, junior class president, repeated to some extent what Barclay had to say with an emphasis on standing behind the squad at all times.

Jere King and his orchestra gave forth the music and Pat Patterson and his new corps of assistants strutted their stuff in a big cheer meet.

Are You Here?

Before the student directory can go to press in a complete and accurate form it is necessary that the 150 students whose names are missing from the files and the 200 students having changed their residence since registering get in touch with the YMCA office.

Students falling in these classes are asked to give their local address to the YMCA office as soon as possible in order that the student directory may go to press within the next few days.
