

OFFICER GIVES EATING PLACES HIGH RANKINGS

Majority Of Firms
Get Ratings Of "A";
Grade "B" Is Lowest

"Chapel Hill eating establishments are in good condition," Dr. William P. Richardson, district health officer, said yesterday after recent inspections.

He expressed appreciation for the cooperation the health department has received from proprietors in maintaining a high level of sanitation. Ratings are based on a total possible score of 100 points; scoring ranges from grade A (90 to 100) grade B (80 to 89.5) to grade C (70 to 79.5).

BASIS OF GRADES

Grades are based on general cleanliness, food handling, dish and hand-washing facilities, health certificates, supply and general surrounding appearance.

In addition to the cafes, hotels are graded on the basis of cleanliness and repair of the office and lobby, halls and stairways, and condition of bedrooms. Cafe proprietors, it was said, generally have been very cooperative in meeting requirements for cleaner food establishments.

COOPERATION

In commenting further on the gradings, it was stated that "both the health department and the cafes are striving to give the people in and around clean places at which to eat. Inspections of these are made periodically at least once every three months and more often if possible."

"Dormitory stores are inspected periodically and are found to be maintained in very good shape."

Places receiving "A" grades were: Brady's tavern, Carolina coffee shop, Carolina Inn, Carolina Inn cafeteria, Harry's Grill, Hill Villa tea room, Ivey's cafe, Marathon sandwich shop, N. C. cafeteria, Sparrow's service station, Sutton's drug store, the Tavern, Tommy Gooch's, University dining hall cafeteria and University restaurant.

Grade "B" rating establishments were: College sandwich shop, Gibson ice cream, McFarland's barbecue, Whitley's cafe (colored) and Little Jim's cafe (colored.)

No "C" grades were given.

GRAHAM SPEAKS ON TUITION FEE

President Opposes
'Prohibitive' Boost

The University has no objection to a "reasonable" increase in tuition on out-of-state students, President Frank Graham stated at a meeting of the University board of trustees Tuesday in Raleigh.

Graham insisted, however, that no "prohibitive" charge be made for out-of-state students, who form 28 per cent of the student body in Chapel Hill.

Meeting in the hall of the house, trustees adopted a resolution memorializing the legislature to allow out-of-pocket expenses for executive committees attending meetings in Raleigh.

RESOLUTION

A resolution of regret at the death of William T. Hannah of Waynesville was adopted and a committee appointed to draft similar resolutions for the late Controller Charles T. Woollen, Dr. A. C. McIntosh of the law school, (Continued on page two)

Chi Omega Sorority Initiates Pledges

Chi Omega sorority held its annual banquet honoring the new initiates at the Carolina inn last night. Miss Elizabeth Warren was awarded a prize as outstanding pledge, and Miss Jeanne Hermann received the scholarship award.

The new initiates include Misses Josephine Martin, Mary Wood, Elizabeth Warren, Sylvia Cullum, Lucy Cary Easley, Mary Jane Taylor, Jean MacIndoe, Margaret Leonard, Sarah Hurd, Susie Fountain, Christine Thompson, Elizabeth Blair, Martha Kelly, Louise Hudson, Eloise Parish, Jeanne Hermann, Eloise Brown, and Elizabeth Orton.

For Student Entertainment

Brown, Durrett To Play Leads In Gilbert-Sullivan Operetta

Davis, Toms Are
Co-Directors
Of Production

By DORIS GOERCH

The feminine lead in Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "The Sorcerer," will be played by Miss Imogene Durrett when the operetta is presented on the campus next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Miss Durrett, a graduate of Tulane university, played the leads in several Gilbert and Sullivan operettas while a student there, including "Iolanthe" and "The Sorcerer." Her musical activities at Tulane included the presidency of the Sophie Newcomb Glee club and singing at the Metropolitan Opera house with the Tulane A Capella choir. Miss Durrett also studied voice at the Juillard institute of music.

SORCERER BROWN

Joe Brown, assistant business manager of the Playmakers, will play the part of the Sorcerer. Brown, a resident of Chapel Hill, is thought to be well qualified to play the role because of his previous experience with the Playmakers. The Sorcerer, to whom Gilbert and Sullivan have given the name of John Wellington Wells, concocts the potion around which the action of the operetta is centered. The liquid, a magic drink which affects the human power of falling in love, is drunk by all the guests at a betrothal celebration and each immediately falls in love with the first person he sees.

Many combinations result and the remainder of the operetta is spent in trying to straighten out the love affairs. The Sorcerer is punished by being sacrificed to the gods.

REHEARSAL

The operetta has been in rehearsal for several weeks and the directors are pleased with the progress being made. Harry Davis and John E. Toms of the music department are the directors for the production. Elmer Hall is in charge of sets and Ora Mae Davis (Continued on page two)

Briton To Speak In Hill Tonight

"Present Economic and Social Conditions in Great Britain," will be the subject of a speech tonight at 8:30 in Hill Music hall by Robert Wilberforce, British economist and librarian.

This morning and afternoon he will talk before University classes. At 9:30 this morning he will speak to combined economics class in 103 Bingham, at 11 o'clock, to library science classes, and at 3 o'clock this afternoon to the library staff.

