

EDITORIALS:

• The Insidious Fee System
• Clark For Trustee?

Z 525

VOLUME XLVII

EDITORIAL PHONE 4151

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1939

BUSINESS PHONE 4156

NUMBER 124

The Daily Tar Heel

THE ONLY COLLEGE DAILY IN THE SOUTHEAST

WEATHER:
Partly cloudy,
warmer

UNC TO BE HOST TO 1939 MEETING OF FEDERATION

Rippy Put In Charge Of March 31 Convention

Chapel Hill and the University will be hosts to the 1939 convention of the North Carolina Federation of Students when that body meets here the week-end of March 31, according to an announcement made last night by Fred Rippy, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the gathering.

The federation, made up of representatives from all North Carolina colleges and universities, holds its convention annually at which attending campus leaders discuss current problems in student government.

Although detailed arrangements for the convention are incomplete, several prominent North Carolinians have already been invited to attend the sessions and address the delegates. Governor Clyde Hoey has been invited to address the opening session of the convention, and other speakers include Dr. Poteat, of Wake Forest college, and Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University.

A tentative program for the gathering includes three main discussion groups which will, in turn, take up the questions of "Honor and the Honor System", "General Student Government Problems," and "Student Leadership and the Stimulation of Activities."

Social plans for the delegates include luncheons and banquets for the various discussion groups, a dance Friday night, March 31, in Graham memorial, a tour of the campus for all of the delegates, and possibly a theater party for the entire convention.

Miss Bill Malone, president of the Woman's association, met last night with the Student council to discuss various plans for the affair, and to her group will go the responsibility for a program of entertainment for the women delegates to the convention.

According to Rippy, approximately 100 delegates are expected to attend.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO GO ON TOUR

Group Leaves Soon To Present Concerts

Under the direction of Professor John E. Toms, members of the Men's Glee club will leave the campus Wednesday on their annual spring tour. This year's tour will take them as far as Atlanta, Ga., where they will be presented Thursday night in concert at North Fulton high school under the auspices of the Alumni association.

En route to Atlanta, the group will give concerts at Winston-Salem, Lexington, Morganton, and various high schools in South Carolina. On the return trip, the club will appear Friday night, March 18, at Charlotte, sponsored by the Alumni association and the Charlotte Music association. Saturday night's concert has not been definitely arranged.

VARIED PROGRAM

The program will be divided into two parts, the first part consisting of popular songs and semi-classical numbers. For the second part, the comic opera, "Cleopatra," a burlesque of college life, will be given. Leading roles will be taken by Glenn Starnes as An-

(Continued on last page)

Another Rivalry Begins As—

Carolina, Duke Fencers Set For Big Meet Here April 7

Arts Group Seeks Eight New Members

Miss Margaret Munch was accepted last night as an associate member of the Carolina Arts group. As she is a graduate student she is not eligible for active membership; therefore eight opportunities for membership are still open.

Applications not accepted last night are still under consideration and because several of the applicants were not known by a majority of the group, they will be voted on again next quarter. Any other students desiring membership may apply to Simons Roof, chairman of the group.

Officers Of Men's Glee Club

Shown above are the 1938-39 officers of the University Men's Glee club, which is to start on a sweeping concert tour Wednesday and go as far south as Atlanta, Ga. Left to right, they are: Professor John E. Toms, director; Frank Turner, assistant business manager; Humphrey Swift, vice president; Brooks Patten, business manager, and Gene Turner, president. Henry Lasker, secretary-librarian, is not shown in the picture.

Freshman Dance Problem Is To Be Settled At Meeting Today

HUMAN RELATIONS GROUP TO STRESS SOUTHERN PHASES

Town Hall Meeting Of Air Will Be Great Attraction

The night of March 30, nine days after the beginning of the spring quarter, the fifth session of the Institute of Human Relations will begin eight days of intensified study of the South, education, business and industry, and international relations.

A number of interesting speakers have been obtained for the institute's morning and evening platform addresses, classroom seminars, and afternoon panel discussions. Among these are Miss Dorothy Thompson, John Rust, Josiah Bailey, Jonathan Daniels, Dr. Frank Graham and John Rice.

EXHIBIT OF BOOKS

The platform addresses will be held twice daily, at 10 a. m., and 8 p. m. Each day a large number of University classes will be converted into seminars under the leadership of guest speakers. In Memorial hall, scene of platform lectures, there will be set up an exhibit displaying hundreds of the leading books and periodicals on the subject matter of the Institute. What free time each speaker has will be given over to afternoon panel discussions of group and individual interviews.

