215 First Year Men Cast Ballots To Elect Seven-Man Freshman Honor Council

McLendon, Coxhead, Ward, Cody, Reece, Croom, Martin Win

A total of 216 votes were cast during polling hours yesterday as the first year men went to the polls to elect seven freshmen Honor councilmen.

Of the 20 nominated for the offices by the Student council, the class president and the vice president of the student body Wednesday night, the following seven were elected: W. T. Martin of Raleigh, 139 votes; Bill Ward of Graham, 136; Bill Cody of Winston-Salem, 118; Charles Reece of Winston-Salem, 99; George Coxhead of St. Petersburg, Fla., 89; Mac McLendon of Greensboro, 85; and Bill Croom of Jacksonville, Fla., 72.

The elected men will meet shortly with Bill Hendrix, vice-president of the student body, who will act as chairman of the group.

GRAND JURY

The Honor council will function in the manner of a grand jury by trying freshman cases involving cheating, stealing and lying. If this council finds the defendant guilty, he is passed to the Student council and tried in the customary manner.

Freshmen were scheduled to use the Carolina Political union's automatic voting machines in yesterday's election, but were forced to employ the usual ballot system when the machines failed to operate as expected. The election of the freshman class preliminary court was supervised by the Student council.

LABORATORY TO HONOR COSTELLO

Zoologist Chosen To Teach Course

Dr. D. P. Costello of the University zoology department has been invited to teach in the embryology course at the Marine Biological laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass., next summer. The teaching in this course is distributed among a staff of half a dozen instructors, each of whom takes about a week for the part of the course in which he has recognized competence of unusual degree.

Dr. Costello will teach the sections on fertilization, cell lineage of Annelids and Mollusks, and the embryology of Crustacea. The course is taken chiefly by graduate students from all parts of the country and is regarded as the best offering in the field in the United States.

Since the authorities of the laboratory pick from the entire country and try to get the very best, it is always regarded a distinct honor to be an instructor in the course. Dr. Costello will succeed a capable man from California.

A few years ago Dr. C. D. Beers, also of the University, received a corresponding honor in connection with another major course in the same laboratory.

Student "Chums" With Roosevelt

Pete Heyward, University law student, and Willis Denmark, both of Goldsboro, happened to be in the tavern of the Hotel Goldsboro last Sunday afternoon when a familiar looking young couple entered.

"I believe that's a Vanderbilt," said Pete.

"No, it's one of the Roosevelt boys," said Willis.

"I'm going over and introduce myself," he said, and going over asked, "Aren't you Mr. Roosevelt?"

The young man admitted that he was Franklin, Jr., and presented his wife. Heyward joined the conversation, and proceeded to talk law with young Roosevelt, who is studying law at the University of Virginia.

The Roosevelts were returning to Charlottesville from South Carolina, where Mr. Roosevelt had been hunting.

Balloting Today For Superlatives

Eight campus superlatives will be chosen today when the annual University superlative poll is conducted at the YMCA between the hours of 9 and 5 o'clock.

Students are asked to fill out the ballot published in this morning's paper with the names of the persons thought by them to be the most outstanding in the listed categories and drop it in the ballot box at the YMCA sometime between polling hours. Pictures of the winners will be published in next week's Buccaneer.

The election is being sponsored by the Buccaneer and the DAILY TAR HEEL.

ADMINISTRATION LETS CONTRACTS FOR POWER PLANT

Chapel Hill Power Will Be Supplied By Structure

The administration yesterday awarded contracts to three contractors for the building of the spray pond, foundation, and construction of the chimney of the new power plant to be erected in the lot next to the University laundry.

The Cobb and Homewood company, Incorporated, was awarded the contract to build the spray pond, while the Alphons Custodis Construction company, of New York, will build the chimney. The price on the former agreement was $16,413, while for the latter it was $7,100. Bids are to be received on the majority of equipment, including the pumps, the switch gears, the boilers, and the turbo-generating unit.

The new plant, to supply power for the entire town of Chapel Hill, will be located next to the present University laundry. It will also furnish heat and steam for all of the present and tentative campus structures. The front of the new power generator will be of colonial design, and will be built with flexible walls, so that, in case of enlargement, none of the present equipment will have to be de-faced.

