

He Likes Our President, For—

West Throws Bouquets At Graham At Inn Luncheon

Chief Executive of Scouts Praises Greater University Head For Work

By BEN ROEBUCK

Dr. James E. West, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America, who is in Chapel Hill as the foremost guest of region six's four-day jubilee, lauded the University's President Frank P. Graham yesterday.

"Dr. Graham in his understanding of men and his outlook on life is certainly one of the most outstanding men in his field," stated the chief executive yesterday prior to a luncheon at Carolina inn given in his honor by Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary service fraternity.

"I am grateful to the University for having the Scouts and leaders of region six here for the second time; the last time I was here was three years ago and I hope my present stay will be as enjoyable as the last one," continued Chief West.

Chief West has just returned from Kansas City; he came there after a trip to Mexico where he inspected a 35,000 acre expanse in the Rocky mountains which is proposed to be made a Boy Scout ranch.

In discussing youth movements of the world Dr. West stated that in Russia 125,000 youths gather annually at Moscow to take part in the vast government program for the training of youths in various activities centered upon developing high idealism in the younger generation.

"Twenty-seven thousand Boy Scouts came to Washington last year for the National Boy Scout jamboree, the first of its kind. In America we have a highly important youth organization which embodies 1,267,000 youths and leaders, the Boy Scouts of America," pointed out the chief executive.

Dr. West, born in 1876, became the chief executive back in 1911 because of his work under President Theodore Roosevelt in the interest of dependent children. He at first declined the office but later accepted it for six months' trial period which never expired.

The chief executive attributes his success in rounding out a wide program of boys' work to his persistence in carrying out a project for which was one of his great ambitions. His "most inspiring job in the world" and the feeling of optimism it has conveyed upon him has helped him overcome the physical handicaps he had when he entered upon the work.

Dr. West has given his personal support to a reading program for the youth of America. He is the editor of the popular Boy Scout magazine.

A BARGAIN
New 1937 Model
ZENITH
RADIOS

Reduced From
$49 to $35
$35 to $25

Electric Construction
Co.
108 N. Columbia St.

COMMITTEE SETS
RULES FOR ALL
CAROLINA DANCES

Dancers Forced To Abide by Six
New Regulations

The University Dance committee yesterday released the following rules for conduct at all dances given at the University by any campus organizations:

1. The conduct of all dances given in the University shall be completely under the control of the University Dance committee.
2. Any organization giving a dance which in the judgment of the University Dance committee is not up to University standards, shall not be allowed to give a dance for a period of time to be fixed at the discretion of the University Dance committee, in conference with the Faculty Committee on Dances.
3. University Dance committee has the power to suspend from all dances for a period at the discretion of the committee any student, visitor, or alumnus for any misconduct whatever.
4. No one showing signs of drinking will be permitted to remain on the floor.
5. No girls will be allowed to leave the hall during an evening dance unless accompanied by a chaperon.
6. No smoking will be allowed on the dance floor.

W. O. Cooke.

BIRTHDAYS
TODAY

(Please call by the ticket office of the Carolina theater for a complimentary pass.)

- Sam Davis.
- Penelope Donovan.
- J. W. Kennedy.
- J. H. Langston.
- W. S. F. Leifer.
- R. C. Mann.
- R. G. Murchison, Jr.
- Nancy Sitterson.
- W. C. White.
- G. T. Willis.

Grid Star
On Screen

(Continued from Page Six) peek through the glasses. Yep, it was Bill Moore.

So after the game Moore was approached in the dressing room (by the casting director, not Miss Shearer) and in no time at all signed to a contract.

Already Moore has appeared in several pictures, and he occupies a feature role in the coming epic Saturday. When the Tulane game is over, and for thirty cents, you can be the guests of Mr. E. Carrington Smith and see for yourself the handsome profile of a Carolina product.

Incidentally, versatile Mr. Moore has severed his connection with the Los Angeles footballers, and in between movies he now plays with the world champion Washington Redskins.

Alumni President

J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Raleigh, ex-governor of the state, who as president of the University Alumni Association will preside over a business session of the association this morning at 11 o'clock in the Carolina inn.

CHI O'S TO GIVE
SOCIOLOGY AWARD

Subject Will Be Announced Soon

The local chapter of Chi Omega sorority is offering again this year an award of twenty-five dollars to the undergraduate woman student who writes the best paper on some subject in the field of sociology or public administration. The subject is to be decided upon and will be submitted to the student body as soon as possible.

Papers are required to be handed in by May 15 and will be judged by a selected group of faculty members from the Sociology department. The prize will be awarded at commencement.

Each of the 92 chapters of Chi Omega offers this prize every year. Last year on this campus it was won jointly by Bea Dalton and Virginia Smith, both of whom are sociology students. The contest, however, is not limited to sociology majors.

