INVITATION TO ROSE BOWL IS APPROVED BY PHI

Duke's Withdrawal From Southern Loop Is Discussed

Against a background of the clutter of seat slats falling in all sections of the hall, the Phi assembly, meeting last night in New East, voted unanimously against a bill which disapproved Duke's acceptance of the Rose Bowl invitation from the University of Southern California on the grounds that such acceptance violated the Southern conference ruling against post-season games.

Quite a lengthy discussion, led by Representative Maynard, brought up the point that, if other Southern conference members criticized Duke's acceptance too severely, it might lead to the withdrawal of Duke from the conference along with North Carolina, who favors Duke's trip to the west coast.

Another point in favor of Duke's acceptance was the fact that the Pasadena pilgrimage would bring added prestige to North Carolina football and valuable publicity to the state in general.

By a vote of 37 to 9 the assembly approved the measure which provided that the federal government create an industrial and agricultural corporation for Puerto Rico.

M'NIDER SPEAKS TO MED STUDENTS

Advices Group To Study Culture

Dr. William deB. MacNider, dean of the University medical school, made an informal talk last night to approximately 150 medical and pre-medical students on the subject of "Modern Medicine and Scientific Research." Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, and the Whitehead medical society, composed of all medical students in the University, sponsored the meeting.

Dr. MacNider advised pre-medical students to take the minimum of scientific courses and interest themselves in more of the cultural subjects, particularly languages and literature. A doctor, he said, should not be confined to science but should have a well-rounded personality.

Dr. G. L. Donnelly, acting as adviser to pre-medical students in selecting their courses, was introduced and urged the students to seek the advice of the medical school faculty in arranging their work.

Tom Thurston, president of Whitehead, presided at the meeting. Dick Myers, president of AED, expressed his hope, as did the other speakers, that the meeting of medical and pre-medical students for the discussion of subjects of mutual interest be continued.

Stricken with a heart attack Monday morning, Dr. David Robert Coker, agricultural scientist, businessman, and philanthropist, died at his home in Hartsville, S. C. His death came as the culmination of several months of ill health. He was the brother of Drs. W. C. and R. E. Coker of the University faculty.

During his life he did much toward the improvement of agriculture by his development of new and superior types of seeds. Also he did great work in the field of education. He founded the Coker College for Girls in Hartsville and did much for improving education in South Carolina. For many years Dr. Coker was a director of the Richmond branch of the Federal Reserve bank, a post which he was offered upon establishment of the bank in 1914.

Policemen's Charity Affair December 7 Features Swordsmen

The University fencing team will be featured as an unusual attraction at a benefit ball to be given at Raleigh December 7. This charity affair will have many outstanding professional performers offering their services for this annual charity event which the policemen and other affiliated organizations of Raleigh sponsor each fall.

In a telephone conversation with Mrs. Margaret Porter, program committee woman, the fencing team arranged a half-hour program to be given sometime during the early part of the program.

FIVE BOUTS

As far as could be learned last night, it is expected that five fencing bouts will be put on by the Tar Heel fencers. Two sabre and foil bouts and one epee bout will be put on. No rehearsals will be gone through for these contests and they will be strictly regular events, with each man working for a win.

The main purpose of this performance is to arouse an interest in fencing in this part of the state, other than intercollegiate work within the University team. Mrs. Porter, a hygiene instructor at Raleigh, has recently shown a great deal of interest in the North Carolina fencing team and has expressed a desire to start classes in Raleigh. The affair next week is expected to serve as a fitting introduction to Carolina's coming season.

MEMBERS

The members of the varsity team who are expected to make the trip to Raleigh for the show are Joe Boak, Allan Bloom, James McCallum, David Malone in foil; Wayne Williamson, Bob Harrington and Allan Bloom in sabre, and Randy Reece and Dick Freudenheim in epee.

The entire team has been invited to a dance which is scheduled to follow the performance.

UNC REPRESENTED AT FRAT MEETING

Allen And Hancock Go To Conference

Marvin Allen and Wells Hancock were the representatives of the University Interfraternity council attending the National Interfraternity conference in New York City last weekend. A Carolina alumnus, George B. Denny, led the discussion on one of the important topics.

Denny, who popularized the Town Hall Meeting of the Air, introduced the speakers, several of whom were prominent national educators. The topic for discussion was "How Social Minded Are the Social Fraternities?" One of the more important ideas brought out was the civic relation of fraternities to the community.

Another important topic discussed was the idea of fraternity handbooks, which are to be published by the Interfraternity Council.

Political Union Has Exhibit Of Letters From Notables

Display In Connection With Third Anniversary Is On First Floor Of Library

By MISS DOROTHY COBLE

In connection with President Franklin Roosevelt's speech here Monday, a feature of the Carolina Political Union's third anniversary year, the CPU now has on display on the first floor of the library a collection of interesting letters received from persons of state, national, and international note.

Also on display is a series of letters showing the long campaign of the union to bring the President to Chapel Hill, a campaign which began two years ago when Frank McGinn was chairman of the CPU, to be climaxed on December 5. The invitation to the President has been seconded by such men as Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico, Governor Clyde R. Hoey, Senator Robert R. Reynolds, and William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany.

This council, which is headed by the vice-president of the student body, is formed for the purpose of trying cases which may arise in the freshman class and serves much the same as a grand jury.

Any cases of violation of the honor system, viz: cheating, stealing, or lying, are first brought before this freshman council which tries the case in the same manner as the student council which tries him in the regular manner.

On the other hand, if the freshman tribunal decides that there is not enough evidence against the student to convict him he is automatically exonerated of the charges against him. Jim Joyner, president of the Student Council, announced after a meeting of the council last night that the seven members of the freshman council would be elected from a group of twenty freshman nominated by the student council, the class president, and the vice president of the student body.

This last named officer is chairman of the group as there is no freshman representative on the student council. The polls will be open from 9 to 5 tomorrow at the YMCA and the entire freshman class is asked to vote for seven of the 20 nominees who will be announced tomorrow in the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Virginia ham, apple cider, doughnuts, and champagne were main attractions on the recent Playmaker tour. The Playmakers, who returned last Wednesday from a tour of the eastern United States, were full of wild tales about a trip through the champagne factory at Pen Yan, N. Y., riding on top of the bus in Virginia, and a trip through Massanutten caverns of Virginia.

The Playmakers left Chapel Hill on November 14 in their specially constructed bus, which carries over 1,000 pounds of scenery and lighting equipment and over 1,000 pounds of actors. Three complete sets of scenery and a complete set of lighting equipment, which were especially designed for