A coal storage room, with an adjoining railroad, and a spray pond are also planned.

HEEL CAPTAINS PUT ON BOWL'S ALL-STAR TEAM

Post-Season Tilt Will Be Played In Montgomery

By WILLIAM L. BEERMAN
Co-Captains Steve "All-American" Maronic and George "Blocker" Watson yesterday accepted an invitation to play in the all-star North-South football game at Montgomery, Ala., January 2. The two will be a part of the Southern team, which is to be coached by Frank Thomas and Jack Meagher, of Alabama and Tulane respectively.

The post-season game, of the regulation bowl type but on a somewhat smaller scale, is sponsored by Mayor W. A. Gunter, of Montgomery, as a "renewal of the civil war on a friendly scale." Montgomery, nick-named the "Cradle of the Confederacy," is one of the older historic spots in the South—it was there that Jefferson Davis took his oath of office.

Gunter wrote Coach Ray Wolf and asked that he send two men from his squad as representatives of Carolina. Wolf chose Maronic and Watson, and the two wired their acceptance immediately. However, in the event that one or the other gets a bid to play on the East team which annually meets an all-star West squad, Wolf will likely substitute another of the six footballers who will not be back next year.

Lou Little, coach at Columbia, declined to take over the coaching of the Northern squad, which is now (Continued on page two)

Annual Class Gridiron Classic Set For Fetzer Field At 4 O'Clock Today

A mighty gridiron classic, the greatest of all post-season battles, with the possible exception of the Duke-Southern California tilt in the Rose Bowl, will take place on Fetzer field at 4 o'clock this afternoon as the heap much powerful Juniors meet the dignified and determined Seniors.

The bold challenge issued by Felix Markham, president of the senior class, to Charlie Wood, head of the junior class, was accepted amid shouts of "victory or bust," "go get 'em boys," "watch our speer," and stuff.

Members of the winning squad will each receive a gold football. And on top of this, they may meet face to face with another charging eleven in a Soup bowl, Wash bowl, Gravy bowl, Salad bowl, or something.

Both teams are requested by their respective coaches to be present on the field at 3:30 so as to put the finishing touches on their form of ball playing. Secret practices are claimed to have been held by these foes and the players say that they really have some razzle-dazzle, killer-diller, mess 'em up plays in preparation.

President Roosevelt's Visit Causes Difficulties For Five-Man Teams

Playing under difficulties caused by the approaching visit of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the campus, the sophomore varsity football managers defeated the junior-senior managers 18 to 12 yesterday afternoon.

Immediately following the fray, one of the first campus post-season games, the losing team raised a protest, charging the sophomores had subsidized all but two players. No official action had been taken last night.

The tilt was almost cancelled when the two five-men teams arrived in Kenan stadium and found the playing field occupied by those putting the location in shape for the President's arrival Monday. Nevertheless, a crowd was on hand and the show went on.

The 20 spectators included Mr. Armbuster, stadium caretaker, and his crew of colored workers, Bob Madry, Coach Fetzer, Maryon Saunders and other leading sportsmen, celebrities, and educators.

Al Maynard was the big threat for the junior-seniors while Fletcher Winstead starred for the sophomores. Sandy Graham, junior-senior player, was injured in the third play and his teammates were forced to carry on until Ike Ham came running out of the woods hollering if he could play. He did, and the team scored 12 points.

Officials were: Pooley Brantley, referee; Dan Desich, umpire; and Leo Stolnick, head linesman.

"Confidentially" Refutes Rumors

With the introduction of his first column, known as "Confidentially" last Wednesday, an unidentified-as-yet writer has been causing somewhat of a mild sensation on the campus by the strict secrecy with which his name is withheld.