Wilberforce has just finished a speaking engagement at Rollins college, Florida. He comes here under auspices of the YMCA. Duke university audiences will hear him tomorrow.

He has served the British government as delegate to disarmament conferences and as director of the British Library of Information in New York city.

Coeds To Elect Ten Outstanding Senior Women

Friday morning in an election unprecedented on this campus, the women students will vote on the ten most outstanding coeds in the senior class. The choice will be announced in the Yackety-Yack.

The polls will open at 10:30 at the YMCA building. There will be no nominations. According to the announcement made by Terrell Everett, editor of the woman's section of the annual, the coeds will cast ballots for their own choices and all of the women students (but only the women students) may vote.

Outstanding women students have been represented in the Yackety-Yack but the entire woman's association has not until this year had a voice in the selection. Results of the election will remain secret until the annual is published.

STATUE ARRIVES AT ART GALLERY

"Youth" Shipped
From Charleston

"Youth" the statue which was given to the University by the artist, Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington, arrived here yesterday afternoon to become a permanent fixture at Person hall art gallery. The statue, one of the larger bronzes of the Huntington collection shown at the campus gallery during November, will be placed on a specially constructed rock pedestal on the terrace, the position it occupied during the exhibition.

"Youth," one of Mrs. Huntington's most popular pieces of sculpture, was a part of the 70-piece circulating exhibit which has been shown for the last two years in cities and towns over the United States. The exhibit has been viewed by thousands of people.

LIKED HERE

The statue created so much favorable comment and was so popular with students and outsiders during the showing here that Mrs. Huntington (Continued on page two)

Daily Tar Heel Staff Meets Today At 1:30

There will be an important meeting of the entire DAILY TAR HEEL staff (business and circulation staffs do not count) this afternoon at 1:30 on the second floor of Graham memorial. It is imperative that everyone be on time for a change. The theme of the meeting, in fact, will be "Time—Its Advantages and Disadvantages." Be there at 1:30 or have prima facie evidence. Again, this means all those except the two groups mentioned.

SWING CONCERT OPENS GERMANS TOMORROW AT 3

Miller And Band
Will Come Here
From New York

Glenn Miller and his orchestra will open their week-end on the campus with a public concert in Hill Music hall tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock.

The doors will be opened at 2:30, and the concert will begin promptly at 3 o'clock. Billy Worth, secretary-treasurer, of the German club, stated yesterday.

Admission to the concert, which will be open to students and townspeople, will be 35 cents per person. Tickets will be sold at the door only.

FROM PARADISE

Miller and his orchestra will present a program similar to his broadcasts, which he presents over the Mutual and Columbia networks. He will arrive here tomorrow direct from the Paradise restaurant, where he is playing a long engagement.

Most students will see the orchestra for the first time. A number, however, saw and heard the orchestra at the Debutante ball in Raleigh last fall.

SENSATION

Marion Hutton, the sensational blonde torch singer, who "eats her spinach," is expected to give her imitable rendition of "A-Tisket A-Tasket," a selection that "wowed 'em" last fall.

Ray Eberle, the male singer, will also be present. "Our own" Jack Kimball, a former trumpeter with Freddie Johnson and his orchestra, will perform with the Miller band.

Following the concert a tea dance will be held in the Tin Can and tomorrow night a formal dance will be presented. A tea dance and an evening formal will conclude the dance set Saturday.

Bids, which may be secured at the YMCA from 10:30 to 11 o'clock this morning, will cost $8 for members of the German club. Non-members may join the club by paying the initiation fee of one dollar for seniors and graduate students and $5 for undergraduates.

The following is a revised list of German club members who will have tickets for sale: Harold Sager, Beta Theta Pi; Louis Jordan, Sigma Chi; Tommy Winborne, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Tom Wright, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Bill Joslin, Sigma Nu; Johnson Harris, Phi Gamma Delta; Bill Davis, Kappa Sigma; Louis Sutton, Zeta Psi; Junius Tillery, Kappa Alpha; and Billy Campbell, Phi Delta Theta. Winborne may be contacted at 207 Old West.

Notice!

A notice was issued from the office of S. W. J. Welch Tuesday to the effect that any student desiring help from the Bureau of Vocational Information in securing employment must return his registration blank, qualification record and pamphlet to this office by noon Saturday in order to expect any help from this office. There will be no exceptions made.

Dr. Taylor's Class Wins Many Prizes

Fifty-one prizes were won during the fall quarter by students in Dr. M. D. Taylor's advertising class in a series of nation-wide contests sponsored by Boston university. The University stood second at the close of the quarter, Boston university having won 54 prizes. Antioch college was third with 27 prizes.

In addition to a cash award, or other similar prize, each winner received an engraved certificate of "proficiency and license," and humorous illustrations, many of these drawn by John Rosol, whose cartoons appear regularly in the Saturday Evening Post.

T. G. Willis led the group here with seven prizes to his credit. Four prizes were won by each of the following: William J. Cole, Miss Edna Douglas, and M. E. Karlin.

