Car Turns Over Several Times Near Hope Valley

Two Carolina football players, Dan Desich and Steve Maronic, were involved in an automobile accident early yesterday morning near Hope Valley when the car in which they were riding turned over several times. Neither is in serious condition, however, and both are expected to be released from medical attention soon.

Desich was taken to Watts hospital in Durham where attendants reported his condition was not serious. He received several cuts on his legs and arms and minor lacerations elsewhere on his body. Maronic is in the University Health Service where he is recuperating from a bruised foot. Attendants here said he was in satisfactory condition.

The car in which they were riding, an old model Dodge belonging to Eric Laddey, apparently turned over due to the condition of the tires and the wet pavement over which the car was traveling, according to Hank Abernathy and Badger Hobbs who were

FAMOUS STRING QUARTET APPEARS HERE TOMORROW

Coolidge Concert Begins At 8:30 In Hill Music Hall

A choice bit is the story of the musically ambitious lady who went up to congratulate the four artists of a renowned string quartet after one of their concerts. "Such a wonderful performance," she gushed. "I did enjoy your playing. I wish you lots of success. In fact, I hope you will be so successful that soon you'll be able to afford some more members of your quartet."

The Coolidge String quartet, which is to appear here in Hill Music hall tomorrow evening at 8:30, needs no more members. It is one of the nation's foremost chamber music groups and is particularly interested in playing American music. Each member is an artist of accomplishment who has appeared as soloist with leading orchestras, and all four are chamber music players of wide experience.

FIRST VIOLINIST

William Kroll, the first violinist of the group, a native New Yorker, has been playing chamber music since the age of 17. At the age of 10, he was studying with the late Henri Marteau in Berlin. Collector Declares Ireland Is Last Refuge Of Romance

By BILL RHODES WEAVER

"Ireland is the last refuge of romance in Europe today," Seamus O'Duilearga of Dublin, collector of Irish folk tales now touring the United States declared while drinking a "dope" at the Carolina inn this morning.

"First refreshing drink I've had in America," the thirty-nine year-old grey-haired Irishman commented. "But to get back to Irish folk tales . . . there's more to be said about our belief in fairies. The Irish are the only sane people over there. The other countries are arming themselves to the teeth . . . and I have no illusions. We must rush to collect our folk material before it is too late." There was a note of sadness in his husky, low voice as he said that.

YOUTH RISING

In Ireland, according to the collector, modern youth is rising, and the old Ireland and the art of story telling is passing away. The Folklore of Ireland society, of which he is a member

GRAHAM URGES FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION

President Speaks To 2,000 Teachers In New York City

Addressing approximately 2,000 school teachers of the metropolitan area at the Hotel Astor in New York yesterday, Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University and member of President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Education, made an analysis in behalf of "justice to rural America in general and the South and West in particular" and urged, "as one definite practical step toward a more balanced and prosperous America, federal aid to the states for more equal educational opportunity of all American children."

CHAMPIONS BILLS

Dr. Graham vigorously championed the bills introduced by Senator Elmer Thomas and Senator Pat Harrison in the Senate and by Representative Larabee in the House.

He emphasized "the justice and democracy of basing the allocation of federal funds on both the economic ability of the states and the number of children of school age in the states."

AUTONOMY

He pointed out "the unreserved protection of state and local autonomy and control by specific and mandatory guarantees in the unmistakable provisions of the bills."

"The clear language of the bills," he said, "also removes any basis for any alarm about federal interference with established state autonomy in the matters of race and religion."

TWO BILLIONS

The two billions now spent by states and localities for public education will, under the bill, continue to be spent as the states and localities determine, he explained.

The forty millions proposed for federal aid to the states will be spent "as determined by the states except for the two simple provisions that this small federal equalization supplement will be distributed democratically among the states and equitably between the races," he said.

Lecturer

James A. Hamilton, graduate student, who will give an illustrated lecture on the "Land of Palestine and the Holy City, Jerusalem" at the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

JAMES HAMILTON TO GIVE LECTURE ON JERUSALEM

Illustrated Talk Begins At 8 In Methodist Church

James A. Hamilton, University graduate student, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Land of Palestine and the Holy City, Jerusalem" at the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

Hamilton was born in the city of Jerusalem. His father was an English missionary and his mother a Syrian Christian. He received his secondary education in the Church of England Boys' school in Jerusalem, at which he later taught for four years.