At least those mentioned in the first issue of the gossip filled feature have come forth with varied if inaccurate guesses as to the authorship, all of which seems to please the writer no end according to the following letter from him yesterday by the editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL:

"Dear Editor:
"I am pleased at the way the column Confidentially is causing so much speculation as to the identity of the author. I have heard rumors that the column was written by Sanford Stein, Virginia Giddens, Jane Hunter, John and Ed Rankin, Carl Pugh, and Voit Gilmore, but I have not heard a single person accuse me, the real author, of writing the column. This gives me immense satisfaction and if the bell tower isn't too cold I'll send you Confidentially through the mails next Tuesday for Wednesday's paper. In the meantime I sincerely trust that our dear coeds behave themselves, for if they don't their Uncle Confidentially will surely tell on them.
"Smirking to myself, "Confidentially."

Final Posts Filled As Newly Formed Body Convenes

By JIMMY DUMBELL
With the appointment of two committees, a chairman, a clerk and a sergeant-at-arms and with a lively discussion of whether or not monograms should be awarded to all boys who offer their services and time to the Athletic association, the first meeting of the newly formed Student legislature was held last night.

The meeting was presided over by Bill Hendrix, chairman of the legislature, who opened the discussion with a request for nominations for the office of clerk. Counting of the ballots resulted in the announcement that Mack Nesbitt had been chosen for the office and he began his duties immediately.

LETTERS SYSTEM

At this point the floor was given to Bill McCachren who said that the Athletic council had asked him to bring before the house the question of whether or not the legislature thought that the present system of giving letters to all who participate in intramural sports, to band members, team managers and others was a just and practical method.

He further explained that most large colleges and universities do not follow this plan and that in all fairness to the members of the teams which actually partake in inter-collegiate sports perhaps this is not the best plan.

McCachren was asked several questions pertaining to the matter of whether or not the monograms should be restricted to only certain organizations and that these should be designated as such by certain insignia attached to the letter; such as in (Continued on last page)

STUDENTS HANDLE SALE OF SEALS

Jordan, Vincent, Stanback In Charge

This year, as in every other year, Christmas seal stamps sold on the campus will be distributed and bought solely by students. The money derived from these sales goes toward treating University students who have tuberculosis and do not have the means of getting treatment themselves.

Of the committee of three which is to direct and control sales on the campus, Louise Jordan will have the women's dormitories and the sororities from each of which she will appoint one person to manage sales in her group. Jack Vincent, president of Grimes dormitory, will be charge of sales in the dormitories, and Tom Stanback will manage fraternity sales.

Over the years the student body has had a high record of response to this worthy cause, and much good has been accomplished by their contributions. It is a long-standing custom in the United States to place Christmas seal stamps on all Christmas packages, cards and letters during the season and this practice has been most noticeable in the mails of college people.

Slogan for this year's sale drive is "Buy while here so the campus will get credit for your purchase." Seals will be on sale in the YMCA office and in the dormitory stores.

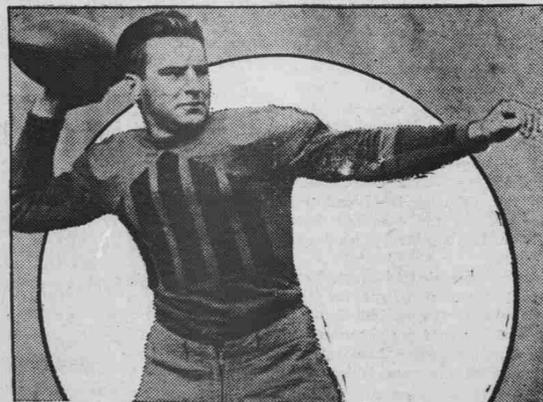

Local Testimony Is Taken In Don Jackson Libel Case

Repercussion Of 1936 Cheating Ring Felt On Campus

By CARROLL McGAUGHEY
Repercussions of the sensational cheating ring expose at the University in 1936 were still making themselves felt on the campus this week as testimony in the libel case of Don Jackson, former University football star, in protest to an alleged misrepresentation of circumstances, was taken in behalf of the defendants by their attorney.

The suit brought by Jackson involves several companies who shared responsibility for the broadcast of "The March of Time" of February 4, 1936, depicting Jackson as being expelled from the University for complicity in the cheating ring. The companies against whom the $100,000 action is being taken are: Time, Incorporated; Remington-Rand, sponsors of the broadcast; and Columbia Broadcasting system over whose network casting system over whose network the program was broadcast through (Continued on page two)