Commemorative Stamp

New three-cent stamps commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Swedes and Finns are now on sale. The stamps are reddish purple and bear a picture of the landing of the settlers and the dates 1638-1938.

Alumnus Pat Gaskins Says—

"To Hell With Alumni, WC Girls; Entertain Students"

Former Buccaneer Editor Talks of Issue Administration Thought Filthy

By SANFORD STEIN

"The purpose of a humor magazine is to entertain the student body. And to hell with the alumni, the townspeople, and the girls at the Woman's college."

The speaker was Pat Gaskins, week-end visitor who was elected editor of the Buccaneer in the spring of 1934. His regime would probably have been no more unusual than that of any other editor, had not his first issue incurred the wrath of the administration.

"They thought it was too filthy to continue," said Pat, "so they suspended publication of the Buccaneer. I admit it was a bit crude, but I never believed it was bad as they claimed. But Dean Bradshaw told me that he'd rather have given each student a year's subscription to the 'Smoke House Monthly' than let them read that June edition."

The following fall, the student council permitted the existence of a humor magazine on the campus, but it had to be subjected to strict censorship and its name couldn't be anything like Buccaneer.

"They wouldn't let me call it Pirate, or Booty, or anything that even suggested a boat. So we finally picked Finjan, which is a Persian word meaning a cup without a handle. It was as clean as the flowers that bloom in the spring, and the loudest publication this school ever had."

The Finjan ran for eight issues, and then it became the Buccaneer again. Gaskins believes that any humor magazine that can be absolutely clean and still be witty is exceptional. "The New Yorker is one of the few. And it takes an exceptional student to appreciate it. Sophistication doesn't go so well at Carolina."

Pat suffered the usual troubles of the editor, particularly in the matter of copy. One month he put out an issue that was a parody of Time. In addition to rewriting most of the stuff turned in, he had to stay up all night, fortified by liquid refreshments, and bang out 10,000 words himself. He considers Bobby Mason, now with the Durham Herald, to have put out the best Buccaneer in 1932-33.

"I come back to Chapel Hill about every three months," revealed Pat. "I sell laboratory equipment and this school is one of my best customers. The campus hasn't changed much since I went to Carolina, except that there's a greater interest in outside affairs and the fellows I used to get potted with every night are no longer here."

"Everyone seems so surprised when they find out what business I'm in. They all thought I was a journalism major, but I really specialized in chemistry. Incidentally, in case anyone remembers that 'how to play contract bridge' article in the June, 1934 Buc, I want to say that I do not play bridge."

Andy Bershak makes his debut as a journalist in the October issue of the Alumni Review.

Bershak is featured as a columnist in the football specials, and his comments in the first of the customary weekly football supplements of the magazine attracted unusual attention.

To Tell the Truth

(Continued from page two)

Then he called a Big Apple (remember this was last year) in the most accredited college style. And when he was tired the old grad sat down in the comfortable chair again, and he called the freshmen back around him.

"Boys," he said, "I just want to tell you one thing before I go. You're in the four best years of your lives. This is just another football game to you, and another week-end of diversion. And you have three years more of them. Take them all in your stride boys . . . and do some studying too. Chapel Hill's a wonderful place, and it's yours just like it used to be mine. Keep it like it is boys, so men like me can come back for a day and see little things like they used to be."

It was getting late and the old grad had a wife waiting at home with his supper. He waved goodbye to the wide-eyed freshmen and waved a kiss to the girls. Then the old grad straightened his suit, fixed his tie, and left.

We're hoping that he comes back to us today and we're hoping that he has as good a time as he thinks we do.

USE LINOIL
FOR ATHLETE'S FOOT
"Beats the Old Scratch"
ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTE
SUTTON DRUG CO.

MILK

THE 4-LETTER PASSWORD
TO HEALTH

2,000 Boy Scouts at the Boy Scout Convention at Chapel Hill know this password! These healthy boys in uniform will consume, during the week-end, approximately 14,000 8-ounce bottles of Grade A, PET DAIRY MILK. Rich, creamy, laboratory-controlled, pasteurized, PET DAIRY MILK is YOUR password to Health . . .

PET DAIRY PRODUCTS
Durham, N. C.

FLOWERS FOR THE GAME AND FOR THE GRAIL DANCE AFTER THE GAME.
FLOWERS OF ALL KINDS MADE INTO THE MOST ATTRACTIVE BOQUETS AND CORSAGES.

See Mr. Smith c/o Thames Clothing Store

DOYLE FLORISTS

110 W. MAIN ST.
Durham

PHONE L-965

PHONE L-965

WELCOME ALUMNI

After You See Carolina Push Over Tulane
Drive in and Let Pure Oil Gas Push
You Home.

PURE OIL SERVICE STATION

BEN STROWD, Proprietor