

ASU To Hold Mass Meet Tonight At 8

Protest To Be Made Of Hitler's Attack On Jews, Religion

A mass meeting of the student body to protest Adolf Hitler's current attack on the Jews and other religious groups has been called for Memorial hall at 8 p. m. tonight by the local chapter of the American Student union.

Professor E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science department will address the meeting, which is similar to other demonstrations being held on campuses throughout the nation.

Resolutions will be introduced protesting the recent outburst of barbarism towards German and Austrian Jews. These resolutions will be sent to the German Embassy in Washington where, it is hoped by the sponsors, the growing number of protests will have some effect on Hitler's policies.

The sponsors also hope that mounting protests against Hitler's anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic activity will serve notice on American Nazi groups that the people of the United States do not approve of religious persecution.

The students on this campus are asked by the organizations sponsoring tonight's mass meeting to make known their disapproval of the growing religious persecution in Germany.

GAME PICTURES TO BE SHOWN TONIGHT

Clinic To Be Held In Hill Music Hall

Moving pictures of the Fordham and VPI games will be shown at Coach Ray Wolf's football clinic to be held tonight at 8:15 p. m. in Hill hall.

Wolf said yesterday that he would cut his talk short in order to make time for the pictures of both of the games. Much student interest is expected in the "moral victory" of the Fordham game, and it is known that those who did manage to see the VPI game in spite of the rain saw it under difficulties.

It was again requested by the man-

Exhibitor

Skipper Bowles, soph class president, who admits it takes more than apples and dance orchestras to get a class quorum in Memorial hall. Coeds are to be used as bait this time.

NEW LEGISLATURE TO ADD TEN MORE MEMBERS TONIGHT

Addition To Bring Total Enrollment Up To 48 Members

Tonight at 8 o'clock the newly organized Student legislature will meet to elect ten additional members from organizations not already represented in the legislature. This addition will bring the total number of members to 48 as prescribed in the draft drawn up last year. These new men, with those already selected, will be inaugurated soon after Thanksgiving and will go into action immediately afterwards.

The legislature will operate on much the same order as the state legislature and will be an opening through which any student may present a bill pertaining to campus matters for consideration. This is the first time that

(Continued on page two)

Student Council Issues Statement

Recent discourtesy by a group of University students to a guest speaker of the University brought forth the following statement from the Student Council:

While the council recognizes the right of every student to express his opinions and thoughts in perfect freedom, it maintains that each student has a responsibility of courtesy toward guest speakers. Any discourtesy shown a speaker who is the guest of the University or any of the organizations reflects upon the entire student body. Such discourtesy is not in keeping with the spirit of gentlemanly behavior which every Carolina student takes upon himself when entering the University. It cannot be tolerated. There is always a proper time for the expression of opinion, but due respect for guests of the University must be maintained throughout their stay on the campus. The council hopes that in the future speakers will be treated with courtesy becoming the students of the University of North Carolina. Any further impolite or discourteous acts must be severely dealt with.

FRED RIPPY, JR.,
Sec.-Treas. Student Body.

Class Voting Suggestions Are Passed On By Student Council; Sophs Decide To Exhibit Coeds

Second Year Men To Assemble At 10:30 Tomorrow

Yesterday announcement was made by the student council concerning new suggestions passed by the organization on class budgets. It has been noted in the past that the classes, other than the freshman, have had considerable trouble in obtaining a quorum necessary to pass the budget. For this reason the council passed suggestions to simplify the voting.

In the future, the budgets, as submitted to classes for approval, will be drawn up by the respective class executive committee and will be submitted to the DAILY TAR HEEL who will publish this in its entirety for three consecutive days. After these three printings, a meeting of the class will be held at Memorial hall. The executive committee will hear any suggestions for changes at this meeting, and will act on these suggestions according to their own judgement.

FINAL FORM OF BUDGET

When the final form of the budget has been devised, reply cards will be sent to each member of the class with the two statements "I approve of the class budget" and "I do not approve of the class budget." The statement with which the individual agrees desire, will be checked, then, and the card returned to the executive committee. Finally, the vote will be tallied if a sufficient number of cards are returned. A majority of the class must approve. This method is to be used at the discretion of the class executive committee.

This action will supposedly take care of much of the trouble, money, and uncertainty on the budget votes. Today in this issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL appears the budget of the senior class, who has approved the suggestion of the student council.

GLEE CLUB WILL PRESENT CONCERT

Program Is In Hill Hall Saturday Night

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Professor John E. Toms, will present its annual fall concert in Hill Music hall Saturday night at 8:30.

