

Rose Bowl Blue Devils Name All-Opponents Football Team

Pardon Me, BUT... « »
by BILL BEERMAN

Downing the last mouthful of post-Thanksgiving hash (third day style), we hasten back to the grind only to find more trouble in the mailbag. This time the vitriolic aspersions come from the students and ex-students of cousin State college. But they act unlike any cousins we ever had the pleasure of knowing.

Some days back this department, in an idle moment and none too joyous frame of mind, deplored the State football team and especially Mr. Ed H. (Ty) Coon. Nothing serious was meant, but one statement was a little off-color, we must admit. That was the sentence which described the quality of football played by State as being "sorry."

We retract that accusation, but nothing else. Steve Maronic is still a better tackle than Coon, and all the drivel which certain so-called "defenders of the Wolfpack" utter cannot make it different.

So, Messrs. McPhail, Rowe, Krochmal, Halsted, and "Scoop," your preachments of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct had best be practiced before advised. And Mr. Rowe, your closing comment of "I dare you to print this letter" is an excellent example of your type. We care not to waste space with it.

Anyway, were we of the opinion that Coon was such a sorry football player, would he have been placed on the All-Conference team selected by this writer? As for the praise bestowed on your Connecticut flash by coaches and sports writers, you will find that Maronic has received as much if not more. But the most conclusive proof of the ability of the two men can be found by glancing at the different "All" teams now being picked. Maronic, like the well-known cigarette, is practically a two-to-one choice.

So Carolina has typewriter All-Americans, eh? You gents can start another civil war by making statements like that. Bershak and Barclay were the real thing if ever there was. No publicity made those lads outstanding; merit and merit alone put them on the top.

Enough is enough. State can play pretty good football. A tough schedule put them on the bottom.

And Maronic is better than Coon. Incidentally, Steve Acai has done his share for the Wolfpack. He has helped to make Coon look good.

Boxing Managers

All men interested in trying out for junior managerships on the boxing team are asked to meet at 4 o'clock today in the boxing room of Woollen gym. Junior managers of last year are also requested to be present.

Boxers Lose Services Of Football Trio For Season

By WILLIAM L. BEERMAN
Boxing coach Mike Ronman went down for a TKO yesterday, figuratively speaking, when he discovered that Gates Kimball, Dan Desich, and Mike Bobbitt, men he was depending on to fill in his sketchy mitt squad, would be unable to participate in the sport this winter. All three are football players, and according to the ultimatum handed down by Ray Wolf, will not be allowed to box because of a conflict with winter football practice which starts January 16.

Ronman, stunned and not quite able to understand why he is being deprived of the services of the trio, watched the finishing construction touches made to the new boxing room in Woollen gym and gave his attention to the dozen or so candidates who were working out late yesterday. A regulation fight ring occupies one end of the quarters and several new punching bags, both light and heavy, have been added to the equipment.

THREE VETERANS

Without the aid of three outstanding performers of last year, Ronman has concentrated his efforts during the past month to build a 1939 team with three veterans and several promising sophomores as a basis.

"Our best weights will be from the 115- to the 145-pound class," he said yesterday. "But as for the 155- and 175-pound weights, well, prospects aren't so good right now."

Billy Winstead, 115-pound slugger, appears in line for a regular job in that weight, but sophomores Larry Bass and Buddy DuBose are pushing him hard. Also in the running is Sam McFalls, a junior whom Ronman expects to develop into a first class boxer. Ed Dickerson, struggling to sweat himself into the 135-pound class, will likely be forced to fight at 145 and in the same division is experienced Claude Sapp.

HEAVYWEIGHT HUBBARD

Ed Hubbard, not yet in school but scheduled to enter for the winter quarter, will be the heavyweight lad on the as yet incomplete squad. Should something interfere with Hubbard's plans to return, well, Ronman is optimistic and crosses bridges one at a time.

Andy Gennett, who fought both 125 and 135 as a freshman last season, is plugging away at present with an eye on the first mentioned weight. Cy Jones, junior and freckle-faced, steps around in the same class, and a close race with a possible photo-finish is in view. The 135-pounders rounding into condition are Gene Castles, Al Hughes, and Red Holt. And at 145, other than Sapp and Dickerson, are Cohen and Inskip.

Two untried 155-pounders, Dan Beattie and Red Fairecloth, constitute Ronman's only hopes for that class and, as Bobbitt will not be allowed to box, the 175 division remains a deep, dark problem that even the coach cannot yet solve.