Those winning three prizes were: Robert Brewer, L. W. Norfleet, Miss Frieda Davis, Harvey Kalpan, Marvin Kessler, and Martin Harmon.

Students of more than 100 colleges competed in these contests and there were approximately 13,000 entries during the fall quarter. The purpose of these contests is to develop the critical ability of marketing students.

Carl Pugh Answers Criticisms Of "Buc"

Alumnus Announcer

Bob duFour, who last year graduated from the University, took up the duties of announcer at WPTF Raleigh on Sunday. DuFour, formerly an active Playmaker and member of Golden Fleece, replaced Clay Daniel, who transferred to WDNC Durham.

DEAN DISCUSSES STUDENT CONTROL BEFORE COUNCIL

President Wales
Appoints Committee
For Inter-Dorm Hops

The dormitory is the real testing ground for student self-government, Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw told the Interdormitory council at its meeting in Graham Memorial last night.

The dormitory residents tend to be the "non-clubable" type, he said in applying an expression once used by Dr. Samuel Johnson. They are to a large extent individualistic and it is among them that the principles of self-government can best be tested.

"Potentially," he went on "the Interdormitory council is one of the most important agencies the University has. It can help teach the philosophy of self-responsibility by its nearness to the places where a sense of responsibility might least easily be installed."

PAST RULES

Dean Bradshaw told of regulations at the University in the past, how, previous to 1875, the faculty had absolute control over the classroom, extra-curricular, and dormitory lives of students. President Kemp P. Battle swept away all such inflexible rules and set up one standard—that Carolina men had only to act as gentlemen, he said.

With government thus placed in the hands of the students, there should be enough spirited leaders here to realize that freedom rests upon self-government and not upon rule from without, he concluded.

President Charles Wales presided at a short business meeting of the council. He announced names of members of the dance committee which will make arrangements for the Interdormitory dances March 31—April 1. He also named a council banquet committee, composed of Red Forrest, (Continued on page two)

Woodhouse To Lead Town Meeting Forum

Discussing the question "Can Europe Avoid War?" the regular Town Meeting of the Air program will be held tonight at 9:30 in the main lounge of Graham memorial.

Over the air Jan Masaryck, former Czechoslovakian ambassador to Great Britain, Senor Bruno Roselli, head of the Italian department at Vassar, and George Raiguel will lead the discussion.

Professor E. J. Woodhouse of the political science department will lead the group after the broadcast. As a special guest, Max Kohnstamm of Amsterdam, who is now taking graduate work at the University, will speak.

The public is invited to attend and coffee will be served after the open forum discussion.

Attacked Editor Outlines Position In Long Statement

By CHARLES BARRETT

Retaliating to criticism from Chapel Hill religious leaders and a suggestion for change from Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw, Editor Carl Pugh of the Carolina Buccaneer, in a lengthy statement expressing the staff's viewpoint, yesterday said the magazine "will continue to be as different, as readable, as talked about as possible."

Editor Pugh attacked the viewpoint of each of his critics, and said he would await a "careful and correct synthesis" from President Frank Graham, "honoring his judgment."

OPEN PAGES

"Meanwhile the pages of the Buccaneer are open at all times to a material example of what should be there. Until these examples arrive we shall continue to gather rosebuds and laugh at life at times and look in the dark corners. We shall do this so long as the power of freedom is in our hands."

The complete statement follows: "When the Presbyterians melted their earrings into a golden calf and Moses lost his temper and broke the tablets there was probably one old Jew who sat outside his tent and watched and looked up at the sky and winked and giggled in his long and dusty, tangled beard. He was vulgar and obscene."

"The beard of the Carolina Buccaneer, under the present regime, displays more fuzz than hoary, sagacious resignation. But the length suffices for giggling purposes."

NEW YORKER

"The New Yorker is published each Thursday by the F. R. Publishing Corporation. The magazine sells for 15c per copy which covers postage. The Lucky Strike advertisement on the back cover cost approximately $8,000. Peter Arno received $145 for the cartoon on page 14. He received a check for $200 but $25 went to the little fellow on 14th street who gave him the idea, $15 went to the agent who carried it." (Continued on page two)

ELLIOTT NAMED TO LEGISLATURE

PU Board Has Not
Had Representative

Due to an oversight, the Student legislature has thus far been functioning without a representative from the Publications Union board.

In order to remedy this fault the board yesterday appointed its president, Tim Elliott as Student legislature representative. In regard to his election and in relation to the fact that the board had not, up to this time, been represented on the legislature, Elliott said yesterday he has several things he would like to bring before the governing group at its next meeting.

A member of the Publications Union board since elections last spring, Elliott was then elected president of the group and has served in that capacity since. In his opinion the board has had a very successful term and is planning to effect several new policies before the end of the year.

WELL-INFORMED

Instructor Crissy Makes Comparison

Glancing over the coeds—among which are Mickey Warren, Virginia Kibler, and Susie Fountain—in his Education 71 lab class, Instructor W. E. Grissy, who has a wife and child in Chapel Hill, remarked, "There is one difference between a married man and a single man. Both a married and a single man can look. A single man can do something about it."