Obtaining Miss Dorothy Thompson for the series of three consecutive Well lectures will likely prove to be one of the major accomplishments of the institute this year. Miss Thompson has long been noted for newspaper columnizing, lecturing and political analyzing, and lately created news by personally disrupting a Nazi Bund meeting in New York City. Her first speech will begin at 8 o'clock Thursday night, March 30.

The same night, with the cooperation of the...

(Continued on last page)

Big Yackety-Yack Allotment Knocks Hole In Budget

With $154 allotted for the annual freshman class dance, freshman class committeemen in a meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will discuss plans for a large name band class dance comparable to the dances held by other University classes.

The committeemen will choose between two alternatives as follows: that the ways and means committee devise some plans for raising needed funds for putting on the large dance or that a voluntary assessment of 25 cents be placed on the bids of each freshman attending the class dance.

Class members will vote upon the decision taken by the committeemen at the Monday morning 10:30 assembly period. The voting will be held following a program presented by the student council of the University.

"I feel sure that members of our class will really cooperate in coming to the Monday meeting for I feel sure that the majority of the freshmen to desire a worthwhile dance," Bill Shore, class president said last night at press time.

"If the class does have a big dance, it is likely that a band of the Dean Hudson-Bubbles Becker caliber will play," he pointed out.

This year the freshman class spent $115 more for Yackety-Yack space than any other freshman class did in its year. The space in the annual this year will be comparable to the space contracted by other University classes.

Attention, Frosh!

Freshmen class committeemen will meet in the small lounge of Graham memorial at 2:30 today. Attendance is compulsory. Anyone missing this meeting will be dropped from the committee roll.

Members of National Research Council

Two University professors, Dr. J. F. Dashiell, head of the psychology department, and Dr. R. E. Coker of the zoology department are active in the National Research council. Dr. Dashiell is one of four members of a committee which will meet tomorrow in New York to determine the allotment of fellowships for the coming year in psychology and anthropology by the Council. Dr. Coker is completing his third year as chairman of the division of biology and agriculture which will meet in Washington during April.

SECOND ANNUAL ARTISTS' EXHIBIT OPENS TOMORROW

44 Pieces From This State Are To Be Included

The second annual exhibition of the North Carolina Artists' club and an exhibition of 27 etchings entitled "Trees" will open tomorrow afternoon in Person Hall Art gallery. The exhibit of the Artists' club contains 44 pieces of work by 26 North Carolina artists, while the etchings are a portion of the Jacobs collection. Russell T. Smith, head of the art department, will make a gallery talk at 4 o'clock.

The Artists' club exhibition consists of drawings, painting in oil and in watercolor, prints, and wood sculpture, chosen by the jury of selection from 78 pieces submitted by 28 artists. The jury was composed of Mr. Smith, William Meade Prince of Westport, Conn., and Rosamond Niles of Lyme, Conn.

The purpose of the exhibit is to promote an interest in art in North Carolina. Any North Carolina artist is eligible to submit work.

ARTISTS

Artists whose work will be included in this year's show are: Irma McCurdy Barbour of Sanford, Charles Baskerville of New York City, William Blackburn of Hickory, William A. Cooper of Charlotte, Frank Dawson of Hillsboro, William C. Fields III of Sanford, Margaret Nowell Graham of Winston-Salem, Georgia Pearsall Hearne of Greenville, Alberta Horton of Raleigh, Claude F. Howell of Wilmington, Richard Lofton of Winston-Salem, Henry Jay MacMillan of Wilmington, Ann L. Myrick of Greensboro, Nathan Orloff of Durham, William F. Pfohl of Winston-Salem, Irene Price of Wilmington, Mabel Pugh of Raleigh, Primrose McPherson Robertson of Raleigh, Robert M. Skelton of Greensboro, Clement R. Strudwick of Hillsboro, Cantey Venable

(Continued on page two)

Cheating Went On Once At Carolina

(Ed. Note—This is a second in a series of historical features by Miss Tripp.)

By GLADYS BEST TRIPP

Cheating was once a trial of wit at the University between the class and the professor, and it was considered good fun to win. If cheating was used only to pass an examination and not for honor grades, the student body deemed it proper until 1868. This feeling was partly based on the fact that President Swain wanted a large graduating class, and held that a diploma was no evidence of scholarship.

One of the favorite devices used by the students to baffle the professor was called "working the telegraph." The class rooms were all on the second floors of buildings. The students would cut a hole in the floor under one of the benches. During the test or examination questions would be lowered by a string and the answers worked out by several good scholars on the

(Continued on last page)

Beard Urges Defeat Of Wilson Proposal

Protests Pharmacy Bill

Dean J. G. Beard of the University Pharmacy school asked all students in his school yesterday morning to work for the defeat of the Wilson bill (House 566) which would permit assistant pharmacists to secure full licenses without taking state examinations, if they had five years' practical experience in a drugstore.