WADEMEN DO NOT SELECT MARONIC FOR FIRST TEAM

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)
DURHAM, Nov. 29.—Steve Maronic, co-captain and All-American tackle of the University of North Carolina forces, was not rated on the first team all-opponents as selected by the Duke university football squad today. Only two Tar Heels made the

Austin Captains Women Fencers

Miss Adele Austin, a senior from New York city, was elected captain of the women's fencing team last night at a meeting of the coed fencers. Miss Austin has been active for the past two years in coed fencing and this year is expected to lead the women's team on the strips.

The first women's team ever to be formed at the University in fencing began last year in its embryonic stages and this past week realized two years of intense training under the guidance of varsity Captain-Coach Allan Bloom by officially becoming a budgeted and recognized squad.

At a joint meeting of the varsity and coed fencing teams it was decided last night that practice will continue for the remainder of the quarter in the Tin Can from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Ladder tournaments in both varsity and coed fencing will begin this week and continue throughout until the season begins.

White Phantoms Begin Drill; Chocolate Bowl Classic Set

Three Lettermen Back Negro Tilt Saturday

With only three returning lettermen—Ben Dilworth, Dick Worley and Bill MacCachren—around which to build his White Phantom quintet, Coach Walter Skidmore has been running his basketball hopefuls through scrimmages and offensive drills at Woollen gym.

Work has been centered around Dilworth and Worley, carry-overs from last year's team, and MacCachren, who won his monogram as a sophomore two years ago. These three have been worked in most of the practice scrimmages which are expected to show what the Phantoms have this year. Offensive strength has been emphasized in the drills, and all of the candidates are alternating in these.

The team was hard hit by the graduation of Captain Earl Ruth, Pete Mullis, Foy Grubb and Andy Bershak, who with Dilworth formed the first team last year, but the returning squadmen and incoming sophomores are working hard to fill their places. Watts Carr, Foy Robertson, Frank Cuneo, Al Mathes, Dave Bowman and Hank Pessar are the veterans, and Lester Branson, George Glamack, Bill Watson and Woody Holland the second year men.

The Negro Benefit Football game, sponsored each year by the University YMCA as a campus contribution to community welfare, will be played on Emerson field Saturday afternoon, December 3, at 2 o'clock between Chapel Hill and Greensboro Negro schools.

DORM, FRAT BOUTS WILL BEGIN THIS AFTERNOON AT 4

Intramural wrestling, the final mural activity of the fall quarter, will get under way today in the wrestling room of Woollen gym. Although the entries and weighing-in will take place between 10:30 o'clock this morning and 1 o'clock this afternoon, the actual fighting will not begin until 4 o'clock this afternoon. The results of the draw, which will be held after the entries have been completed, and the schedules for the various bouts will be posted in the gym by 2 o'clock.

SIGMA NU CHAMPS

Last year only one tournament in which both dormitory and fraternity boys could enter, was held, and Sigma Nu by collecting 140 points gained the campus crown. The Snakes, led by Hairston (165-pound champion), will be after their second consecutive mat title.

The mat activities this year will be handled in a different manner from that of last year. There will be two tournaments, a fraternity tournament and a dormitory tournament; points and medals will be given in each tourney. There will be eight wrestling weights in both tourneys; these are 118, 126, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175, and heavy.

SIX HOLDS BARRED

Matches will be limited to six minutes, and if at the end of that time neither man has been pinned, the referee will declare the winner. Six holds will be barred in the matches; these are the strangle hold, full nelson, body slam (except from the knees), over-scissors, toe hold, and any torture holds.

The tourney will continue, daily, throughout the rest of the week, and the finals will be held on Saturday. The boxing tournament which is usually run in connection with wrestling will be held at the beginning of the winter quarter.

Duke's Madry Is Busy Mann As Devils Receive Bowl Bid

By SHELLEY ROLFE
(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)
DURHAM, Nov. 29.—"We haven't heard a thing more about the Rose Bowl, except that we're going," said a busy Ted Mann today in his ivy-clad, tower office in the Duke publicity department.

The press agent of the Seven Iron Dukes and all the backfield chillun was so rushed today that he did not have time to discuss plans with either Coach Wallace Wade or university officials. Every sports editor in the country had been telegraphing all day for news about the Dukes and chances for accommodations on the Rose Bowl special when it pulls out of Durham for the west long about Christmas.

UN-EVERYTHING
And Ted is busier than a bird dog in an aviary—as he has been all season—telling all concerned about the Blue Devils, who finished the season, as every child in the streets knows by now, un-everything (said everything including in this case, unbeaten, untied, and unscored on.) All the papers from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast want word of Duke, and Mann is
