BAND PLANS NEW DRILL, MANEUVERS

Football bands will view something entirely new and different this afternoon in the way of band maneuvers when the combined Carolina-Duke band takes the field at the half of today's game. The large band of almost 200 pieces will be lead into a cannon formation through which will be shot several surprises. There will be letter formations and spelling on a large scale along with several new and different maneuvers.

Before the game the Carolina band will appear alone with a surprise for admiration and laughter. Director Slocum wired "Tarzan" to ask if he would assist in the band's part of the program. Yesterday morning Mr. Slocum received the following reply: "Unless there is an air raid or some other major calamity you may expect me on Saturday, (signed) Tarzan."

The growth of the University during the years when the late Charles T. Woolen was in charge of the building program was the topic of