HARLAND TO SAIL WEDNESDAY FOR STUDY IN GREECE

McKie Will Be Director Of Entertainment

Dr. J. P. Harland, Archaeology professor and Student entertainment director, will sail from New York Wednesday for Greece, where he will collect material for a book on Greek art of the pre-historic Bronze age. Mrs. Harland will accompany him, and they plan to spend six months abroad.

Professor George McKie, professor of English, has been appointed by Dean House to act as Student entertainment director during Dr. Harland's absence, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Harland will go to Germany, where he will visit museums in Munich which contain recently found specimens of the Bronze Age. He will then visit Ljubljana, Zagreb, Belgrade, and Skopje—all cities of Yugoslavia where art pieces are located which he wishes to study.

HEADQUARTERS

Arriving in Greece the latter part of March, Dr. Harland will make his headquarters at the American School of Archaeology in Athens. From there he will make trips to such sites as Troy and Krete.

British archaeologists have invited the University professor to join in excavating at Mycenae, but yesterday he was undecided as to whether

(Continued on page three)

Philosophy School Announces Changes In Class Schedule

The Department of Philosophy is making two changes in its schedule for the spring quarter. There will be two sections of Philosophy 23 (Introductory Ethics). Dr. Helmut Kuhn will teach the class meeting at 8:30, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and Dr. L. O. Kattsoff the one meeting at 11:00, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Students who have not taken either Philosophy 21 or 22 may register for 23 as these courses can be taken in any order.

This year Philosophy 71 (Philosophy of Science), meeting at 11:00, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, will be open only to undergraduates. Dr. Kattsoff will teach this course which considers the philosophical bearings of physics, biology, and psychology.

Dr. Kuhn has taught at the University of Berlin and studied in England for two years. At present he holds a special research fellowship here and has been added to the departmental staff for the spring quarter.

Pharmacy Dean Says Bill Is Big Menace To Public Health

By LOUIS HARRIS

Branding the Wilson bill, introduced in the Legislature on March 2, as "a serious menace to public health," Dean J. G. Beard yesterday morning urged all students in the School of Pharmacy to participate in the drive to defeat this type of legislation.

The bill, House bill 566, would permit assistant pharmacists to secure full licenses as registered pharmacists without having to stand the examinations of the state board of pharmacy, provided they had obtained five years of practical experience in a drug store beforehand.

Dean Beard stressed, "by this scheme an obviously ill-prepared class of clerks would enjoy the same privileges and assume the same obligations to the public as graduates of a four year standard course in pharmacy. That this type of discriminating legislation would be unfair to students who work hard and often as a sacrifice to become competent pharmacists is secondary to the danger that the unsuspecting public would face in being unable to distinguish from the license displayed whether the holder was fitted or unfitted for duties that involve the health and lives of all purchases of potentially dangerous drugs."

INFORM PARENTS

In view of these facts, Dean Beard urged his students to write their people at home immediately in order that the legislators might be personally interviewed during their week-end visits with the hope of obtaining their consent to vote against such a measure. Students were also asked to employ their individual endeavors in any other possible way toward lobbying against the bill.

In citing instances of such action in the past, and the effect it had had, the speaker stated, "another bill, House bill 311, would permit an extension of

(Continued on last page)

COUCH ANNOUNCES LIST OF 27 BOOKS

Volumes Feature Southern Themes

The University press has just released its spring list of 27 books which either have appeared or will appear during the months of March, April, May and June.

Featured in the list announced today by Director W. T. Couch, are books dealing with Southern themes, and the subject matter ranges over a broad field, including literature, sociology, history, politics, and fiction, as well as a number of textbooks.

Two of the books have already been released. They are "A Short History of Political Thinking," by Paul W. Ward; and "Child Labor Legislation in the Southern Textile States," by Elizabeth H. Davidson.

"A Short History of Political Thinking" is a brief study of the general development of political philosophy from the ancient Greeks to the present. Short chapters treat of the Greek city-state, Roman empire, Roman church, absolute monarchy, democracy, nation-state, and contemporary issues. It has been written to serve as a small outline history of political thinking for the general reader, and is also intended to be used as a textbook for beginning students, and as a summary work for advanced students.

Dr. Ward is chairman of the Department of Philosophy in Syracuse university. He is also author of several other books of political and philosophical nature.

LABOR LEGISLATION

"Child Labor Legislation in the Southern textile States" presents a picture of the struggle for child labor

(Continued on last page)

Teacher?

All seniors or graduate students who will be prepared for teaching positions next fall should register with the teachers' bureau before spring holidays, Dr. Guy A. Phillips said yesterday.