

Tar Heels Tame Fighting Wildcats, 34-0

Dr. Stakman Leading Academy Speaker

Carolina Passing Attack Clicks As 13 Out Of 16 Are Completed

National Academy Of Science Participants

Dr. Frank B. Lillie Dr. W. B. Scott Dr. E. C. Stakman

Dr. R. G. Harrison Dr. H. V. Wilson Dr. R. E. Coker Dr. W. deB. MacNider

Dr. Frank Lillie of Chicago is academy president, Dr. William Scott of Princeton is a speaker at the Monday afternoon session, Dr. E. C. Stakman will deliver the principal address, Dr. R. G. Harrison is chairman of the National Research Council, Dr. H. V. Wilson and Dr. W. deB. MacNider are the University members, Dr. R. E. Coker is chairman of the University committee on arrangements.

THREE-DAY MEET STARTS MONDAY, WELCOME AT 10

H. V. Wilson And W. deB. MacNider Carolina Members

By BOB BARBER

Contributions to science will be advanced this week as National Academy of Sciences meets here tomorrow through Wednesday at its regular autumn gathering.

Dr. E. C. Stakman of University of Minnesota is featured as the highlight of the meeting because of his address tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in Hill music hall on "Plant Disease Fungi Constantly Evolving New Types." Dr. Stakman is an authority on rusts and smuts causing diseases of cereal plants. His contributions in this field have led to his being made pathologist and agent of the United States department of agriculture as well as head of the section of plant pathology in the experiment station at St. Paul and professor of plant pathology at University of Minnesota. Most significant feature of his work has been his discovery that new races of plant disease fungi are continually evolving.

Dr. Stakman is one of the first to undertake the collection of spores and other drifting materials in the atmosphere, employing aircraft as well as specially designed apparatus attached to fixed points on or near the surface of the earth. His talk will be open to the general public tomorrow night.

The academy meeting is being covered by several well-known newspaper men of the United States, including Howard Blakeslee of the Associated Press, Dr. Frank Thone of the Science Service, William L. Laurence of the New York Times, and John J. O'Neill of the New York Herald-Tribune.

Dr. Frank P. Graham will give the welcoming address at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in Venable hall, and the response will be given by Professor Frank R. Lillie, president of the academy. Dr. Arthur L. Day of Maryland is vice-president of the organization.

Several plans for the entertainment of the members of the Academy have been made by the local committee on (Continued on last page)

National AKG Officer

Margaret Evans, yesterday elected vice president of Alpha Kappa Gamma at the national convention here.

MARGARET EVANS ELECTED OFFICIAL IN NATIONAL AKG

Carolina Girl Is Made Vice President At Convention Here

At a business meeting on the second day of the 11th annual convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma held here this week-end, Margaret Evans was elected to serve as national vice president during the coming year. Other national officers chosen yesterday were Lodena Gaines of the University of South Carolina as president, Jane Royals of Farmville State Teachers college in Virginia as executive secretary, and Nancy McIver of Queens-Chicora college, Charlotte, as recording secretary.

Miss Evans says that the main objective of the conference this week-end has been to stimulate the present chapters in the honorary fraternity, with a view toward probable early addition of new chapters in (Continued on last page)

Maronic's Extra Point Record Kept Clean, 11 Straight

By SHELLEY ROLFE (Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Carolina	Davidson
Palmer	le Iverson
Maronic	lt Graham
Woodson	lg Pennington
Smith	Center McCall
Desich	rg Richmond
Kimball	rb Davis
Kline	rb McClellan
Stirnweiss	qt Warden
Radman	he Benfield
Watson	hb Stair
Kraynick	fb Beatty

RICHARDSON FIELD, Davidson, Oct. 22—After valiantly holding the Tar Heels during the first half, the red shirted football warriors of Davidson fell before superior man-power in the second period this afternoon and lost a Southern conference and Big Five game to the University of North Carolina 34-0 before 6,500 cash customers. The Tar Heels, outplayed

Statistics:

	N. Car	Davidson
First downs	16	9
Yards gained rushing	118	128
Yards lost rushing	18	39
Passes thrown	16	18
Passes completed	13	5
Yards gained passing	209	92
Punting average	35	34
Punt returns	19	5
Kick-off returns	0	87
Penalties	40	30
Fumbles	1	2
Fumbles recovered by	2	1

the first quarter, whipped across a touchdown in the second, three more in the third, and finished with a final six-pointer in the waning moments of play.

After the opening canto, Carolina completely outplayed the home forces. Bossman Ray Wolf of the Tar Heels used the game as a warming up for next Saturday's all-important Duke contest that will decide not only the winner of the state race but of the Southern conference as well by using every man on the bench save three. The Carolinians turned on an aerial attack led by sterling George Stirnweiss and Sweet Jim Lalanne (Continued on Page Three)

Runoff Election Tomorrow Will Write Finis To Freshman Initiation To Carolina Politics

STUDENT UNION PRESENTS ONCLEYS IN JOINT RECITAL

Baritone, Pianist From Greensboro Will Give Program

Paul B. Oncley, baritone, and Mrs. Alma Lissow Oncley, pianist, of the Women's college of North Carolina at Greensboro will give a joint recital, including some of Mrs. Oncley's works, in the lounge of Graham Memorial today at 4:30 under the sponsorship of the Student union.