As a special attraction, the glee club will feature Thomas Edwards, noted tenor soloist, who will sing two groups of songs. After his graduation from the Oberlin conservatory, Edwards served as tenor soloist in one of Cleveland's largest churches and he is now teaching voice in North Carolina. He will appear again at the University when the Chapel Hill Choral club sings Hayden's Oratorio, "The Seasons", in the winter quarter.

PROGRAM

Numbering slightly less than 60 voices, the glee club will include on its program Bach's "Now Thank We All Our God," "Adoramus Te" by Mozart, "The Nightingale" composed by Welkees and a comic number entitled "The Green Eyed Dragon." The identical program will be presented by the club at St. Mary's school in Raleigh on December 3.

Professor Toms stated that this year's organization is larger and better balanced than those of the past few seasons and he adds, "We are expecting a large crowd Saturday night and we feel confident that with the assistance of Mr. Edwards the concert should be one of the most successful the group has given in Chapel Hill."

Future Budgets To Be Drawn Up And Published

Ignoring a system for budget passing branded by sophomore class leaders as "new and expensive" as set up by the student council Tuesday night, the sophomore executive committee met the same evening and decided to use coed sponsors in an attempt to get a majority of second year men to approve its suggested financing outline for the school year at its meeting tomorrow morning at 10:30 in Memorial hall.

In addition to presenting the customary campus orchestra at a class meeting, 20 University coeds will be exhibited on the stage of Memorial hall, their presence is expected to result logically in a large attendance of male Carolina students.

The beauties who will supplement the music of Freddie Johnson and his orchestra are: Janet Lawrence, Molly Albritton, Ann Nash, Virginia Kibler, Carolyn Miller, Betty Norcross, Peggy Sabine, Jane Hunter, Sara "B" Dalton, Merriam Durrett, Lois Barnes, Lucy Bell Eckles, Lucy Easley, Bobby Winton, Fran Caldwell, Jerry Meek, Nell McIntyre, Lib Warren, Altajane Holden, and Louise Jordan.

The following statement was issued jointly by Skipper Bowles, class president, and Chuck Jenkins, chairman of the sophomore executive committee: "It seems that a class can't get a quorum without having apples as bait. Instead of giving you sophomores a stomachful, we'll give you an eye-ful and an ear-ful. We sincerely hope that enough members of our class will appear to pass the budget in Memorial hall tomorrow morning as all negotiations for Yackety-Yack space and our spring dance will necessarily be held up lacking a majority of the class to consider and pass the finance plan."

MISS FONTANNE TALKS IN LOUNGE

War Nurse Asks For Help For Loyalists

Miss Dorothy Fontanne, formerly with the Rockefeller Institute in New York and helper of Dr. Alexis Carrel, came here yesterday with sound films and an accompanying talk from her work in the mobile hospital units of Loyalist Spain to plead the cause of the Loyalists and democracy in Spain.

These films were presented in an effort to demonstrate the worthiness and timeliness of her work to aid the Loyalist cause. Chief object of her visit here and at other institutions is to bring about some united action by this country which would serve to put an end to the Spanish conflict. This, she contends, could be effectively brought about by the lifting of the United States embargo and by abolishment of the non-intervention committee which prevent the sale of munitions and other supplies to Spain.

It is her hope that the talks and pictures which she shows will influence students and citizens to make an appeal to the state department concerning this matter. She explains how, by lifting of the embargo, the war may be stopped.

At present the rebels, backed by Hitler and Mussolini, are receiving

(Continued on page two)

Committee Reports On Possibility Of "Night Club" Today

Instigator

Bob Magill, Graham Memorial director and head of the reporting committee which has made a proposal that the banquet hall of the student union be turned into a "night club."

Graham Memorial Board Of Directors Has Final Action

A committee appointed by Jim Joyner, chairman of the Graham Memorial board of directors, will make its report at 2 o'clock today on a proposal to turn the banquet hall on the second floor of the Graham Memorial building into a "night club." Final action rests with the board, but the report of the committee will be favorable it was revealed yesterday by Bob Magill, director of Graham Memorial and head of the reporting committee.

Arbitrarily called a "night club" the scheme is intended to provide an entertainment center of the kind not to be found anywhere else on the campus. It is proposed that a collegiate theme be followed in decorations and entertainment. Indirect lighting, chair covers, table lamps, and murals will contribute to create an atmosphere where fellows may bring their dates for an evening of dancing at a nominal charge. A seventy-five cent minimum is proposed.

MILK BAR, MAYBE

The committee also suggests that a modern milk bar, as at the Waldorf Astoria in New York, be installed to

(Continued on page two)

COMPTON MAKES FINAL LECTURE IN MUSIC HALL

Large Gathering Hears Last John McNair Address

Giving a proof through physics and biology that, in our present age, we are forced to believe that there is a God in existence, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, physicist from the University of Chicago and Nobel Prize winner, concluded the twenty-first John Calvin McNair lectures last night by talking on "Man's Relation to God", to a large gathering in Hill hall.