In 1914 he escaped military service in the Turkish army and landed in New York with three dollars in his pocket. During the past twenty years he has served in the ministry with the exception of two years in teaching.

He received his higher education in the following schools: the James Millikan university, A. B. degree; the University of Pittsburgh, M. A. degree; and two theological degrees from McCormick, now Presbyterian, Theological seminary and Chicago and the Western Theological seminary in Pittsburgh.

SLIDES

The lecture will be illustrated with slides prepared by American colony artists in Jerusalem. He will speak of conditions in Palestine in general, showing recent Zionist enterprises such as the colonies, Ruthenberg Electrical works on the Jordan river and the chemical development of the Dead sea. Also will be shown primitive Arab methods of agriculture.

Much of the lecture will be devoted to an exposition of Jerusalem, a city sacred to three great religions, important historic places, the Allenby capture of the city and the latest modern developments in the old city.

FROSH WILL HOLD MEET TOMORROW ON ASSESSMENT

Committee Favors 25-Cent Levy For Annual Dance Set

At a joint meeting of the freshman class committees held yesterday afternoon, it was unanimously decided that a bill will be presented to the class in assembly tomorrow morning proposing that each man attending the freshman dance be assessed the sum of 25 cents for the bid. This slight additional revenue will be absolutely necessary in order for the class to present a successful dance according to Bill Shore, president of the class, and Larry Lerner, president of the dance committee.

The Student council has called an important meeting of freshman chapel tomorrow morning at 10:30 in Memorial hall.

The council will have charge of the program and will explain various features concerning the campus Honor Code.

The suggestion that this bill is presented to the class was unanimously agreed upon by the committee members as it was pointed out that due to the limited funds now in the class treasury a dance could not be presented without additional funds.

Included in the bill will be a clause stating that any member of the class desiring a refund from the class dues paid at the beginning of the quarter can secure this sum, which will be about ten cents, from the audit bureau of the University.

NOT COMPULSORY

Shore emphasized the point that only those students desiring to attend the dance will be required to pay 25 cents for the bid and that the additional fee is not compulsory to the entire class.

The reason for this emergency is that the class failed to realize what it expected on the movie sponsored last week and that due to the expense involved in the freshman smoker held recently, the class funds have been found insufficient to pay the expenses of a dance.

FACULTY TO MEET AT INN TOMORROW

Club Will Probably Be Formed—Olsen

Action will be taken at a meeting of the faculty tomorrow afternoon at the Carolina inn on the offer from the University of quarters for a faculty club.

The meeting will be at 4:30 and the faculty committee appointed to investigate the proposition will make its report. Dr. W. A. Olsen, chairman of the committee, said yesterday that it was an "overwhelming probability that a club will be formed."

Dean R. B. House summarized the history of the idea in the following statements:

1. Archer house will not be needed next year as either a men's or woman's dormitory.

2. Perennially the faculty discusses the idea of a faculty club but the club or its purpose have never been defined.

3. Most of the faculty members have never agreed that a club was necessary because Chapel Hill is only a village and faculty homes can be used for entertaining purposes.

4. Carolina Inn serves at present as a convenience to the faculty, and one of the new additions to the Inn is specifically available as a lobby or club room.

5. Finally, there is the advantage of having a club house with dining facilities and bachelor quarters for members of the faculty.

The question now is whether Archer house is practicable or desirable. There is no proposition before the administration.

Miss Wang's Class Will Not Be Given

Miss Elizabeth Wang's course in Chinese philosophy, which the faculty had considered making part of the regular school curriculum, will not be given during the approaching spring quarter.

"Administrative difficulties stand in the way," said Dr. Emory of the philosophy department.

Greensboro Girls Will Sing Here Today

The Greensboro College Glee club, under direction of Walter Vassar, will present a concert of sacred and secular music in Graham memorial this afternoon at 3:30 under auspices of the Graham Memorial union. The club has been presented in over 100 concerts in the past three years.