The program includes:
 Give Me Jesus, I Implore Ye (from St. Mathew's Passion) Bach
 Seven Songs from "Dichterliebe" Schuman
 Mr. Oncley
 Danseuses des Delphes Debussy
 La puerta del Vino Debussy
 Sacramento Turina
 Mrs. Oncley
 Eri tu che macchiavi (from "A Masked Ball") Verdi
 A Clear Midnight Alma Oncley
 Where Go the Boats Muschamp
 Deep River Spiritual, arr. Buleigh
 (Continued on last page)

If You Want To Work—Apply Tomorrow

Any student wishing to work in Kenan stadium during the Duke game and who has not made application, should leave his name at the self-help office tomorrow, Edwin S. Lanier, self-help secretary, announced yesterday.

RACIAL GROUP TO MEET HERE TODAY

Dr. Smith Principal Conference Speaker

Here today at the Interracial conference of the YM and YWCA will be 160 delegates from the various colleges in the state. Kirby Page, who was to speak at the meetings, was compelled to cancel his engagement due to illness. Substituting in his place will be Dr. Sheldon Smith, professor of religious education at Duke university.

Following a short worship service at the morning session at 10:15, Brooks Patten will give an explanation (Continued on page two)

Fate Of Shore And Ward, Presidential Candidates, At Stake

By TOM DEKKER

Final chapter in this year's freshman election will be written tomorrow when the polls are closed in the runoff between Bill Shore and Bill Ward, candidates for president.

In the regular election last Thursday Ward received 197 votes to 151 for Shore and the Student council ruled that another election was necessary. The date was set for tomorrow between the hours of 10 and 3 o'clock.

Last night Shore made the following statement to the DAILY TAR HEEL: He Made A Statement

"We have stated definite objectives which we mean to carry out. These objectives have been plainly and simply stated. We have seen a need for one additional plank in our platform.

"You know and I know that freshman politics have been dirty. There is a way to help remedy this. With the backing of the class of 1942 we shall be able to bring a petition before the student assembly demanding that there be a 100 yard radius around the polls in future Carolina elections. Within that radius there should be no high pressure salesmanship and no glad hands.

"This rounds out our platform. We hope that the whole class will turn (Continued on last page)

STUDENTS PLEDGE AFTER RUSH CLOSE

Dean Of Students Office Submits List

Students pledged through the office of dean of students this fall are:

Willis Carpenter, Jimmy Crews, ATO; A. Emmett Barnes, III, SAE; Richard Roundy, James K. Sheek, Jr., Barton Cross, W. B. Reed, Chi Phi; Ben Long, Boyce Talbert, Graham Hodges, J. D. Grady, W. A. Allen, Jr., Tom Heath, Kappa Sigma; Francis A. Gugert, Chi Psi; Harry Weyher, John Sasser, James P. Thorp, A. L. Hobgood, Jr., Zeta Psi; C. K. Harrell, Phi Delta Theta; Horace Baker, Phi Gamma Delta; Rowland Kennedy, Pi Kappa Alpha; Danny Deaver, Cy Beard, J. G. Pratt, John W. Moore, Jr., Sigma Chi; William Seeman, Richard A. White, Bill Little, Beta Theta Pi; Ben Park, Dudley Cocke, W. Locke McKenzie, Sigma Nu; Sam T. Gregory, Kappa Alpha; Robert O. Torrey, Delta Psi; Louis Smith Harris, TEP.

Amid Hustle And Bustle Of Hurrying Campus

Lone Tombstone Marks Historic Graves

Children And Grandchildren Of Dr. Elisha Mitchell Buried Beneath Shaft

By GLADYS BEST TRIPP

A solitary tombstone stands directly behind the infirmary and Swain hall. Each of the four sides has the name of a child buried during the years 1829 to 1862. Countless students pass the spot every day, and many of them wonder how it came to be there.

Yet it is one of the old markers on a historical campus. Below it are buried four of the children and grandchildren of Dr. Elisha Mitchell, great mathematician and scientist after whom Mount Mitchell was named.

On the spot where Swain hall now stands was Dr. Mitchell's stately colonial home, the first house built for University presidents to live in. It was erected in 1793, the same time that the cornerstone was laid for Old East dormitory. Behind it was a spacious garden filled with native dogwood, many varieties of roses, and lilac bushes.

Buried In Garden

Since it was the custom to bury members of the family in the garden, Dr. Mitchell decided to bury in his garden his two children, Henry Eliot Mitchell, who died in 1842, and Matthew Henry Mitchell, who died in 1829, both six months old. Later after Dr. Mitchell's death on top of Mount Mitchell in 1857, two grandchildren, Richard Mitchell Grant, who died in 1862, at the age of four years and seven months, and Richard Henry Ashe, who died in 1862 at the age of (Continued on page two)

Embryonic Politicians

These ten were nominated for freshman officers. On the front row, Fletcher Mann ran for treasurer; Bill Shore and Bill Ward, still running for president, and Murdock Dunn, presidential nominee.

Across the back, Dudley Cocke, elected vice president; John Diffendal, elected secretary; Bill Schwartz, ran for vice president; Ned Edwards, elected treasurer, and Mack Mackerman, candidate for treasurer.