The speech last night culminated a three-day series on the co-ordination of science and religion. The specific topics on which he spoke were, "Science and the Growth of Man", "Human Freedom and Physical Law" and "Man's Relation to God."

PURPOSE UNIVERSAL

"I do not think that the whole pur-

(Continued on page two)

ROBSON TO SPEAK AFTER BROADCAST

Town Hall Goes On Air Again Tonight

The "America's Town Meeting of the Air" group will meet tonight in Graham Memorial at 9:30. The topic is "How Can the American Nations Cooperate for Peace." The after-broadcast discussion will be led by Dr. C. B. Robson of the political science department, and coffee will be served during the discussion, it was announced today by Nancy Nesbit, chairman of the group.

The speakers on the broadcast will be: Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Edward Tomlinson, and Professor Charles Fenwick. Colonel Theodore Roose-

(Continued on page two)

Here Is The Dope, Boys—

Advisers Tell All In Case Of Students Vs. Class Cuts

Bill Gilliam Calls Young GOP Meeting

President Bill Gilliam of the Young Republican club has called for a special meeting of the young GOP tonight at 7 o'clock in the Grail room of the Graham Memorial. He urges every member and other interested Republicans to be present.

The purpose of the meeting will be to make plans for obtaining Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York county, to speak on the campus in the near future. Dewey, recently defeated Republican candidate for governor of New York state by a small majority, is now reported to be vacationing in Virginia.

Dewey is still mentioned as a possible presidential candidate despite his defeat in the recent election. President Gilliam feels that with the coming of President Roosevelt to the campus, that much more interest would be created if Dewey also could be obtained.

Coker Returns

Dr. R. E. Coker, head of the University zoology department, returned Tuesday night from a five-day trip to Washington, New York and Connecticut. At these points he has been attending to business concerning the departmental and National Research council.

Majority Of "Baby Deans" Believe Laziness Cause Of Numerous Absences

By EDITH GUTTERMAN
Eleven freshman advisers, asked for statistics concerning class cuts, said that freshmen do not cut classes, sophomores cut more than any other group, and juniors and seniors, perhaps inured to instructors and instruction, or perhaps having the advantage of superior experience, are not serious offenders.

The majority of the advisers, when asked why students cut, replied, "Laziness!" For instance, Adviser Philipps showed how laziness affected 8:30 class cuts. The College Loafers (credit Adviser Sanders for the name) was blamed by several for coming to college as he would to a country club, equipped with golf clubs, tennis racquets, the latest slang, clothes, and dance steps, spending his family's money, and deriving little of value from four (or five) years at college. Said Sanders, "He should be toting bricks or digging ditches." In direct contrast to these various opinions, however, was Dean Spruill's question to his inquisitioner, "What is laziness?"

One or two advisers blamed over-cutting on indifference. English Professor Wells simply said, "Students spend time on what they are inter-

(Continued on page two)

Greatest Opera Extant—

"Faust" Is Second Student Entertainment This Quarter

Story Of Scholar Who Sells Soul To Devil Will Be Dramatized Here

If popularity and number of performances are a gauge, the data on opera, compiled by the American music critic John Rosenfield, proves conclusively that Gounod's "Faust" is the greatest opera extant.

"Faust", which will be presented by Opera-On-Tour, November 22, as the second student entertainment of the quarter, was adopted from the story of Dr. Faustus, by Goethe. It dramatizes the story of the scholar, Faust, who, disgusted with studying sells his soul to the devil, Mephistopheles, in return for "pleasures", "mistresses", "caresses", "youth".

THE DEVIL'S INFLUENCE

Mephistopheles, to fulfill his half of the agreement, shows Faustus the beautiful, virtuous maiden, Marguerite. Faustus with the aid of the devil succeeds in winning the love of Marguerite; and then, again under the influence of the devil, he deserts her.

Marguerite, overcome with despair, kills her child, and is placed in prison. Faust and the devil come to the prison to rescue her, but the heavens open and angels descend to rescue Marguerite's soul from Mephistopheles.

WELL-KNOWN SCENES

The opera is filled with well-known scenes and arias. The garden scene, in which Marguerite discovers the box of jewels that Mephistopheles and Faust have given her and in which she sings the familiar "Jewel Song"; the scene at the church, in which the devil attempts to keep Marguerite from praying; and the prison scene

(Continued on page two)

As Marguerite

Miss Virginia Johnson, who was enthusiastically received in Roanoke Island last week for her portrayal of Marguerite in the Opera-on-Tour production of "Faust" which will be presented here next Tuesday night.