"Forward March!"

John Howard takes his marching orders from beautiful Mary Carlisle — and loves it — in "Touchdown, Army," playing today at the Carolina theatre.

Pardon Me, But ...

 inundate the scarred field ... Someone dropped a pin — it crashed with the force of an earthquake ... Then, a sigh of relief, sweeping the bowl ... For a troop of Boy Scouts had gotten into the affray and had the situation well in hand ... The frothy wave subsided reluctantly ... Eleven loyal Tar Heels, equipped with surf boards, were having a tough but glorious time ...

Fleecy white clouds speckled the gray heavens; angels floated amongst them ... "Hark the Sound" twanged softly in symphony arrangement from row after row of harps ... A lone saxophone roamed mournfully over a sympathy arrangement of "I Ain't Got Nobody" for the benefit of hulking Greenies fast turning red ...

Deeply engrossed in the titanic struggle, Bell Tower nearly forgot its main purpose in life ... The hands ran swiftly to catch up with Time, and rang out victoriously when the culprit was captured ...

"Somewhere in this promised land, the sun is shining bright ... Somewhere little children shout, and somewhere hearts are light ... But there is no joy in New Orleans ... Mighty Tulane has passed out ..."

An olive-skinned senorita on roller skates did the Dipsy Doodle in waltz time in the flat upstairs ... A piece of falling plaster kissed the Old Prophet on his bald spot ... Awakened, he was marched off by a large red-nosed gendarme to the city bastille and lodged there on a charge of intoxication ...

 Charles Jonas for Senate by a majority of 492 to 236, and while 218 are at present in favor of Roosevelt for a third term, 545 voted against his reelection.

The question "Could Republicans win the next presidential election by naming a conservative Democrat like Josiah Bailey?" was answered: yes, 192; no, 549.

Harland To Open Archaeological Society Meeting

J. P. Harland, professor of archaeology, will open the sixth annual meeting of the Archaeological society of North Carolina this morning at 10 o'clock in Graham Memorial when he presents an illustrated lecture on tombs of ancient Egypt and Babylonia.

Professor Harland, holder of a Kenan fellowship, has participated in the excavation of some outstanding ancient tombs. He is planning a trip to Greece this winter.

Rev. Douglas L. Rights of Winston-Salem, who has been active in archaeological work, and Joffre L. Coe, a University student from Greensboro who last summer conducted the society's excavations at Hillsboro, Clarksville, Va., and Leaksville, are also slated for speeches.

Giant Pre-Game Rally Attended By 5,000 People

Midst thousands of yelling students, a blaring band, gleaming spotlights, and a gigantic bonfire, a note of optimism ruled Carolina's biggest pep rally of the year last night at Fetzer field as Dean House opened the proceedings with these words: "Step on it, Carolina! I congratulate you on your victory tomorrow."

Other speakers were President Frank Graham, Pete Mullis, and Joe Murnick, who addressed the 5,000 students, scouts, and visitors, and urged student support for the fighting Tar Heels today.

It takes an hour to sing a Chinese song.

Varsity Meets Tulane

 Carolina front wall 12 pounds a man.
 "Tulane was our toughest game last year," Coach Wolf said yesterday, "and they'll be plenty tough tomorrow. We have a game scheduled for 2 o'clock, but I don't know how long we'll be in it. They have a heavy team. Our ball club will open up with everything it has. No, we won't hold anything back for NYU. We'll pass and shoot everything at Tulane if we have to ... One thing is sure, with Adam out and Stirnweiss and Lalanne in for part-time service, our team will enter the game in poor shape."

The game is expected to develop into a battle of sturdy lines and sturdy backs. Lalanne, Stirnweiss, Jack Kraynick, George Radman, and Co-Captain George Watson will tote the ball for Carolina; while Bronco Brunner, Jitterbug Kellog, Buddy Banker, Red Cassibry, Stan Nyhan, who had a 44-yard punting average against Auburn last week, and Leonard Sauer will do the Tulane running.

YES, DOCTOR, I WILL GIVE THEM EACH A QUART OF MILK A DAY, AND DRINK A PINT MYSELF.
